BRITISH POUR TROOPS INTO NORWAY

REICH DRAWS ON RESERVES TO PUSH WAR

NORWEGIAN ENVOYS ORDERED OUT OF BERLIN

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Berlin, April 19, (AP)—Germany is paying her way in part for her wide-flung war activities on the Siegfried line, in Poland, Denmark and Norway but is pulling her belt tight and drawing ruthlessly on her reserves, Walther Funk disclosed today.

Funk, minister of economics and president of the richsbank, gave an insight into the country's economic picture on a day when the nation marked among other chief developments in the war:

1. Latest German advices from Scandinavia said German troops pushing up the Glomen river 20 miles inside Norway from the Swedish border drove today to the vicinity of Elverum and that one-time refuge of King Haakon VII and his government was expected to fall at any moment.

"People Love Fuehrer"

2. German bombers tonight attacked British transports off the west coast of Norway, an official announcement said, and struck one with a heavy missile. Whether the transport sank was not reported.

3. The German high command, reviewing yesterday's operations, said German fliers sank a submarine and hit other vessels in a surprise raid as the British began landing troops in the far north; three other submarines were reported sunk in the Skagerrak and Kattegat as well as a Norwegian torpedoboat on the west coast of Norway.

4. On German orders to be out of the country by midnight, Arne Scheel, Norwegian minister to Berlin, and other members of the Norwegian diplomatic staff and their families left by special train in an effort to reach Norway by way of Denmark.

5. Minister of Propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels, in a radio address on the eve of Adolf Hitler's 51st birthday, said the fuehrer "has the complete love and the complete obedience of his people" and British efforts "to sow the seeds of disunity among us" were doomed to failure.

No "State of War"

So determined is the Nazi regime to make good Hitler's New Year's promise to force the war to a decision during 1940 that business and industry are being combed systematically for machinery and reserve stocks not needed now.

Funk, addressing the annual meeting of the stockholders of the reichsbank, therefore stressed not only the "rationing of essential needs" but also the restriction of production of consumers' goods, progressive reduction of stocks and refraining from investing in replacements.

Economic bin-scraping, in other words, is one of Germany's most effective methods of financing the war.

While the Wilhelmstrasse took the step of ordering the Norwegian minister and his staff out of the country, authorized sources asserted no state of war between Norway and Germany existed.

"King Haakon's statements and proclamations were of such a nature that it was no longer possible to tolerate the presence of his representative in Berlin," it was explained.

HOLLAND UNDER MILITARY RULE

Stern Measure Adopted to Weed Out Spies In Netherlands

BY J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN

The Hague, April 19. (AP)—All Holland was placed under martial law tonight in a royal decree more far-reaching than any since the constitution guaranteed civil rights to Netherlanders 92 years ago.

This action was taken to permit of more drastic measures against persons within the nation who are imperiling Netherlands neutrality or who would endanger its safety if Holland were invaded.

It was invoked just after old Premier Derek Jan De Geer, in a broadcast to home and empire on two sides of the world, had declared that Holland would resist by force of arms any attempt by a foreign power to extend "protective" help to the Netherlands.

Even before Queen Wilhelmina signed today's all-embracing decree, Holland had been dotted with hundreds of "islands" of martial law, at points which were important to the country's elaborate and secret system of land, sea and water-line defenses.

Spies, active belligerent-sympathizers and foreigners conspiring against the government will be dealt with sternly.

Under the decree, the military may take any action from imposing a censorship to calling up civilians at will for either military service or labor.

Already, several announced meetings of national socialists (Dutch Nazis) have been prevented and police have conducted searches for firearms and ammunition. Yesterday such a search was conducted at the Limburg castle of Count Max of Marchant Et D'Ansembourg, Nazi member of parliament.

Traffic Increases; Another Ferry Boat Put On At Straits

Lansing, April 20 (AP)—The state highway department said it would place another ferry in service at the Straits of Mackinac tomorrow to handle increased traffic. The department said the ferry Straits of Mackinac would be added to the City of Cheboygan, now operating on the run. Each boat will leave one side of the straits at 6 a. m. on its first trip and make its last trip from either side at 9 p. m., running at hour-and-a-half intervals.

Ore Fleet Of 1940 Has 298 Vessels

Cleveland, April 19, (AP)—The American Great Lakes iron ore carrying fleet this year will number 298 vessels, six less than in 1939, a report compiled by M. A. Hanna Co. showed today.

Total trip capacity of the fleet will be 2,722,740 tons on a 20-foot draft, a reduction of 1.7 per cent from last year. The decline is due to sales of vessels to other trades and to Canada.

WEAK, NOT DRUNK

Louisville, Ky., April 19 (AP)—John T. DeWitt, 38, won dismissal on a drunken driving charge today. He testified he wasn't drunk; he was just weak from two Turkish baths.

Plot To Turn Yugoslavia Over To Nazis Uncovered

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 19 (AP)—Yugoslavian authorities announced tonight they had discovered a plot to overthrow the government and turn the country over to the Nazis and interned former Premier Milan Stoyadinovic, "friend of Germany," in a lonely and inaccessible mountain hamlet.

Police raids on the homes of hundreds of Germans were disclosed, in connection with the alleged "fifth column" plot.

Stoyadinovic was taken into custody and moved from Belgrade under heavy guard to internment on a mountain eighty miles south of the capital to isolate him from foreign agents and his own Yugoslav colleagues, who fell from power with him a year ago.

"We want no Quislings, no Henleins, no, Hachas, no Seyszinquarts in Yugoslavia," said one official. He was referring to Germany's "front men" in the invaded countries of Norway, the Sudeten country, Czecho-Slovakia proper and Austria, respectively.

A police raid Tuesday midnight on Stoyadinovic's home produced documents which, authorities said linked the former premier with Nazi "Trojan horse" activity in Yugoslavia. It was considered possible some of his followers also would be interned. They are under police watch.

Raids were made on the homes of many Germans living near the German frontier, and arms and documents were taken. The latter, police said, showed up the plot for an uprising of the German minority, to be timed with the entry into Yugoslavia of the German army.

Reports from the Italian frontier described, moreover, unusual activity among Italian troops, who now are to be seen in steel helmets. There have ben other reports of German troops concentrations near the Yugoslav border.

Both Yugoslavia and Rumania began to examine the crews of German river barges on the Danube. Many Germans arriving in the two countries within the last few weeks are believed to have been smuggled in aboard the barges.

In Turkey, sixty Germans were expelled today and the government denied foreigners the right to enter Turkish schools without special authorization from the ministry of education.

COURT UPHOLDS DETROIT PROBE

One-Man Grand Jury Has Authority to Compel Witness to Talk

Lansing, April 19, (AP)—The supreme court today upheld the legality of Judge Homer Ferguson's one-man grand jury in Detroit, and recognized his authority to compel Everett I. Watson to testify although Watson already is under indictment.

The decision upheld a 60-day jail sentence and $100 fine imposed on Watson for contempt after he refused to reply to questions on the grounds that his replies might be self-incriminating.

The high court declared Judge Ferguson was within his rights when he promised that no incriminating information Watson might provide the jury would be used against him. It upheld constitutionality of the immunity law that permits such a promise.

The grand jury, investigating gambling and charges of political corruption in Wayne county, after indicting Watson on gambling conspiracy charges, recalled him as a witness for questioning concerning his associations with county officials who also are under indictment or are being investigated.

Appealing from the sentence imposed on him for contempt, Watson also charged that Judge Ferguson was disqualified to conduct a grand jury investigation of Detroit affairs because he is not a recorder's judge.

The supreme court brushed aside the objection, declaring Ferguson's status as a circuit judge empowered him to investigate crime in any part of Wayne county.

It lacked the signatures of subscribing witnesses. Probate Judge Thomas C. Murphy, to whom the will was mailed by an acquaintance of Kanover, was bequeathed $2,000.

DEPUTIES BACK PREMIER, 515-0

Clean Confidence Vote Given Reynaud In War Conduct

BY JOHN H. MARTIN

The vote came after the deputies had quizzed the little premier for five hours on the allied conduct of the war in its new phases, and had raised such ticklish questions as what attiture France intends to pursue toward Italy and Russia.

The unanimity of the vote surprised some observers because of the apparently unyielding hostility of many rightists who object to his government because there are socialists in it. When he first came to power last month, Reynaud could get only a clear majority of one from the chamber.

Many of the disgruntled rightists, however, also had urged the government to "find a battlefield and fight." Soon thereafter the war spread to Norway, boiling out of its western front stalemate, and fresh fears swept all neutral countries.

France's desire to present a solid internal front at this critical stage, then, perhaps was the main reason Reynaud got a clean, inclusive, vote of confidence.

FORD ACCUSED OF TRYING TO BLOCK UNIONS

BRUTAL THUGS USED IN TEXAS PLANT, NLRB CLAIMS

Washington, April 19 (AP) — A labor board trial examiner accused the Ford Motor Company today of "gathering together the most brutal, vicious and conscienceless thugs in its employ" to block unionization of Ford workers under the Wagner act.

The accusation was made by Examiner Robert N. Denham in a report of a month's hearing on labor difficulties at the Ford plant in Dallas, Tex., he recommended that the company reinstate two employes with back pay and notify individually all of its employes in the United States that it would "cease discouraging" union membership.

The recommendation that all Ford employes receive the notification was unprecedented in labor board affairs. The company employs in excess of 100,000 workers.

Beatings Alleged

Denham's report, against which the company has 20 days to file exceptions, was sent to Dallas by airplane today and there served on Ford officials. It recites Dallas testimony bearing on charges that a so-called Ford "strong arm squad" engaged in assaults and intimidation to discourage union membership.

Summing up the evidence presented at the hearing, Denham said:

"No case within the history of the board is known to the undersigned (Denham) in which an employer has deliberately planned and carried into execution a program of brutal beatings, whippings, and other manifestations of physical violence comparable to that shown by the uncontradicted and wholly credible evidence on which the findings are based.

Weapons Described

"Blackjacks, loaded hose, cat-o'-nine tails made of rubber stripping and electric light wire were among the weapons used by the Ford Motor company's strong-arm squad.

"There was no limit of brutality to which this squad and those who were directing it were unwilling to go if necessary, for at one stage, even murder was planned."

Denham said that in the spring of 1937, when labor unions started organizing the automobile industry, the Ford company "was mobilizing every available force to accomplish the defeat of labor in that struggle.

"It realized," he continued, "that the only possibility of accomplishing that defeat among its own employes would lie in sowing the seeds of distrust in unions, on the one hand, and the fear of reprisals from their fellow workers on the other, as the most effec-

Traffic Toll

Limited Jumps Track In New York, 10 Dead

Little Falls, N. Y., April 19. (AP)—At least ten persons died tonight when the Lake Shore Limited, fast New York to Chicago express train, jumped the track a half mile east of here.

At least fifty persons were injured in the wreck, which involved one of the New York Central's fastest trains. The Little Falls hospital reported that number treated there but said no estimate could be made of others taken elsewhere.

John Crowley, editor of the Little Falls Times who lives a few hundred yards from the scene, counted seven bodies in a preliminary checkup and said three other persons were reported dead in one of the Pullman cars.

Crowley said the train's engineer, tentatively identified as J. Earl, Syracuse, was pinned in his cab but still alive. Acetylene torches were being used to free him.

Scores of New York state troopers, physicians and ambulances were rushed to the scene and the Little Falls hospital was taxed to capacity to care for the injured.

Hospital authorities said fifty persons were injured, several critically, physicians worked at top speed as the injured were brought there.

Because wreckage covered the tracks, it was almost impossible to reach the scene by automobile and ambulance and the injured had to be carried several hundred yards before reaching transportation to the hospital.

The train, which left Albany fifteen minutes late, left the tracks on a wide curve just east of this village in central New York. As the engine crashed against a high embankment it exploded, sending showers of debris along the roadway and highway.

The limited was composed of thirteen Pullman cars, one coach and the engine. Its fireman and baggageman were known dead, their bodies lying along the roadway, although not immediately identified.

FEAR OF NAZIS GRIPS HUNGARY

Invasion Rumors Cause British and French to Leave Budapest

Budapest, Hungary, April 20 (Saturday) (AP)—Numerous members of the British and French colonies moved out of Budapest last night and early today because of rumors in allied quarters that Hungary was in danger of German invasion.

Searchlights swept the sky over Budapest throughout the night and air-raid protection squads patrolled the streets.

Among the departing Britons were newspaper correspondents, who moved their headquarters to Belgrade. There also was a report that some documents of the French legation had been taken to Belgrade. A speedy truck stood in the courtyard of the British legation, ready for the rapid transfer of documents, should this seem necessary.

While there is also considerable concern over the safety of Yugoslavia, Belgrade is regarded as less cut off than Budapest in case of a sudden thrust.

The British and French sources which gave credence to the rumors said that Hungary is attractive to Germany as a key position in the Balkans.

Fast Torpedo Boat Tested At Detroit

Detroit, April 19 (AP)—A new 59-foot, 20-ton topedo boat designed for use by the United States navy was given a test run on the Detroit river here today. Another is nearing completion in a local boat works.

Lieut. W. E. Howard, Jr., of the navy department said the boat attained a speed of 40 knots in its first test. It is fitted with two machine gun mountings and is designed to fire two torpedoes at one time. Powered by two 1,200 housepower motors, the craft will be manned by an officer and crew of seven men.

If approved by a board of inspection from Washington, the boats will be delivered by the builders to the Norfolk navy yard.

Boat Still Battles Whitefish Bay Ice

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 19 (AP)—The Steamer Secord, pushing through ice of Whitefish bay the last five days, was reported within three miles of open water tonight.

This meant she was likely to make passage tomorrow and open the St. Mary's river for its full length for the 1940 shipping season.

The upbound Steamer Norco arrived tonight from Detroit and five other vessels were reported coming on behind her.

Stabber Of Girl, 21, Gets Life Sentence

Detroit, April 19. (AP)—Expressing hope that "you may never be paroled," Recorder's Judge Christopher E. Stein today sentenced Joe Williams, 25, to life imprisonment for murdering Gertrude Miller, 21, in a holdup March 4. When Miss Miller fought to keep his purse, Williams stabbed her in the throat.

Swastika Banner Flies Briefly Over Ann Arbor Campus

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 19 (AP)—An improvised Nazi Germany flag was unfurled over the University of Michigan campus today, but it was hastily taken down before an undergraduate peace rally got under way.

The flag, its swastika painted within a red circle on an ordinary bed sheet, was removed by a daring custodian, Edward McFadden, who with safety belt and spurs climbed the 150 foot pole. Firemen were unsuccessful in removing it.

Police took passession of the flag and said they would investigate. University officials, terming it a prank, also are investigating. The flag was hoisted during the night and all ropes were severed.

Nye Charges Meddling

In the peace rally Senator Nye (R-ND) told an assemblage of 3,000 students that the American government is practicing partiality, not neutrality, in the current European war.

"We are in the present war on an economic front," he declared. "It's just a question of how long we might hope to stay off the military front."

He urged the implementing of legislative steps to keep America from "involvement in other people's wars" advocating a tightening of laws of neutrality and the adoption a constitutional amendment providing a popular referendum on declarations of war.

Love America First

Americans should resolve to "hate things that are European less and love things that are American more," he said, adding that "we should make certain America doesn't repeat its utter folly of other days."

Signs bearing "We like Ferry field, not Flanders field" and "Let God Save the King" were displayed by students during Nye's address. The rally was sponsored by the campus peace council, composed of representatives of 15 student organizations.

SUCKERS BRING MESSAGE

Detroit, April 19. (AP)—Co-eds at Wayne university's peace rally today distributed lollipops to which were attached notes saying "Don't be a sucker. Fight for peace, not for war."

In a speech Mort Furay, director of labor's non-partisan league, said that the colleges of America would be "recruiting stations" should the United States enter war.

STRAITS BRIDGE PLAN DESCRIBED

Consulting Engineers Give Report On Field Work

Lansing, April 19, (AP)—The Mackinac Straits bridge authority today heard consulting engineers sketch a preliminary outline of their report on the design of the span, methods of construction, estimated cost and traffic analysis.

Chairman G. Donald Kennedy, deputy state highway commissioner, said a final report on a survey the authority has been conducting will be issued about June 1. Field work is now completed.

Detailed maps and studies of drillings, borings and surveys of the straits area are available. The highway department also is studying the feasibility of a causeway with dock facilities north of the straits which would reduce the present ferry run by two-thirds and eventually would provide an approach to the straits bridge.

Kennedy also reported that efforts to speed the enactment of legislation enabling the construction of a bridge would be renewed at this session of congress. The senate passed U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown's bill, but it stalled in the house committee on foreign and interstate commerce.

The authority also heard Frank M. Masters of Harrisburg, Pa., engineering consultant retained for the bridge survey.

STAGE IS SET FOR DECISIVE BATTLES SOON

GERMAN AIR BOMBS SCORE HITS ON TRANSPORTS

BY THOMAS F. HAWKINS

Stockholm, April 19, (AP)—Fragmentary reports from Norway said tonight that British reinforcements were arriving every hour in the Norwegian waistline, north of German-held Trondheim and reiterated that a decisive battle seemed to be shaping up between German troops and Norwegian defenders joined by the British expeditionary forces.

Some Swedish correspondents, reporting through Storlein, railway village just inside Sweden, said the British reinforcements were arriving along a 15-mile line from Steinkjer, at the head of tortuous Trondheim fjord, north to Namsos.

The newspaper Dagens Nyheter of Stockholm said one French and two British divisions had landed at Namsos, Laerdal and Molde. The latter two points are south of Trondheim.

All circumstances, said these reports, showed that a decisive encounter seemed unavoidable in the vicinity of Steinkjer.

Norwegian authorities said the fight might well start at Stiklestad, south of Steinkjer, a place famous in Norwegian history. At Stiklestad the king, St. Olaf Haraldsson, was killed in a war against peasants in 1030, A. D.

Officers Fly Inland

Reports that British officers had reached the vicinity of Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo and far southeast of the Trondheim area, seemed to indicate they had been flown inland from points on the coast where the British had secured a foothold. Hamar itself was reported now in German hands, however.

Telephone reports to the Swedish news agency said that town, which the Norwegian government made its first headquarters after fleeing Oslo, was taken by advancing Germans Thursday evening.

This information bore out previous reports that Hamar itself would be abandoned and that defense lines would be established a short distance north, in the direction of Elverum, which lies about 18 miles to the north and east.

Nazis Retain Narvik

Later reports reaching Stockholm said that Elverum already was in German hands, and silencing of the Norwegian government radio at Hamar tended to confirm German occupation of that city.

(Advices in Berlin had said the fall of Elverum was expected momentarily.)

Drivers of a Norwegian ambulance reported that in retreating they passed both Hamar and Elverum but that the Germans let them through.

The correspondent for the official Swedish news agency, meantime, telegraphed that Narvik still was in German hands and that the Germans are preparing to meet English attacks from the sea as well as from land from the general direction of Tromso, to the north.

The Swedish correspondent stressed that the Germans had gone ahead with great thoroughness to consolidate their hold on Narvik. They were reported to have confiscated small power boats and sent them out to patrol the coast and fjords to signal the presence of British or Norwegian troops.

Fortress Is Held By Suicide Squad With 1894 Cannon

London, April 19, (AP)—A Stockholm dispatch by Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, told tonight of a "suicide squad" of Norwegians, Swedes and Finns, all veterans of the Finnish war, who defended Norway's Kongsvinger fortress with an 1894 cannon until the Germans overwhelmed them.

The report said the volunteers remained in the fort Tuesday after regular Norwegian troops withdrew. When all their guns were put out of action, they trundled out the old cannon. At every shot it recoiled 18 feet and had to be hauled back into position.

After six hours, 100 of the volunteers were killed and the remaining 35 withdrew.

WPA Boat Building Class Is Organized

Bert Jacobson WPA recreation leader in charge of boat building wishes to announce that he is forming a class in the fundamentals of the craft. According to Mr. Jacobson the amateur boat builder can attempt larger and more valuable jobs with much less chance of spoiling material if he first learns something of boat carpentry. With this idea in mind a class is being formed. For particulars apply at the City Recreation Center after 3:30 P. M. This class being formed does not prevent anyone who wishes to commence boat construction at once from doing so. It is merely an added feature of the program.

A new supply of wood for snowshoe frames has been procured and persons wishing to make snowshoes can now do so. Quite a number are still at it.

Requirements For U. S. Coast Guard Reserve Outlined

Many and varied are the qualifications for membership in the United State Coast Guard Reserve, but a considerable number of the Escanaba yacht owners have met with these requirements.

The first questions that have to be answered when a prospective member applies are the names and numbers of the owner or owners and the boat and they are asked if the document or award of number certificate is on board and in proper order.

After the size of letters or numbers on the hull, the length, the beam, and the depth are given the applicant estimates the gross tonnage and gives the condition of the hull; namely, the planking, the frames and the keel.

The ventilation and compartment space for the engine is the next requirement along with the engine room fire extinguisher and other extinguishers and their condition which are kept on the boat.

The check on the gasoline and oil lines of the boat are important and questions are asked pertaining to the leakage and the screened vent leading to open air on deck.

The carburetor must have an efficient flame arrester or backfire trap and a drip pan underneath.

If there are any open switches in the engine compartment the signer mentions that fact and they state whether the electric connections are tight.

Even the cooking system is looked into and the condition of the pipes and joints are approximated and the fuel tank's situation is checked. Proper ventilation in the galley is another cooking factor.

As far as the personal applicant he must give his name, residence, telephone number, date of birth, tell whether he is a citizen or not, his occupation, business address and its telephone number, give information about connection with the different military services, previous reserve service, percentage of ownership of boat, the name and address of the boat organization they belong to, if any, the details concerning their license and their familiarity of the navigation laws and their nautical experience.

For further significance three recommendations must be obtained and the oath must be executed.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Berlin, April 19, (AP)—Germany is paying her way in part for her wide-flung war activities on the Siegfried line, in Poland, Denmark and Norway but is pulling her belt tight and drawing ruthlessly on her reserves, Walther Funk disclosed today.

Funk, minister of economics and president of the richsbank, gave an insight into the country's economic picture on a day when the nation marked among other chief developments in the war:

1. Latest German advices from Scandinavia said German troops pushing up the Glomen river 20 miles inside Norway from the Swedish border drove today to the vicinity of Elverum and that one-time refuge of King Haakon VII and his government was expected to fall at any moment.

"People Love Fuehrer"

2. German bombers tonight attacked British transports off the west coast of Norway, an official announcement said, and struck one with a heavy missile. Whether the transport sank was not reported.

3. The German high command, reviewing yesterday's operations, said German fliers sank a submarine and hit other vessels in a surprise raid as the British began landing troops in the far north; three other submarines were reported sunk in the Skagerrak and Kattegat as well as a Norwegian torpedoboat on the west coast of Norway.

4. On German orders to be out of the country by midnight, Arne Scheel, Norwegian minister to Berlin, and other members of the Norwegian diplomatic staff and their families left by special train in an effort to reach Norway by way of Denmark.

5. Minister of Propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels, in a radio address on the eve of Adolf Hitler's 51st birthday, said the fuehrer "has the complete love and the complete obedience of his people" and British efforts "to sow the seeds of disunity among us" were doomed to failure.

No "State of War"

So determined is the Nazi regime to make good Hitler's New Year's promise to force the war to a decision during 1940 that business and industry are being combed systematically for machinery and reserve stocks not needed now.

Funk, addressing the annual meeting of the stockholders of the reichsbank, therefore stressed not only the "rationing of essential needs" but also the restriction of production of consumers' goods, progressive reduction of stocks and refraining from investing in replacements.

Economic bin-scraping, in other words, is one of Germany's most effective methods of financing the war.

While the Wilhelmstrasse took the step of ordering the Norwegian minister and his staff out of the country, authorized sources asserted no state of war between Norway and Germany existed.

"King Haakon's statements and proclamations were of such a nature that it was no longer possible to tolerate the presence of his representative in Berlin," it was explained.

HOLLAND UNDER MILITARY RULE

BY J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN

The Hague, April 19. (AP)—All Holland was placed under martial law tonight in a royal decree more far-reaching than any since the constitution guaranteed civil rights to Netherlanders 92 years ago.

This action was taken to permit of more drastic measures against persons within the nation who are imperiling Netherlands neutrality or who would endanger its safety if Holland were invaded.

It was invoked just after old Premier Derek Jan De Geer, in a broadcast to home and empire on two sides of the world, had declared that Holland would resist by force of arms any attempt by a foreign power to extend "protective" help to the Netherlands.

Even before Queen Wilhelmina signed today's all-embracing decree, Holland had been dotted with hundreds of "islands" of martial law, at points which were important to the country's elaborate and secret system of land, sea and water-line defenses.

Spies, active belligerent-sympathizers and foreigners conspiring against the government will be dealt with sternly.

Under the decree, the military may take any action from imposing a censorship to calling up civilians at will for either military service or labor.

Already, several announced meetings of national socialists (Dutch Nazis) have been prevented and police have conducted searches for firearms and ammunition. Yesterday such a search was conducted at the Limburg castle of Count Max of Marchant Et D'Ansembourg, Nazi member of parliament.

Traffic Increases; Another Ferry Boat Put On At Straits

Lansing, April 20 (AP)—The state highway department said it would place another ferry in service at the Straits of Mackinac tomorrow to handle increased traffic. The department said the ferry Straits of Mackinac would be added to the City of Cheboygan, now operating on the run. Each boat will leave one side of the straits at 6 a. m. on its first trip and make its last trip from either side at 9 p. m., running at hour-and-a-half intervals.

Ore Fleet Of 1940 Has 298 Vessels

Cleveland, April 19, (AP)—The American Great Lakes iron ore carrying fleet this year will number 298 vessels, six less than in 1939, a report compiled by M. A. Hanna Co. showed today.

Total trip capacity of the fleet will be 2,722,740 tons on a 20-foot draft, a reduction of 1.7 per cent from last year. The decline is due to sales of vessels to other trades and to Canada.

Plot To Turn Yugoslavia Over To Nazis Uncovered

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 19 (AP)—Yugoslavian authorities announced tonight they had discovered a plot to overthrow the government and turn the country over to the Nazis and interned former Premier Milan Stoyadinovic, "friend of Germany," in a lonely and inaccessible mountain hamlet.

Police raids on the homes of hundreds of Germans were disclosed, in connection with the alleged "fifth column" plot.

Stoyadinovic was taken into custody and moved from Belgrade under heavy guard to internment on a mountain eighty miles south of the capital to isolate him from foreign agents and his own Yugoslav colleagues, who fell from power with him a year ago.

"We want no Quislings, no Henleins, no, Hachas, no Seyszinquarts in Yugoslavia," said one official. He was referring to Germany's "front men" in the invaded countries of Norway, the Sudeten country, Czecho-Slovakia proper and Austria, respectively.

A police raid Tuesday midnight on Stoyadinovic's home produced documents which, authorities said linked the former premier with Nazi "Trojan horse" activity in Yugoslavia. It was considered possible some of his followers also would be interned. They are under police watch.

Raids were made on the homes of many Germans living near the German frontier, and arms and documents were taken. The latter, police said, showed up the plot for an uprising of the German minority, to be timed with the entry into Yugoslavia of the German army.

Reports from the Italian frontier described, moreover, unusual activity among Italian troops, who now are to be seen in steel helmets. There have ben other reports of German troops concentrations near the Yugoslav border.

Both Yugoslavia and Rumania began to examine the crews of German river barges on the Danube. Many Germans arriving in the two countries within the last few weeks are believed to have been smuggled in aboard the barges.

In Turkey, sixty Germans were expelled today and the government denied foreigners the right to enter Turkish schools without special authorization from the ministry of education.

COURT UPHOLDS DETROIT PROBE

One-Man Grand Jury Has Authority to Compel Witness to Talk

Lansing, April 19, (AP)—The supreme court today upheld the legality of Judge Homer Ferguson's one-man grand jury in Detroit, and recognized his authority to compel Everett I. Watson to testify although Watson already is under indictment.

The decision upheld a 60-day jail sentence and $100 fine imposed on Watson for contempt after he refused to reply to questions on the grounds that his replies might be self-incriminating.

The high court declared Judge Ferguson was within his rights when he promised that no incriminating information Watson might provide the jury would be used against him. It upheld constitutionality of the immunity law that permits such a promise.

The grand jury, investigating gambling and charges of political corruption in Wayne county, after indicting Watson on gambling conspiracy charges, recalled him as a witness for questioning concerning his associations with county officials who also are under indictment or are being investigated.

Appealing from the sentence imposed on him for contempt, Watson also charged that Judge Ferguson was disqualified to conduct a grand jury investigation of Detroit affairs because he is not a recorder's judge.

The supreme court brushed aside the objection, declaring Ferguson's status as a circuit judge empowered him to investigate crime in any part of Wayne county.

Iron Mountain, Mich., April 19, (AP)—Ferdinand Fistler, 40, of Sheboygan, Wis., who, Sheriff Ed Reindl of Menominee county said, had shot himself after failing to retrieve his wife's affections, died in a Norway, Mich., hospital today.

The sheriff said Fistler shot himself at his hunting cabin near Faithorn. Last month his wife filed suit for divorce.

Fistler, shot in the abdomen, drove to the nearby farm home of Norman Neville where he collapsed.

The youths, both Civilian Conservation Corps enrolees, had left CCC Camp Paulding last night in a borrowed car.

It lacked the signatures of subscribing witnesses. Probate Judge Thomas C. Murphy, to whom the will was mailed by an acquaintance of Kanover, was bequeathed $2,000.

DEPUTIES BACK PREMIER, 515-0

Clean Confidence Vote Given Reynaud In War Conduct

BY JOHN H. MARTIN

Paris, April 19. (AP)—Premier Paul Reynaud, whose action-pledged government had the slimmest of parliamentary approval before Germany invaded Scandinavia, emerged tonight from a secret chamber of deputies debate with a unanimous vote of confidence, 515 to 0.

The vote came after the deputies had quizzed the little premier for five hours on the allied conduct of the war in its new phases, and had raised such ticklish questions as what attiture France intends to pursue toward Italy and Russia.

The unanimity of the vote surprised some observers because of the apparently unyielding hostility of many rightists who object to his government because there are socialists in it. When he first came to power last month, Reynaud could get only a clear majority of one from the chamber.

Many of the disgruntled rightists, however, also had urged the government to "find a battlefield and fight." Soon thereafter the war spread to Norway, boiling out of its western front stalemate, and fresh fears swept all neutral countries.

France's desire to present a solid internal front at this critical stage, then, perhaps was the main reason Reynaud got a clean, inclusive, vote of confidence.

Little Falls, N. Y., April 19. (AP)—At least ten persons died tonight when the Lake Shore Limited, fast New York to Chicago express train, jumped the track a half mile east of here.

At least fifty persons were injured in the wreck, which involved one of the New York Central's fastest trains. The Little Falls hospital reported that number treated there but said no estimate could be made of others taken elsewhere.

John Crowley, editor of the Little Falls Times who lives a few hundred yards from the scene, counted seven bodies in a preliminary checkup and said three other persons were reported dead in one of the Pullman cars.

Crowley said the train's engineer, tentatively identified as J. Earl, Syracuse, was pinned in his cab but still alive. Acetylene torches were being used to free him.

Scores of New York state troopers, physicians and ambulances were rushed to the scene and the Little Falls hospital was taxed to capacity to care for the injured.

Hospital authorities said fifty persons were injured, several critically, physicians worked at top speed as the injured were brought there.

Because wreckage covered the tracks, it was almost impossible to reach the scene by automobile and ambulance and the injured had to be carried several hundred yards before reaching transportation to the hospital.

The train, which left Albany fifteen minutes late, left the tracks on a wide curve just east of this village in central New York. As the engine crashed against a high embankment it exploded, sending showers of debris along the roadway and highway.

The limited was composed of thirteen Pullman cars, one coach and the engine. Its fireman and baggageman were known dead, their bodies lying along the roadway, although not immediately identified.

FORD ACCUSED OF TRYING TO BLOCK UNIONS

Washington, April 19 (AP)—A labor board trial examiner accused the Ford Motor Company today of "gathering together the most brutal, vicious and consciencless thugs in its employ" to block unionization of Ford workers under the Wagner act.

The accusation was made by Examiner Robert N. Denham in a report of a month's hearing on labor difficulties at the Ford plant in Dallas, Tex., he recommended that the company reinstate two employes with back pay and notify individually all of its employes in the United States that it would "cease discouraging" union membership.

The recommendation that all Ford employes receive the notification was unprecedented in labor board affairs. The company employs in excess of 100,000 workers.

Beatings Alleged

Denham's report, against which the company has 20 days to file exceptions, was sent to Dallas by airplane today and there served on Ford officials. It recites Dallas testimony bearing on charges that a so-called Ford "strong arm squad" engaged in assaults and intimidation to discourage union membership.

Summing up the evidence presented at the hearing, Denham said:

"No case within the history of the board is known to the undersigned (Denham) in which an employer has deliberately planned and carried into execution a program of brutal beatings, whippings, and other manifestations of physical violence comparable to that shown by the uncontradicted and wholly credible evidence on which the findings are based.

Weapons Described

"Blackjacks, loaded hose, cat-o'-nine tails made of rubber stripping and electric light wire were among the weapons used by the Ford Motor company's strong-arm squad.

"There was no limit of brutality to which this squad and those who were directing it were unwilling to go if necessary, for at one stage, even murder was planned."

Denham said that in the spring of 1937, when labor unions started organizing the automobile industry, the Ford company "was mobilizing every available force to accomplish the defeat of labor in that struggle.

"It realized," he continued, "that the only possibility of accomplishing that defeat among its own employes would lie in sowing the seeds of distrust in unions, on the one hand, and the fear of reprisals from their fellow workers on the other, as the most effec-

FEAR OF NAZIS GRIPS HUNGARY

Invasion Rumors Cause British and French to Leave Budapest

Budapest, Hungary, April 20 (Saturday) (AP) Numerous members of the British and French colonies moved out of Budapest last night and early today because of rumors in allied quarters that Hungary was in danger of German invasion.

Searchlights swept the sky over Budapest throughout the night and air-raid protection squads patrolled the streets.

Among the departing Britons were newspaper correspondents, who moved their headquarters to Belgrade. There also was a report that some documents of the French legation had been taken to Belgrade. A speedy truck stood in the courtyard of the British legation, ready for the rapid transfer of documents, should this seem necessary.

While there is also considerable concern over the safety of Yugoslavia, Belgrade is regarded as less cut off than Budapest in case of a sudden thrust.

The British and French sources which gave credence to the rumors said that Hungary is attractive to Germany as a key position in the Balkans.

Fast Torpedo Boat Tested At Detroit

Detroit, April 19 (AP) A new 59-foot, 20-ton topedo boat designed for use by the United States navy was given a test run on the Detroit river here today. Another is nearing completion in a local boat works.

Lieut. W. E. Howard, Jr., of the navy department said the boat attained a speed of 40 knots in its first test. It is fitted with two machine gun mountings and is designed to fire two torpedoes at one time. Powered by two 1,200 horsepower motors, the craft will be manned by an officer and crew of seven men.

If approved by a board of inspection from Washington, the boats will be delivered by the builders to the Norfolk navy yard.

Boat Still Battles Whitefish Bay Ice

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 19 (AP) The Steamer [illegible] Second, pushing through ice of Whitefish bay the last five days, was reported within three miles of open water tonight.

This meant she was likely to make passage tomorrow and open the St. Mary's river for its full length for the 1940 shipping season.

The upbound Steamer Norco arrived tonight from Detroit and five other vessels were reported coming on behind her.

Stabber Of Girl, 21, Gets Life Sentence

Detroit, April 19. (AP)—Expressing hope that "you may never be paroled," Recorder's Judge Christopher E. Stein today sentenced Joe Williams, 25, to life imprisonment for murdering Gertrude Miller, 21, in a holdup March 4. When Miss Miller fought to keep his purse, Williams stabbed her in the throat.

Swastika Banner Flies Briefly Over Ann Arbor Campus

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 19 (AP)—An improvised Nazi Germany flag was unfurled over the University of Michigan campus today, but it was hastily taken down before an undergraduate peace rally got under way.

The flag, its swastika painted within a red circle on an ordinary bed sheet, was removed by a daring custodian, Edward McFadden, who with safety belt and spurs climbed the 150 foot pole. Firemen were unsuccessful in removing it.

SUCKERS BRING MESSAGE

Detroit, April 19. (AP)—Co-eds at Wayne university's peace rally today distributed lollipops to which were attached notes saying "Don't be a sucker. Fight for peace, not for war."

In a speech Mort Furay, director of labor's non-partisan league, said that the colleges of America would be "recruiting stations" should the United States enter war.

Police took passession of the flag and said they would investigate. University officials, terming it a prank, also are investigating. The flag was hoisted during the night and all ropes were severed.

Nye Charges Meddling

In the peace rally Senator Nye (R-ND) told an assemblage of 3,000 students that the American government is practicing partiality, not neutrality, in the current European war.

"We are in the present war on an economic front," he declared. "It's just a question of how long we might hope to stay off the military front."

He urged the implementing of legislative steps to keep America from "involvement in other people's wars" advocating a tightening of laws of neutrality and the adoption a constitutional amendment providing a popular referendum on declarations of war.

Love America First

Americans should resolve to "hate things that are European less and love things that are American more," he said, adding that "we should make certain America doesn't repeat its utter folly of other days."

Signs bearing "We like Ferry field, not Flanders field" and "Let God Save the King" were displayed by students during Nye's address. The rally was sponsored by the campus peace council, composed of representatives of 15 student organizations.

STRAITS BRIDGE PLAN DESCRIBED

Consulting Engineers Give Report On Field Work

Lansing, April 19, (AP)—The Mackinac Straits bridge authority today heard consulting engineers sketch a preliminary outline of their report on the design of the span, methods of construction, estimated cost and traffic analysis.

Chairman G. Donald Kennedy, deputy state highway commissioner, said a final report on a survey the authority has been conducting will be issued about June 1. Field work is now completed.

Detailed maps and studies of drillings, borings and surveys of the straits area are available. The highway department also is studying the feasibility of a causeway with dock facilities north of the straits which would reduce the present ferry run by two-thirds and eventually would provide an approach to the straits bridge.

Kennedy also reported that efforts to speed the enactment of legislation enabling the construction of a bridge would be renewed at this session of congress. The senate passed U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown's bill, but it stalled in the house committee on foreign and interstate commerce.

The authority also heard Frank M. Masters of Harrisburg, Pa., engineering consultant retained for the bridge survey.

Solons Will Stage Memorial For Dead

Washington, April 19 (AP)—Memorial services for 20 members of the house of representatives who died during the last year will be held in the house chamber next Wednesday with Representative Woodruff (R-Mich) delivering the principal address.

Among those to whom tribute will be paid is representative Mapes (R-Mich)

STAGE IS SET FOR DECISIVE BATTLES SOON

GERMAN AIR BOMBS SCORE HITS ON TRANSPORTS

BY THOMAS F. HAWKINS

Stockholm, April 19, (AP)—Fragmentary reports from Norway said tonight that British reinforcements were arriving every hour in the Norwegian waistline, north of German-held Trondheim and reiterated that a decisive battle seemed to be shaping up between German troops and Norwegian defenders joined by the British expeditionary forces.

Some Swedish correspondents, reporting through Storlein, railway village just inside Sweden, said the British reinforcements were arriving along a 15-mile line from Steinkjer, at the head of tortuous Trondheim fjord, north to Namsos.

The newspaper Dagens Nyheter of Stockholm said one French and two British divisions had landed at Namsos, Laerdal and Molde. The latter two points are south of Trondheim.

All circumstances, said these reports, showed that a decisive encounter seemed unavoidable in the vicinity of Steinkjer.

Norwegian authorities said the fight might well start at Stiklestad, south of Steinkjer, a place famous in Norwegian history. At Stiklestad the king, St. Olaf Haraldsson, was killed in a war against peasants in 1030, A. D.

Officers Fly Inland

Reports that British officers had reached the vicinity of Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo and far southeast of the Trondheim area, seemed to indicate they had been flown inland from points on the coast where the British had secured a foothold. Hamar itself was reported now in German hands, however.

Telephone reports to the Swedish news agency said that town, which the Norwegian government made its first headquarters after fleeing Oslo, was taken by advancing Germans Thursday evening.

This information bore out previous reports that Hamar itself would be abandoned and that defense lines would be established a short distance north, in the direction of Elverum, which lies about 18 miles to the north and east.

Nazis Retain Narvik

Later reports reaching Stockholm said that Elverum already was in German hands, and silencing of the Norwegian government radio at Hamar tended to confirm German occupation of that city.

(Advices in Berlin had said the fall of Elverum was expected momentarily.)

Drivers of a Norwegian ambulance reported that in retreating they passed both Hamar and Elverum but that the Germans let them through.

The correspondent for the official Swedish news agency, meantime, telegraphed that Narvik still was in German hands and that the Germans are preparing to meet English attacks from the sea as well as from land from the general direction of Tromso, to the north.

The Swedish correspondent stressed that the Germans had gone ahead with great thoroughness to consolidate their hold on Narvik. They were reported to have confiscated small power boats and sent them out to patrol the coast and fjords to signal the presence of British or Norwegian troops.

Fortress Is Held By Suicide Squad With 1894 Cannon

London, April 19, (AP)—A Stockholm dispatch by Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, told tonight of a "suicide squad" of Norwegians, Swedes and Finns, all veterans of the Finnish war, who defended Norway's Kongsvinger fortress with an 1894 cannon until the Germans overwhelmed them.

The report said the volunteers remained in the fort Tuesday after regular Norwegian troops withdrew. When all their guns were put out of action, they trundled out the old cannon. At every shot it recoiled 18 feet and had to be hauled back into position.

After six hours, 100 of the volunteers were killed and the remaining 35 withdrew.

OLD MARATHON MARK LOWERED

Fastest Race In History Run By Canadian At Boston

BY BILL KING

Boston, April 19 (AP)—The range of hills that appeared as steep as peaks for the past four years seemed as flat as a prairie to 26-year-old Gerard Cote of Verdun, Que., today as he won the 44th Boston A. A. marathon in the record time of two hours, 28 minutes, 28 3-5 seconds.

It probably was the fastest marathon in history.

Cote lowered by 23 1-5 seconds the mark for the 26 miles—385 yards stretch from Hopkinton to Boston that Elliosn (Tarzan) Brown set last year, and he finished more than a half-mile in front of the closest of his 164 rivals, little Johnny Kelley of Arlington, the 1935 victor.

Kelley's time was 2:32.00 3-5.

Don Heinicke of Baltimore, last year's runner-up and winner of the recent Pat Dengis memorial marathon in his home city was third in 2:32.21. The two-time winning Leslie Pawson, Pawtucket, R. I., alderman, placed fourth in 2:33.90 and the experienced Paul Donato of Boston was fifth in 2:34.54.

Cote, noted more for his snowshoe racing—he holds the world record of 63 minutes for the 10-mile distance—than for his marathoning, announced beforehand that this would be his fifth and probably his last Boston race. He now is awaiting a call to join the Canadian air forces.

In his previous starts, he finished 22nd, seventh and twice he ran for eighth.

Today's Sport Parade

BY HENRY McELMORE

United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, April 18 (UP) — Robert Feller pitched a no-hit game on the opening day of baseball.

Working for the Cleveland Indians, this big Iowa farm boy achieved the goal that so many covet and so few attain.

No fewer than half a million words will be published in this country today on Feller's perfect performance against the Chicago White Sox. From here on my task as a daily sports columnist becomes very difficult.

In normal times, and under normal conditions, nothing could stop me from wearing out a typewriter in telling you of the greatness of the Iowa boy. There would be a paragraph on Feller's dad, who spent hours teaching his boy how to pitch. There would be another paragraph on how the farm boy responded to the teaching, and, at an age when most boys are not ready for sandlot baseball, stepped into the major leagues and made good.

Can't Cope With War

There would be another paragraph on how, perhaps, this was the most amazing no-hit game of all time. But, dammit, things have come to pass in this world which make the performance of a baseball pitcher very trivial.

Let me be called critical, let me be called anything, but let me tell you this—only those weak of mind can really care about a no-hit game, or anything else to do with sport, when the world is in the condition it is today.

I have no patience with those of my colleagues who say that this country's interest in sport proves that it wants nothing to do with what's happening on the other side.

My contention is that any man, woman or child who is more interested in the standing of the Giants in baseball or the Rangers in hockey, or Joe Louis in fighting than he is in world events needs sympathy, not enlightenment. This must not be construed as an argument for our entering the war. Let us hope that day never comes.

It is simply a belief by one man that professional baseball, with its competition between tobacco-chewing, flannel-wearing wage-earners, is nowhere near as important as nations disappearing from the face of the earth.

They Play for Keeps

I have been writing sports long enough to know just what Feller's no-hit game means. I have sufficient background to write you 10,000 word on the performance of the gangling boy.

But I haven't the heart to create something big out of something that, in the light of today's headlines, is really so small. After all, a man can't write of a baseball player having determination and courage when men are being pulled out of icy seas and walking into the face of machine guns to gain a foothold on a rock.

No one can ever convince me that there is one-millionth of the drama in anything sport can produce that there is in a battle-wagon firing from a heavy sea, or a pink-cheeked kid squinting down the sights of a gun, or a group of men sitting around a table and moving thumbtacks which in more ways than one, represent your destiny and mine.

My point is this: Until the war ends, and nations stops fighting, there isn't going to be a great deal of caring as to which, when, where, and why, men playing at sport do against one another.

It's hard to care whether men win a cup or a sweater or a piece of plate when not so far away men are playing strictly for keeps.

FIRST BOAT IS DUE IN TONIGHT

E. T. Weir To Be Followed By D. M. Weir; More Monday

Some time after 6 o'clock tonight the first ore boat of the season is scheduled to break through ice in the Escanaba harbor and pull up to the ore docks here. And not far behind it will be another.

The first boat scheduled is the 12,000 ton E. T. Weir and following it, sometime Sunday, will be the 10,200 ton D. M. Weir.

There is a chance that the boats will not be able to get through the ice, but boat and dock officials were basing their plans on the probability that the ice is soft enough to break easily.

The schedule which a few days ago called for arrival of three boats Sunday has been changed and the third boat is due into port Monday forenoon, another is scheduled Monday afternoon and another Tuesday midnight, as of last night's schedule. One of those formerly expected Sunday, the Ashley, has been rescheduled to arrive Wednesday.

Two more trains of ore were received here both yesterday and Thursday and two or three more are expected in today.

Two cargoes of ore will be dumped into pockets today to bring the total binnage on hand to between 300 and 400 cars.

Lights went on along the No. 6 dock last night as a crew of 10 men dumped nearly 100 cars of ore into pockets.

Also lighted last night for the first time this year was the Sand Point crib light, as a test measure before it is actually needed.

Lights at Poverty island and St. Martin's island already have gone on and Lake Superior light keepers from Escanaba and other places have reported.

The Minneapolis Shoals light will be put on as soon as the ice breaks up and the station's boat can be freed from Escanaba harbor. The boat was docked here through the winter for extensive repairs.

Muck Fire Put Out Again — Or Is It?

Fire Chief Arvid Johnson and assistants were out again yesterday fighting a pernicious muck fire that smoulders under ground and breaks out every now and then near the city sewage disposal plant.

The fire burned for weeks despite frequent efforts to quell it last year and finally in the fall it appeared to be out. Winter snows were thought to have quenched the last traces of it.

Then the field south of the disposal plant road and east of the plant was burned off the other day. The fire seeped into the muck. After two days of work, Chief Johnson thought the blaze was out again last night.

But when it was suggested that the fire department should supervise the burning off of another field across Portage creek, the chief balked. It would just mean beginning another practically eternal job of fire fighting, he said.

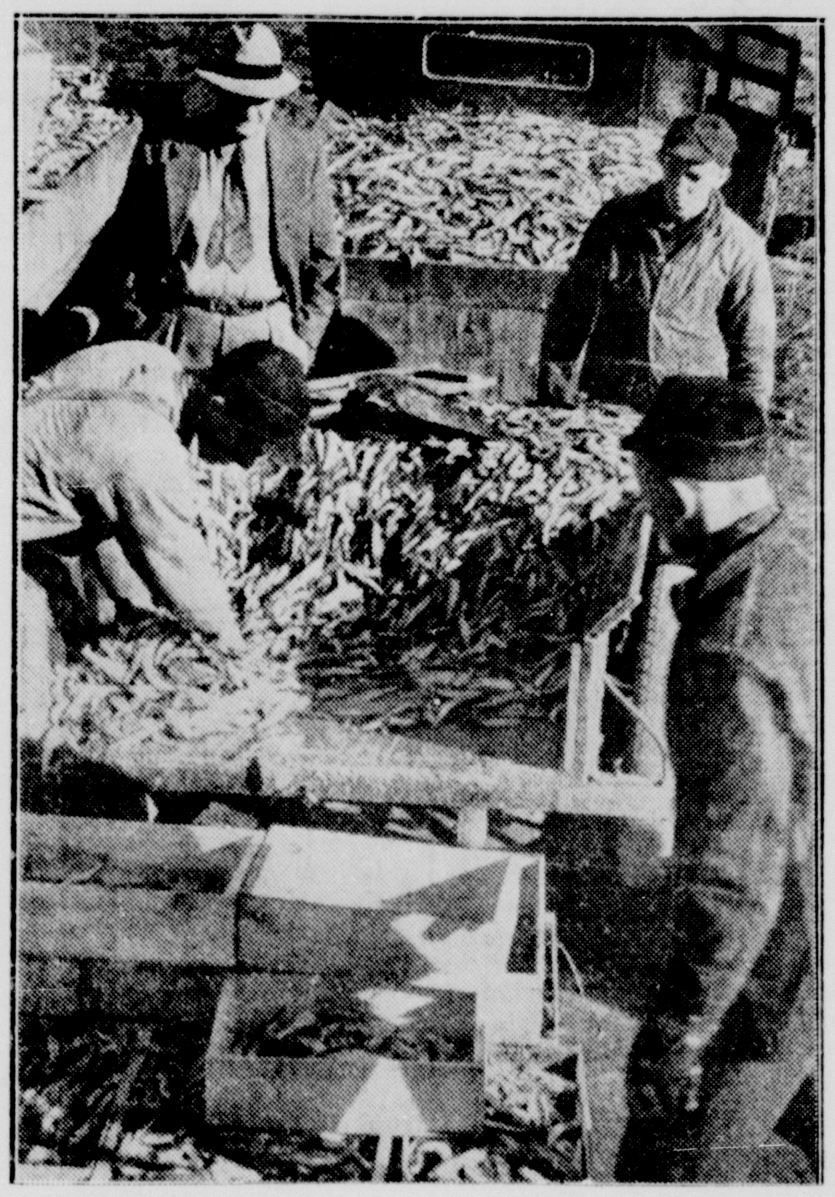
Little Damage Done In Stephenson Fire

Slight damage was done in a fire shortly after 10 o'clock last night at 209½ Stephenson avenue, in a house owned, it was reported, by Owen Gallagher.

The fire started apparently from an overheated chimney and the wall of the front room downstairs was burned slightly. Companies from both the No. 1 and the No. 2 fire stations answered the alarm.

First introduced in England during 1799 as a temporary measure, income taxes were not regarded as a permanent source of income until 1842.

Smelt Come In By Truckloads



Jack Snouwaert and John Van Damme are seen unloading one of four similar loads taken at the Squaw creek Thursday night. Jack Whitney of the Escanaba Mink Ranch, who is taking some of the fish from the B. A. Griffin company, stationed in the Buckeye yards at Gladstone, is at the upper left. About 70,000 pounds of smelt were purchased by Griffin Thursday, and the receipts on Friday were upwards of 100,000 pounds.

WPA Boat Building Class Is Organized

Bert Jacobson WPA recreation leader in charge of boat building wishes to announce that he is forming a class in the fundamentals of the craft. According to Mr. Jacobson the amateur boat builder can attempt larger and more valuable jobs with much less chance of spoiling material if he first learns something of boat carpentry. With this idea in mind a class is being formed. For particulars apply at the City Recreation Center after 7:30 P. M. This class being formed does not prevent anyone who wishes to commence boat construction at once from doing so. It is merely an added feature of the program.

A new supply of wood for snowshoe frames has been procured and persons wishing to make snowshoes can now do so. Quite a number are still at it.

Requirements For U. S. Coast Guard Reserve Outlined

Many and varied are the qualifications for membership in the United State Coast Guard Reserve, but a considerable number of the Escanaba yacht owners have met with these requirements.

The first questions that have to be answered when a prospective member applies are the names and numbers of the owner or owners and the boat and they are asked if the document or award of number certificate is on board and in proper order.

After the size of letters or numbers on the hull, the length, the beam, and the depth are given the applicant estimates the gross tonnage and gives the condition of the hull; namely, the planking, the frames and the keel.

The ventilation and compartment space for the engine is the next requirement along with the engine room fire extinguisher and other extinguishers and their condition which are kept on the boat.

The check on the gasoline and oil lines of the boat are important and questions are asked pertaining to the leakage and the screened vent leading to open air on deck.

The carburetor must have an efficient flame arrester or backfire trap and a drip pan underneath.

If there are any open switches in the engine compartment the signer mentions that fact and they state whether the electric connections are tight.

Even the cooking system is looked into and the condition of the pipes and joints are approximated and the fuel tank's situation is checked. Proper ventilation in the galley is another cooking factor.

As far as the personal applicant he must give his name, residence telephone number, date of birth, tell whether he is a citizen or not, his occupation, business address and its telephone number, give information about connection with the different military services, previous reserve service, percentage of ownership of boat, the name and address of the boat organization they belong to, if any, the details concerning their license and their familiarity of the navigation laws and their nautical experience.

For further significance three recommendations must be obtained and the oath must be executed.

What Is the Reason?

THE newly organized Escanaba city council now has adopted a motion to engage another firm of engineers to make what is promised to be an "independent" survey of the proposed water plant project.

It will be recalled that Burns and McDonald, a highly reputable firm of consulting engineers, who supervised the construction of water plants all over the United States, was engaged to make the study for the city of Escanaba and recommended the construction of a new plant. This firm was chosen by unanimous vote of the council after careful interview with four consulting firms and correspondence with a fifth. This was in agreement with a previous recommendation by the state department of health.

The recommendations later were not acceptable to two members of the council so a citizens committee, composed of members of various representative groups, was appointed to study the matter. This committee unanimously recommended a new plant, but was divided on the matter of location. The majority, however, favored placing it on the north shore in the vicinity of the old Stephenson dock. This still did not satisfy the opponents of the project.

The new idea, presented by the opposition and concurred in by the proponents apparently for the purpose of promoting community harmony, is to engage another engineering firm to review the situation. It's a case of hiring an investigator to investigate the investigator, and so on and on. It's simply a waste of the taxpayers' money.

A most ridiculous aspect of the motion, passed by the council Thursday night, was that the new investigators are not to be permitted to avail themselves of information from the regular sources. They are not to contact the city manager and city engineer, and at first it was suggested that not even other city employes would be permitted to assist in the survey.

Now is the time when civic-minded citizens should take an active interest in community affairs. They should do more than merely watch.

The people of Escanaba owe it to themselves and their city administration to thoroughly inform themselves as to this highly important matter and having arrived at a decision, endorse such action as may be to the best interests of Escanaba today and for future years.

This is no time for venting personal feeling against any individual or any set of individuals. Let's look at this thing soberly and sanely and finally do the thing that is best for Escanaba.

Far Eastern Events

EVENTS in Europe have been moving with a suddenness giving them the unreal aspect of a dream. The United States, and the whole world, feel a sort of mental shell-shock as the dormant war suddenly shakes itself to life.

Our eyes are fixed on Scandinavia like those of a bird fascinated by a serpent. But now is the time to see the world whole, to remember that even in the face of Europe's tragedy, the rest of the world goes on.

In the Far East is another war. This summer its third year will come to an end.

There are signs that the Japanese are tiring of the long struggle. They have piled success on success, but there is no victory. The Chinese have suffered reverse after reverse, but there is no defeat.

It begins to look as though neither side can win conclusively, that nothing is ahead but years of a sterile and mutually exhausting struggle. The Japanese ought to be pretty well convinced by now that they can never conquer and hold all of China. And the possibility of China completely ousting Japan from the Asiatic mainland is almost equally remote.

Britain, up to the hubs in Europe, is in no position to defend her interests in China. Neither is France. The United States, perhaps able, is certainly unwilling. Only Russia is really in a position to help China directly and materially on a large scale, and Russia's motives are certainly suspect. If there cannot be a Chinese China, why is a Russian China preferable to a Japanese China? East Poland and Finland offer their testimony.

Assume complete victory for one side or the other in the Chinese war. Based on experience, dies it seem likely that any justice will emerge from a peace dictated either by Japan or by a Russian-supported China?

Might not a peace conference in which all powers with pacific interests took part, including Japan, China, Britain, the Netherlands, France, Russia, and the United States, arrive at a more just peace today than one which followed a finish fight?

An Eastern Munich? Not at all. No one who thinks China has a chance to win can contend that she would come to such a conference as Czechoslovakia came, a helpless pawn. Having achieved a virtual stand-off in a three-year war, China would not have to agree to terms imposed from without, or to any terms inconsistent with her military position and prospects. It is even possible that the "third powers" could exert pressure on Japan around a conference table which they are unable to bring to bear on the fighting front.

Even if such a conference failed it is hard to see how any participant could lose anything. And all might gain by some settlement that would stabilize for some years the turbulent Far East.

Practically Voluntary

AMERICAN Chinese have been supporting the battle of their homeland against the Japanese invader with considerable enthusiasm. Some $4,000,000 has been sent to the homeland to keep millions of Chinese from starvation.

Most American Chinese have contributed cheerfully. But occasionally one lags in his monthly payment of mrom $18 a month up. Chicago Chinese devised a pleasant little scheme. They tie a drum on the back of the delinquent, post a sign on his chest noting the amount of the delinquency, and march him up and down the street with boys behind beating the drum. A little of this, and the man pays up.

Darned clever, these Chinese!

Babies and Business

THE birth rate in the United States has tended downward for some years, as in almost every other country.

Figures released in connection with Child Health week, however, show an interesting thing. In 1915, when birth registration figures were first tabulated on the present basis, 25.1 babies were born for each 1000 people. The absolute low was reached in 1933, at 16.5. Since that time the rate has gradually increased again to 17.6 in 1938.

That plainly suggests that when people face a discouraging economic outlook they don't have as many babies as they do when times look a little better. Which is just one more excellent reason, if any more reasons should seem necessary, for concentrating on building up our own economy in the face of a tragic world.

THE ONLY FAIR PROCEDURE
(New York Times)

The note that Secretary Hull addressed to the Mexican ambassador places the American case regarding the oil and land ceizures on irrefutable ground. It fully grants the right of a sovereign state to expropriate property for public purposes. But it insists that no appropriation is legal unless it is accompanied by "adequate, effective and prompt compensation." This requirement is not satisfied, the note continues, merely by an expressed intent on the part of Mexico to pay at some time in the future. In a severe historical summary the note points out that "during the last 25 years one American interest in Mexico after another has suffered at the hands of the Mexican government," and that, though Mexico took over American-owned petroleum property to the value of many millions of dollars more than two years ago, "not one cent of compensation has been paid." Mr. Hull suggests that the problem be solved by resort to "the appropriate, fair and honorable procedure of arbitration."

A NATION OF BEGGARS
(Michigan Manufacturer)

Observing, here in Detroit, the utter lack of enthusiasm with which common labor on city and federal payrolls—such as alley and street cleaners — go about their periodic efforts, one is led to the conviction that a great proportion of the nation's population is becoming chronic panhandlers. Those on relief give no indication of a desire for employment. Three square meals a day, a place to sleep, free heat and the unrestricted use of their jallopies, to them, seems to be the "Life of Riley". It may be said that these beggars from government includes a great many towns, cities and states, all seeking federal alms.

By accepting these alms, they are gradually giving up individual, civic and states rights and building a Federal overlordship that will make them mere pawns of government. We like to talk about our democracy and pity the people of countries where liberty has been crushed, when we ourselves are giving up our freedom for a mess of Federal "handouts" that are mortgaging our future for generations to come.

Civic organizations have become beggars, great industries have become beggars, cities and states have become beggars at the public trough. Then after accepting public charity and injecting government into their local and personal affairs, they cry because government in business is being so rapidly extended that it is wiping out free enterprise.

This country hasn't changed fundamentally in spite of all the theoretical prattle to the contrary; opportunities are still countless for young and old. What has changed is our backbone and our pride. We are becoming a nation of "sissies" who cry for help at the slightest provocation and want to be coddled as incompetents. By our actions we are admitting that we are no longer capable of self government or private management of our own affairs. We are asking for political dictatorship and we will have no one but ourselves to blame if we get it.

Every time there is some tough nut to crack, we now beg for Federal funds to care for the problems or losses involves, which, in most cases, are due to our own laziness, greed or neglect. We want the Federal government to do our irrigating; we want the government to control our crops; we want the government to build our dams; we want the government to build our houses; we want the government to carry our insurance; we want the government to loan us money; we want the government to build our school, bridges, parks, etc., and do everything that we as free men and women used to take pride in doing ourselves. And then we cry our eyes out about taxes and new laws regulations and restrictions.

Anyone with a thimbleful of brains knows that when you borrow money, the lender gets in the driver's seat. When you become a beggar, the giver controls your actions. When you beg or borrow from the government, you give up your birthright as a free citizen—you begin to exist for the government, rather than the government existing for you.

This is the position of the people of the United States today. They have begged and borrowed themselves well on the road toward national bankruptcy and political dictatorship. There can be no compromise with the totalitarian philosophy—you either accept it and become public wards, or you kick out the totalitarian philosophy and remain free.

If you think the end toward which we are racing is exaggerated, just look around your own community and see how much Federal charity it has accepted. Government can hand out no money which it does not take from the citizens. Money taken in taxes means that much less for the man or woman who has to sweat and earn and save and pay the taxes.

One answer the world is getting now in Scandinavia. The other may come at any moment in France, for the Germans are showing signs of attacking the Maginot Line. Perhaps it will be only a diversion to hold back Franco-British troops from Scandinavia, but more likely it will be a tremendous attempt to break through and end the war.

This stupendous undertaking the Nazis would justify by their military doctrine and even more by their state of equipment. For if ever a host was armed to break the strongest fortress in history, that host is today's Reichswehr. They have more, better and newer weapons than any army ever had in the world's history. They have artillery, German and Czech, that is unequaled for the task of shattering the concrete casemates topped with steel cupolas that are the backbone of the famous line.

—AIR BOMBING BIG FACTOR—

Those casemates can hardly be rocked by shell fire as were the less deeply anchored Finnish pillboxes. But there are also pillboxes on the Western Front—outposts of the casemates. The Finns and Poles succumbed to air bombing that was nothing compared to the bombing Germany would try to give the Maginot Line. Such bombing has already proven a demoralizer of communications behind the front and the best way to open the way for tanks to get at ground troops and pillboxes.

Germany has not only her 10 armored tank divisions that overran Poland, but many more vehicles, including a very heavy tank with tough armor. There are also flame-thrower tanks that fling a coaltar or benzine fluid which bursts into flame when it hits. This would silence guns by forcing gunners to close the pillbox ports through which they must fire. Whether pillbox ports only would be affected or also the big casemates themselves, remains to be seen. Of course, many casemates could fall without the whole line breaking; and were it besieged, its whole garrison of mechanics in white jumpers has supplies for at least three months.

—HINT AT NAZI UNDERGROUND ATTACK—

Some say the only real way to break the Maginot Line wide open is to blow up two sections of it and that, during the last seven months, Germans have been silently burrowing towards it underground. Surely a vast undertaking, though not perhaps utterly beyond German industriousness.

Should the Maginot Line once be conquered, behind it lies a second Maginot Line, built mostly in those same seven months. It is thinner than the first, contains more pillboxes, and behind it is a series of heavily fortified French cities.

Most important of all, there are two armies; for the garrison of the main Maginot Line comprises only 300,000 men, all trained specialists. The great mass of French manpower is free to operate in open warfare as the finest maneuvering army in the world, brilliantly led and thoroughly trained. The British army in France, now approaching 500,000, is more spotty in training, but mechanized and motorized in equipment. It is said to have only four horses, the four horsemen being brass hats who need exercise, including Lord Gort and the Duke of Gloucester.

British and French are ready for open warfare against the somewhat spottily trained Nazi infantry if the Maginot Line ever breaks.

—PRICE WOULD BE HIGH ONE—

Can it be broken? For years I have been asking that question of men who should know. Only yesterday I asked a young officer, who lately has been in the line. He replied, "Absolutely not." But when I asked a general of outstanding judgment and experienced in breaking lines considered impenetrable, he said, "Probably the Nazis can break the Maginot Line if they are willing to pay the price in lives."

I prefer the second answer.

General Sherman, it appears, was right about war. King Haakon might also have a word to say about neutrality.

Results of the primaries would have made interesting reading. Too bad they had to come at the same time war broke.

Things are bustling down in Rome. With two kings trumped in the north, it might be interesting to see what results a play of the Duce might bring.

Navigation was formally opened in Escanaba at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the Isabelle C., a steam tug owned by Captain Casey of Fairport, smashed her way through the harbor ice to the dock. The boat battled with the ice for nearly two hours on the last quarter mile of her journey. She left Fairport at 1:15, members of the party stated, and encountered no difficulty until the Escanaba harbor was reached.

If recommendations made by the board of public works to the city council at last night's meeting of the board are accepted by the council, outside employes of the public utilities plants will receive a blanket raise of $20 a month and office employes of $15.

Announcement was made yesterday by Deputy State Game Warden Herman Leisner that non resident angler license have been placed on sale in the city. The open season for brook trout is May 1 to Sept. 1.

"It looks to me as though this year were to be the peppiest football year in the history of Escanaba high school," Coach Clarence Shutes stated last night following the meeting of candidates for spring training. Not only were about 40 men out who were more or less in the game last year, but an equal number of aspirants who are new to the game made their appearance at the meeting.

Beginning today, local Presbyterians will hold three days of conference and meetings which promise to be the most important and most interesting held in this city for several years.

The high school was the scene of the first debate of the year yesterday afternoon. The affirmative was handled by Cecil Londo and Paul Amundsen and the negative by Herman Nelson and Arnie Arntzen. The affirmative won by a decision of 2 to 1.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood—Real story behind the discussion of Shirley Temple's retirement from the screen is that the parents of the Wonder Tot have been quarreling with her boss, Darryl Zanuck.

Mr. Zanuck became a little apprehensive about Shirley's popularity after he watched some of her recent expensive pictures take a beating at the boxoffice. "The Blue Bird," most costly of all Temple productions, has done such poor business that Shirley herself heard about it and made a quip about the Blue Bird laying an egg.

So the executive head of 20th-Fox decreed that future pictures starring the Marvel Moppet would be made on greatly reduced budgets. They would rank along with the Jane Withers films, which are tremendous money-makers because of their low original cost.

George and Gertrude Temple don't like the idea at all. Their feeling, shared by a great many other people in Hollywood, is that Shirley has not been very wisely handled lately, and that she should have been kept in the type of vehicles which originally made her famous. More singing and dancing, and not so much heavy drama.

• • •

SHIRLEY WILL HAVE NORMAL CHILDHOOD

The parents have planned a partial retirement for Shirley when her current contract expires in June, 1941. They want her to enjoy a more normal childhood and would allow her to do as she pleases about returning to full-time studio work when she's 16 or 17. Meanwhile, they hoped that her star status could be maintained, and her future career assured if she wanted one, by making about one picture a year.

Only a Garbo or a Chaplin can remain a screen celebrity while making such rare appearances. Obviously, if their plan for Shirley were carried out, her annual films would have to be something pretty pretentious. She certainly couldn't hold her place with the big-timers by appearing once a year in a B-budget flicker produced by Sol Wurtzel

• • •

NEW PICTURE MAY SOOTHE ALL

If the disagreement continues between the Temples and Zanuck, it may end with immediate and amicable cancellation of her contract. Thereafter she might continue at Fox under some new arrangement, or she might free-lance very profitably among all the studios.

Chances are, though, that the difficulty will be solved with the release of her current picture, "The Young People." It's exactly the sort of story in which Shirley's parents and others believe she should be cast. If it turns out to be a hit, Zanuck may concede the argument.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The great Lone Star State of Texas, where Jack Garner was born and with whose heretofore unfailing backing he rose to fame and fortune, is today the stage of what, in the opinion of insiders will be his last political battle.

For the grizzled old warrior it is a bitter and ironic clash. Bitter because he finds himself on the defensive in his own home bailiwick, where he reigned supreme for so many years; ironic because he actually is only a pawn in a struggle in which he figures prominently but in which he has no real personal stake.

For behind the fierce political conflict churning up Texas Democracy, the real issue is not the fate or fortunes of Jack Garner, but who will control the state organization—the Old Guard group that has bossed it for an era, or the New Deal militants who have surged to the front in recent years.

—GARNER OUT—

The battle was joined a few days after Roosevelt's smashing 8 to 1 Illinois victory, when Representative Sam Rayburn, Democratic floor leader and an Garner crony, went to the White House and made this proposal:

"Jack's licked and we know it. It's no use to rub it in or have a fight in Texas. Why not call off your friends who are out for a third-term delegation, and we'll agree to a 'favorite son' delegation that will give Garner a first-ballot complimentary vote and no more."

The President was uninterested. He told Rayburn that he had not intervened in any other state fight, and had no intention of calling off the Texas New Dealers. They had as much right to campaign for what they believed in as the New Dealers in other states.

Rayburn then asked permission to send a wire to Texas, to the effect that he was authorized to say that the President did not approve of the third-term campaign being waged for him. Again Roosevelt vigorously shook his head.

—NEW DEAL TERMS—

This is concededly a tough one, as under Texas law delegates are chosen at a state convention and, with the exception of the larger cities, the Old Guard controls most of the county organizations. But the big ace up the third-termers' sleeve is the ardent desire of Garner's friends to avoid a knock-down-and-drag-out fight in his home state.

The New Dealers are bearing down strong on this fact. They have served notice that unless a satisfactory compromise is offered, they will fight to the last ditch.

Their terms are these: they are willing to give Garner a complimentary vote as a "favorite son" candidate, but thereafter the Texas delegation must take orders from the New Dealers. In other words, control of the delegation will be in the hands of the liberals, and not the Old Guarders who ran Garner as a "stop Roosevelt" candidate in Wisconsin and Illinois.

The argument of the New Dealers is that while in Texas the Old Guard is boosting Garner only as a "favorite son" candidate, at the Chicago convention—if they are in control of the delegation — they will revert to form and play ball with other anti-Administration elements, to fight either Roosevelt or his choice if he decides not to run.

The New Dealers are standing pat for a pro-Roosevelt delegation, on the ground that if there were a popular ballot in Texas such a slate would win hands down.

—UNHAPPY SAM—

Unhappiest man in the bitter melee is kindly, peace-loving Sam Rayburn, who is torn between his loyalty to Roosevelt and his close personal friendship with Garner and the old leaders.

Left to himself, Sam would play ball with the New Dealers. But his old Texas cronies are putting terrific pressure on him, and he is in the distressing situation of being used to fight the President and the New Deal. Besides his personal distaste for this, Sam also fears the effect it may have on his own vice presidential or speakership ambitions should anything happen to Speaker William Bankhead.

To get either, Sam has to have Northern Democratic support, and it is overwhelmingly pro-Roosevelt.

They are already very sore at Sam for his failure to prevail on his close buddy, Representative Gene Cox, fiery Georgia anti-New Deal leader of the Rules Committee, to block the Barden bill that would emasculate the Wage-Hour Act. The preservation of this labor measure is of crucial importance to the industrial district Northerners for re-election purposes, and they are boiling mad at Sam for the Cox-Barden attack on it.

So Sam, with his feet in the fire and his pants in flames, doesn't know which way to turn. Whatever he does, he'll be sure to be damned.

CLEARING-OFF DURING THE NIGHT

The sky cleared up after sundown,
The storm clouds went to play,
The stars came out in jolly groups
And skipped the milky way.
By morning though the clouds returned,
To pout, and roll and fight—
The day is scarcely ever fair
When it clears up over night.

There's people livin' 'round me here —
That say they've done forgive,
They now are goin' a-be real fine
And show folks how to live.
But law, their trouble clouds come back
They pout and roll and fight,
They may forgive, but they don't forget—
They cleared up over night!

OLD MARATHON MARK LOWERED

Fastest Race In History Run By Canadian At Boston

BY BILL KING

Boston, April 19 (AP)—The range of hills that appeared as steep as peaks for the past four years seemed as flat as a prairie to 26-year-old Gerard Cote of Verdun, Que., today as he won the 44th Boston A. A. marathon in the record time of two hours, 28 minutes, 28 3-5 seconds.

It probably was the fastest marathon in history.

Cote lowered by 23 1-5 seconds the mark for the 26 miles—385 yards stretch from Hopkinton to Boston that Elliosn (Tarzan) Brown set last year, and he finished more than a half-mile in front of the closest of his 164 rivals, little Johnny Kelley of Arlington, the 1935 victor.

Kelley's time was 2:32.00 3-5.

Don Heinicke of Baltimore, last year's runner-up and winner of the recent Pat Dengis memorial marathon in his home city was third in 2:32.21. The two-time winning Leslie Pawson, Pawtucket, R. I., alderman, placed fourth in 2:33.90 and the experienced Paul Donato of Boston was fifth in 2:34.54.

Cote, noted more for his snowshoe racing—he holds the world record of 63 minutes for the 10-mile distance—than for his marathoning, announced beforehand that this would be his fifth and probably his last Boston race. He now is awaiting a call to join the Canadian air forces.

In his previous starts, he finished 22nd, seventh and twice he ran for eighth.

Working for the Cleveland Indians, this big Iowa farm boy achieved the goal that so many covet and so few attain.

No fewer than half a million words will be published in this country today on Feller's perfect performance against the Chicago White Sox. From here on my task as a daily sports columnist becomes very difficult.

In normal times, and under normal conditions, nothing could stop me from wearing out a typewriter in telling you of the greatness of the Iowa boy. There would be a paragraph on Feller's dad, who spent hours teaching his boy how to pitch. There would be another paragraph on how the farm boy responded to the teaching, and, at an age when most boys are not ready for sandlot baseball, stepped into the major leagues and made good.

Can't Cope With War

There would be another paragraph on how, perhaps, this was the most amazing no-hit game of all time. But, dammit, things have come to pass in this world which make the performance of a baseball pitcher very trivial.

Let me be called critical, let me be called anything, but let me tell you this—only those weak of mind can really care about a no-hit game, or anything else to do with sport, when the world is in the condition it is today.

I have no patience with those of my colleagues who say that this country's interest in sport proves that it wants nothing to do with what's happening on the other side.

My contention is that any man, woman or child who is more interested in the standing of the Giants in baseball or the Rangers in hockey, or Joe Louis in fighting than he is in world events needs sympathy, not enlightenment. This must not be construed as an argument for our entering the war. Let us hope that day never comes.

It is simply a belief by one man that professional baseball, with its competition between tobacco-chewing, flannel-wearing wage-earners, is nowhere near as important as nations disappearing from the face of the earth.

They Play for Keeps

I have been writing sports long enough to know just what Feller's no-hit game means. I have sufficient background to write you 10,000 word on the performance of the gangling boy.

But I haven't the heart to create something big out of something that, in the light of today's headlines, is really so small. After all, a man can't write of a baseball player having determination and courage when men are being pulled out of icy seas and walking into the face of machine guns to gain a foothold on a rock.

No one can ever convince me that there is one-millionth of the drama in anything sport can produce that there is in a battlewagon firing from a heavy sea, or a pink-cheeked kid squinting down the sights of a gun, or a group of men sitting around a table and moving thumbtacks which in more ways than one, represent your destiny and mine.

My point is this: Until the war ends, and nations stops fighting, there isn't going to be a great deal of caring as to which, when, where, and why, men playing at sport do against one another.

It's hard to care whether men win a cup or a sweater or a piece of plate when not so far away men are playing strictly for keeps.

FIRST BOAT IS DUE IN TONIGHT

E. T. Weir To Be Followed By D. M. Weir; More Monday

Some time after 6 o'clock tonight the first ore boat of the season is scheduled to break through ice in the Escanaba harbor and pull up to the ore docks here. And not far behind it will be another.

The first boat scheduled is the 12,000 ton E. T. Weir and following it, sometime Sunday, will be the 10,200 ton D. M. Weir.

There is a chance that the boats will not be able to get through the ice, but boat and dock officials were basing their plans on the probability that the ice is soft enough to break easily.

The schedule which a few days ago called for arrival of three boats Sunday has been changed and the third boat is due into port Monday forenoon, another is scheduled Monday afternoon and another Tuesday midnight, as of last night's schedule. One of those formerly expected Sunday, the Ashley, has been rescheduled to arrive Wednesday.

Two more trains of ore were received here both yesterday and Thursday and two or three more are expected in today.

Two cargoes of ore will be dumped into pockets today to bring the total binnage on hand to between 300 and 400 cars.

Lights went on along the No. 6 dock last night as a crew of 10 men dumped nearly 100 cars of ore into pockets.

Also lighted last night for the first time this year was the Sand Point crib light, as a test measure before it is actually needed.

Lights at Poverty island and St. Martin's island already have gone on and Lake Superior light keepers from Escanaba and other places have reported.

The Minneapolis Shoals light will be put on as soon as the ice breaks up and the station's boat can be freed from Escanaba harbor. The boat was docked here through the winter for extensive repairs.

Muck Fire Put Out Again — Or Is It?

Fire Chief Arvid Johnson and assistants were out again yesterday fighting a pernicious muck fire that smoulders under ground and breaks out every now and then near the city sewage disposal plant.

The fire burned for weeks despite frequent efforts to quell it last year and finally in the fall it appeared to be out. Winter snows were thought to have quenched the last traces of it.

Then the field south of the disposal plant road and east of the plant was burned off the other day. The fire seeped into the muck. After two days of work, Chief Johnson thought the blaze was out again last night.

But when it was suggested that the fire department should supervise the burning off of another field across Portage creek, the chief balked. It would just mean beginning another practically eternal job of fire fighting, he said.

Little Damage Done In Stephenson Fire

Slight damage was done in a fire shortly after 10 o'clock last night at 209½ Stephenson avenue, in a house owned, it was reported, by Owen Gallagher.

The fire started apparently from an overheated chimney and the wall of the front room downstairs was burned slightly. Companies from both the No. 1 and the No. 2 fire stations answered the alarm.

First introduced in England during 1799 as a temporary measure, income taxes were not regarded as a permanent source of income until 1842.

About 70,000 pounds of smelt were purchased by Griffin Thursday, and the receipts on Friday were upwards of 100,000 pounds.

WANT M-95 IMPROVED

Iron Mountain—The effort of Marquette county to have state highway M-95 improved between Republic and Humbolt, a stretch of seven miles, is now receiving the support of the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Chamber of Commerce, a letter being written today to State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, by Don Smith, chamber secretary.

The stretch, regarded as one of the worst in the state because of its narrowness and numerous sharp curves, has cost Iron Mountain considerable money in tourist income, Smith pointed. Tourists out of Marquette are re-routed in order to avoid the road and, the secretary added, many travelers who have gone over it have made sharp complaints.

Newberry Tourist Ass'n to Conduct Picture Contest

Newberry—The Newberry Tourist Association will sponsor a photograph contest, in which liberal prizes will be offered for the best summer views of points of interest in Newberry.

According to announcements, the contest will get under way the first of June, when nature is at its best. It was thought by the committee that the more attractive snap shots may be obtained after the leaves appear on the trees, however, the camera fans may use their discretion in this respect, it was said.

The contest is expected to close in June, after which the judges will announce the three winners. Unusual scenes, parks, inside and outside snap shots of industrial plants about Newberry, public buildings and natural scenes, are among the suggested subjects. Any unusual scene, which the camera fan believes will be of interest to our summer visitor, should be photographed, and turned in to the judges.

The best pictures chosen by the judges will be displayed in public places in and about Newberry, and several will be used in the new advertising folder, which will be published this year. Some of the pictures will also be arranged in large plaques and placed on display on the Tahquamenon river excursion boats.

BEAVER HIDES SEALED

Newberry—The Newberry Conservation headquarters report that already over 100 beaver hides have been sealed at Newberry headquarters, and this week-end rush is expected to show the 1940 season as normal. However, variable weather conditions during the last week made it impossible the conservation officers to forecast the season's total take.

A total of 195 licenses were sold in this district including the five eastern counties of the Upper Peninsula, according to conservation headquarters at Newberry.

Andrew Johnson, local trapper had the honor of being among the first in this vicinity to fill his license, this season. The price per pelt averages $18 this season, as compared with an average of $12 last season. Each licensed trapper is allowed to take eight beaver.

What Is the Reason?

THE newly organized Escanaba city council now has adopted a motion to engage another firm of engineers to make what is promised to be an "independent" survey of the proposed water plant project.

It will be recalled that Burns and McDonald, a highly reputable firm of consulting engineers, who supervised the construction of water plants all over the United States, was engaged to make the study for the city of Escanaba and recommended the construction of a new plant. This firm was chosen by unanimous vote of the council after careful interview with four consulting firms and correspondence with a fifth. This was in agreement with a previous recommendation by the state department of health.

The recommendations later were not acceptable to two members of the council so a citizens committee, composed of members of various representative groups, was appointed to study the matter. This committee unanimously recommended a new plant, but was divided on the matter of location. The majority, however, favored placing it on the north shore in the vicinity of the old Stephenson dock. This still did not satisfy the opponents of the project.

The new idea, presented by the opposition and concurred in by the proponents apparently for the purpose of promoting community harmony, is to engage another engineering firm to review the situation. It's a case of hiring an investigator to investigate the investigator, and so on and on. It's simply a waste of the taxpayers' money.

A most ridiculous aspect of the motion, passed by the council Thursday night, was that the new investigators are not to be permitted to avail themselves of information from the regular sources. They are not to contact the city manager and city engineer, and at first it was suggested that not even other city employes would be permitted to assist in the survey.

Now is the time when civic minded citizens should take an active interest in community affairs. They should do more than merely watch.

The people of Escanaba owe it to themselves and their city administration to thoroughly inform themselves as to this highly important matter and having arrived at a decision, endorse such action as may be to the best interests of Escanaba today and for future years.

This is no time for venting personal feeling against any individual or any set of individuals. Let's look at this thing soberly and sanely and finally do the thing that is best for Escanaba.

Far Eastern Events

EVENTS in Europe have been moving with a suddenness giving them the unreal aspect of a dream. The United States, and the whole world, feel a sort of mental shell-shock as the dormant war suddenly wakes itself to life.

Our eyes are fixed on Scandinavia like those of a bird fascinated by a serpent. But now is the time to see the world whole, to remember that even in the face of Europe's tragedy the rest of the world goes on.

In the Far East is another war. This summer its third year will come to an end.

There are signs that the Japanese are tiring of the long struggle. They have piled success on success, but there is no victory. The Chinese have suffered reverse after reverse, but there is no defeat.

It begins to look as though neither side can win conclusively, that nothing is ahead but years of a sterile and mutually exhausting struggle. The Japanese ought to be pretty well convinced by now that they can never conquer and hold all of China. And the possibility of China completely ousting Japan from the Asiatic mainland is almost equally remote.

Britain, up to the hubs in Europe, is in no position to defend her interests in China. Neither is France. The United States, perhaps able, is certainly unwilling. Only Russia is really in a position to help China directly and materially on a large scale, and Russia's motives are certainly suspect. If there cannot be a Chinese China, why is a Russian China preferable to a Japanese China? East Poland and Finland offer their testimony.

Assume complete victory for one side or the other in the Chinese war. Based on experience, does it seem likely that any justice will emerge from a peace dictated either by Japan or by a Russian-supported China?

Might not a peace conference in which all powers with pacific interests took part, including Japan, China, Britain, the Netherlands, France, Russia, and the United States, arrive at a more just peace today than one which followed a finish fight?

An Eastern Munich? Not at all. No one who thinks China has a chance to win can contend that she would come to such a conference as Czechoslovakia came, a helpless pawn. Having achieved a virtual stand-off in a three-year war, China would not have to agree to terms imposed from without, or to any terms inconsistent with her military position and prospects. It is even possible that the "third powers" could exert pressure on Japan around a conference table which they are unable to bring to bear on the fighting front.

Even if such a conference failed it is hard to see how any participant could lose anything. And all might gain by some settlement that would stabilize for some years the turbulent Far East.

Practically Voluntary

AMERICAN Chinese have been supporting the battle of their homeland against the Japanese invader with considerable enthusiasm. Some $4,000,000 has been sent to the homeland to keep millions of Chinese from starvation.

Most American Chinese have contributed cheerfully. But occasionally one lags in his monthly payment of mrom $18 a month up. Chicago Chinese devised a pleasant little scheme. They tie a drum on the back of the delinquent, post a sign on his chest noting the amount of the delinquency, and march him up and down the street with boys behind beating the drum. A little of this, and the man pays up.

Darned clever, these Chinese!

Babies and Business

THE birth rate in the United States has tended downward for some years, as in almost every other country.

Figures released in connection with Child Health week, however, show an interesting thing. In 1915, when birth registration figures were first tabulated on the present basis, 25.1 babies were born for each 1000 people. The absolute low was reached in 1933, at 16.5. Since that time the rate has gradually increased again to 17.6 in 1938.

That plainly suggests that when people face a discouraging economic outlook they don't have as many babies as they do when times look a little better. Which is just one more excellent reason, if any more reasons should seem necessary, for concentrating on building up our own economy in the face of a tragic world.

THE ONLY FAIR PROCEDURE
(New York Times)

The note that Secretary Hull addressed to the Mexican ambassador places the American case regarding the oil and land seizures on irrefutable ground. It fully grants the right of a sovereign state to expropriate property for public purposes. But it insists that no appropriation is legal unless it is accompanied by "adequate, effective and prompt compensation." This requirement is not satisfied, the note continues, merely by an expressed intent on the part of Mexico to pay at some time in the future. In a severe historical summary the note points out that "during the last 25 years one American interest in Mexico after another has suffered at the hands of the Mexican government," and that, though Mexico took over American-owned petroleum property to the value of many millions of dollars more than two years ago, "not one cent of compensation has been paid." Mr. Hull suggests that the problem be solved by resort to "the appropriate, fair and honorable procedure of arbitration."

A NATION OF BEGGARS
(Michigan Manufacturer)

Observing, here in Detroit, the utter lack of enthusiasm with which common labor on city and federal payrolls such as alley and street cleaners go about their periodic efforts, one is led to the conviction that a great proportion of the nation's population is becoming chronic panhandlers. Those on relief give no indication of a desire for employment. Three square meals a day, a place to sleep, free heat and the unrestricted use of their jalloppes, to them, seems to be the "Life of Riley". It may be said that these beggars from government includes a great many towns, cities and states, all seeking federal alms.

By accepting these alms, they are gradually giving up individual, civic and states rights and building a Federal overlordship that will make them mere pawns of government. We like to talk about our democracy and pity the people of countries where liberty has been crushed, when we ourselves are giving up our freedom for a mess of Federal "handouts" that are mortgaging our future for generations to come.

Civic organizations have become beggars, great industries have become beggars, cities and states have become beggars at the public trough. Then after accepting public charity and injecting government into their local and personal affairs, they cry because government in business is being so rapidly extended that it is wiping out free enterprise.

This country hasn't changed fundamentally in spite of all the theoretical prattle to the contrary; opportunities are still countless for young and old. What has changed is our backbone and our pride. We are becoming a nation of "sissies" who cry for help at the slightest provocation and want to be coddled as incompetents. By our actions we are admitting that we are no longer capable of self government or private management of our own affairs. We are asking for political dictatorship and we will have no one but ourselves to blame if we get it.

Every time there is some tough nut to crack, we now beg for Federal funds to care for the problems or losses involved, which, in most cases, are due to our own laziness, greed or neglect. We want the Federal government to do our irrigating; we want the government to control our crops, we want the government to build our dams; we want the government to build our houses; we want the government to carry our insurance; we want the government to loan us money; we want the government to build our school, bridges, parks, etc., and do everything that we as free men and women used to take pride in doing ourselves. And then we cry our eyes out about taxes and new laws regulations and restrictions.

Anyone with a thimbleful of brains knows that when you borrow money, the lender gets in the driver's seat. When you become a beggar, the giver controls your actions. When you beg or borrow from the government, you give up your birthright as a free citizen—you begin to exist for the government, rather than the government existing for you.

This is the position of the people of the United States today. They have begged and borrowed themselves well on the road toward national bankruptcy and political dictatorship. There can be no compromise with the totalitarian philosophy—you either accept it and become public wards, or you kick out the totalitarian philosophy and remain free.

If you think the end toward which we are racing is exaggerated, just look around your own community and see how much Federal charity it has accepted. Government can hand out no money which it does not take from the citizens. Money taken in taxes means that much less for the man or woman who has to sweat and earn and save and pay the taxes.

One answer the world is getting now in Scandinavia. The other may come at any moment in France, for the Germans are showing signs of attacking the Maginot Line. Perhaps it will be only a diversion to hold back Franco-British troops from Scandinavia, but more likely it will be a tremendous attempt to break through and end the war.

This stupendous undertaking the Nazis would justify by their military doctrine and even more by their state of equipment. For if ever a host was armed to break the strongest fortress in history, that host is today's Reichswehr. They have more, better and newer weapons than any army ever had in the world's history. They have artillery, German and Czech, that is unequaled for the task of shattering the concrete casemates topped with steel cupolas that are the backbone of the famous line.

—AIR BOMBING BIG FACTOR—

Those casemates can hardly be rocked by shell fire as were the less deeply anchored Finnish pillboxes. But there are also pillboxes on the Western Front—outposts of the casemates. The Finns and Poles succumbed to air bombing that was nothing compared to the bombing Germany would try to give the Maginot Line. Such bombing has already proven a demoralizer of communications behind the front and the best way to open the way for tanks to get at ground troops and pillboxes.

Germany has not only her 10 armored tank divisions that overran Poland, but many more vehicles, including a very heavy tank with tough armor. There are also flame-thrower tanks that fling a coal-tar or benzine fluid which bursts into flame when it hits. This would silence guns by forcing gunners to close the pillbox ports through which they must fire. Whether pillbox ports only would be affected or also the big casemates themselves, remains to be seen. Of course, many casemates could fall without the whole line breaking; and were it besieged, its whole garrison of mechanics in white jumpers has supplies for at least three months.

—HINT AT NAZI UNDERGROUND ATTACK—

Some say the only real way to break the Maginot Line wide open is to blow up two sections of it and that, during the last seven months, Germans have been silently burrowing towards it underground. Surely a vast undertaking, though not perhaps utterly beyond German industriousness.

Should the Maginot Line once be conquered, behind it lies a second Maginot Line, built mostly in those same seven months. It is thinner than the first, contains more pillboxes, and behind it is a series of heavily fortified French cities.

Most important of all, there are two armies; for the garrison of the main Maginot Line comprises only 300,000 men, all trained specialists. The great mass of French manpower is free to operate in open warfare as the finest maneuvering army in the world, brilliantly led and thoroughly trained. The British army in France, now approaching 500,000, is more spotty in training, but mechanized and motorized in equipment. It is said to have only four horses, the four horsemen being brass hats who need exercise, including Lord Gort and the Duke of Gloucester.

British and French are ready for open warfare against the somewhat spottily trained Nazi infantry if the Maginot Line ever breaks.

—PRICE WOULD BE HIGH ONE—

Can it be broken? For years I have been asking that question of men who should know. Only yesterday I asked a young officer, who lately has been in the line. He replied, "Absolutely not." But when I asked a general of outstanding judgment and experienced in breaking lines considered impenetrable, he said, "Probably the Nazis can break the Maginot Line if they are willing to pay the price in lives."

I prefer the second answer.

General Sherman, it appears, was right about war. King Haakon might also have a word to say about neutrality.

Results of the primaries would have made interesting reading. Too bad they had to come at the same time war broke.

Things are bustling down in Rome. With two kings trumped in the north, it might be interesting to see what results a play of the Duce might bring.

Navigation was formally opened in Escanaba at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the Isabelle C., a steam tug owned by Captain Casey of Fairport, smashed her way through the harbor ice to the dock. The boat battled with the ice for nearly two hours on the last quarter mile of her journey. She left Fairport at 1:15, members of the party stated, and encountered no difficulty until the Escanaba harbor was reached.

If recommendations made by the board of public works to the city council at last night's meeting of the board are accepted by the council, outside employes of the public utilities plants will receive a blanket raise of $20 a month and office employes of $15.

Announcement was made yesterday by Deputy State Game Warden Herman Leisner that non resident angler license have been placed on sale in the city. The open season for brook trout is May 1 to Sept. 1.

"It looks to me as though this year were to be the peppiest football year in the history of Escanaba high school," Coach Clarence Shutes stated last night following the meeting of candidates for spring training. Not only were about 40 men out who were more or less in the game last year, but an equal number of aspirants who are new to the game made their appearance at the meeting.

Beginning today, local Presbyterians will hold three days of conference and meetings which promise to be the most important and most interesting held in this city for several years.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood—Real story behind the discussion of Shirley Temple's retirement from the screen is that the parents of the Wonder Tot have been quarreling with her boss, Darryl Zanuck.

Mr. Zanuck became a little apprehensive about Shirley's popularity after he watched some of her recent expensive pictures take a beating at the boxoffice. "The Blue Bird," most costly of all Temple productions, has done such poor business that Shirley herself heard about it and made a quip about the Blue Bird laying an egg.

So the executive head of 20th-Fox decreed that future pictures starring the Marvel Moppet would be made on greatly reduced budgets. They would rank along with the Jane Withers films, which are tremendous money-makers because of their low original cost.

George and Gertrude Temple don't like the idea at all. Their feeling, shared by a great many other people in Hollywood, is that Shirley has not been very wisely handled lately, and that she should have been kept in the type of vehicles which originally made her famous. More singing and dancing, and not so much heavy drama.

• • •

SHIRLEY WILL HAVE NORMAL CHILDHOOD

The parents have planned a partial retirement for Shirley when her current contract expires in June, 1941. They want her to enjoy a more normal childhood and would allow her to do as she pleases about returning to full-time studio work when she's 16 or 17. Meanwhile, they hoped that her star status could be maintained, and her future career assured if she wanted one, by making about one picture a year.

Only a Garbo or a Chaplin can remain a screen celebrity while making such rare appearances. Obviously, if their plan for Shirley were carried out, her annual films would have to be something pretty pretentious. She certainly couldn't hold her place with the big-timers by appearing once a year in a B-budget flicker produced by Sol Wurtzel

• • •

NEW PICTURE MAY SOOTHE ALL

If the disagreement continues between the Temples and Zanuck, it may end with immediate and amicable cancellation of her contract. Thereafter she might continue at Fox under some new arrangement, or she might freelance very profitably among all the studios.

Chances are, though, that the difficulty will be solved with the release of her current picture, "The Young People." It's exactly the sort of story in which Shirley's parents and others believe she should be cast. If it turns out to be a hit, Zanuck may concede the argument.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The great Lone Star State of Texas, where Jack Garner was born and with whose heretofore unfailing backing he rose to fame and fortune, is today the stage of what, in the opinion of insiders will be his last political battle.

For the grizzled old warrior it is a bitter and ironic clash. Bitter because he finds himself on the defensive in his own home bailiwick, where he reigned supreme for so many years; ironic because he actually is only a pawn in a struggle in which he figures prominently but in which he has no real personal stake.

For behind the fierce political conflict churning up Texas Democracy, the real issue is not the fate or fortunes of Jack Garner, but who will control the state organization—the Old Guard group that has bossed it for an era, or the New Deal militants who have surged to the front in recent years.

—GARNER OUT—

The battle was joined a few days after Roosevelt's smashing 8 to 1 Illinois victory, when Representative Sam Rayburn, Democratic floor leader and an Garner crony, went to the White House and made this proposal:

"Jack's licked and we know it. It's no use to rub it in or have a fight in Texas. Why not call off your friends who are out for a third-term delegation, and we'll agree to a 'favorite son' delegation that will give Garner a first-ballot complimentary vote and no more."

The President was uninterested. He told Rayburn that he had not intervened in any other state fight, and had no intention of calling off the Texas New Dealers. They had as much right to campaign for what they believed in as the New Dealers in other states.

Rayburn then asked permission to send a wire to Texas, to the effect that he was authorized to say that the President did not approve of the third-term campaign being waged for him. Again Roosevelt vigorously shook his head.

—NEW DEAL TERMS—

This is concededly a tough one, as under Texas law delegates are chosen at a state convention and, with the exception of the larger cities, the Old Guard controls most of the county organizations. But the brace up the third-termers' sleeve is the ardent desire of Garner's friends to avoid a knock-down-and-drag-out fight in his home state.

The New Dealers are bearing down strong on this fact. They have served notice that unless a satisfactory compromise is offered, they will fight to the last ditch.

Their terms are these: they are willing to give Garner a complimentary vote as a "favorite son" candidate, but thereafter the Texas delegation must take orders from the New Dealers. In other words, control of the delegation will be in the hands of the liberals, and not the Old Guarders who ran Garner as a "stop Roosevelt" candidate in Wisconsin and Illinois.

The argument of the New Dealers is that while in Texas the Old Guard is boosting Garner only as a "favorite son" candidate, at the Chicago convention—if they are in control of the delegation—they will revert to form and play ball with other anti-Administration elements to fight either Roosevelt or his choice if he decides not to run.

The New Dealers are standing pat for a pro-Roosevelt delegation, on the ground that if there were a popular ballot in Texas such a slate would win hands down.

—UNHAPPY SAM—

Unhappiest man in the bitter melee is kindly, peace-loving Sam Rayburn, who is torn between his loyalty to Roosevelt and his close personal friendship with Garner and the old leaders.

Left to himself, Sam would play ball with the New Dealers. But his old Texas cronies are putting terrific pressure on him, and he is in the distressing situation of being used to fight the President and the New Deal. Besides his personal distaste for this, Sam also fears the effect it may have on his own vice presidential or speakership ambitions should anything happen to Speaker William Bankhead.

To get either, Sam has to have Northern Democratic support, and it is overwhelmingly pro-Roosevelt.

They are already very sore at Sam for his failure to prevail on his close buddy, Representative Gene Cox, fiery Georgia anti-New Deal leader of the Rules Committee, to block the Barden bill that would emasculate the Wage-Hour Act. The preservation of this labor measure is of crucial importance to the industrial district Northerners for re-election purposes, and they are boiling mad at Sam for the Cox-Barden attack on it.

So Sam, with his feet in the fire and his pants in flames, doesn't know which way to turn. Whatever he does, he'll be sure to be damned.

CLEARING-OFF DURING THE NIGHT

The sky cleared up after sundown,
The storm clouds went to play,
The stars came out in jolly groups
And skipped the milky way.
By morning though the clouds returned,
To pout, and roll and fight—
The day is scarcely ever fair
When it clears up over night.

There's people livin' 'round me here—
That say they've done forgive,
They now are goin' a-be real fine
And show folks how to live.
But law, their trouble clouds come back
They pout and roll and fight,
They may forgive, but they don't forget—
They cleared up over night!

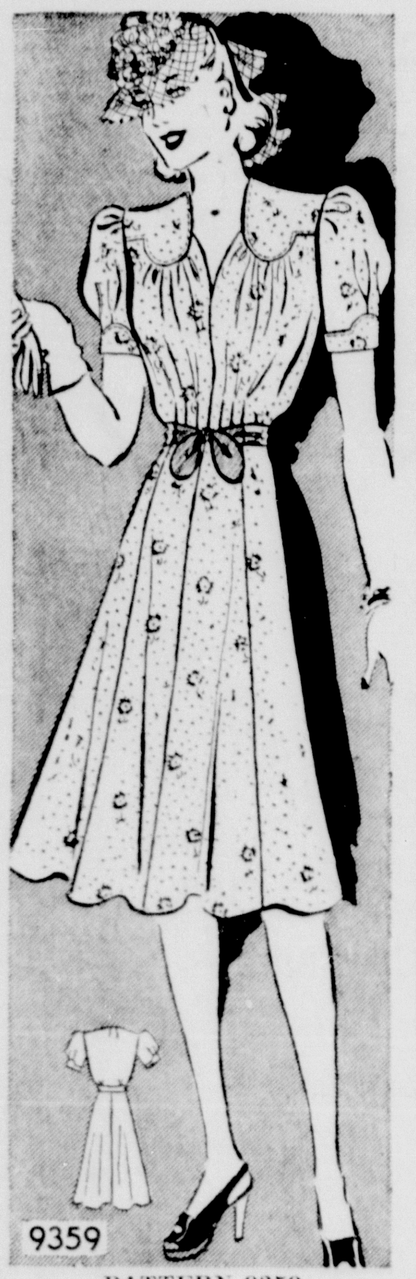
Graceful Lines Feature Frock For Afternoon

BY MARIAN MARTIN



PATTERN 9359

The new age of femininity is charmingly accented in this very soft and appealing frock, Pattern 9359. It's a Marian Martin dress that's becoming to most any age or type. The unusually soft, bloused bodice is so flattering! See how decoratively its fullness is kept in place by means of above-the-waist darts and gathers just below the attractive yokes. The neckline curves down in effortless grace; the skirt flares out, with two panels trimming the front. One gay suggestion is to pick up a color of the print in vivid sash ends. Another idea is to have yokes, sleeve bands and sash ends in bright contrast.

Pattern 9359 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Guertin explaining the purpose of this yearly activity, and Mrs. Fred Myrsten was named chairman of the round-up committee. The date of the round-up has been set at May 13, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning and 1:30 in the afternoon.

Plans also were made for a card party to be held the middle of May to raise funds for unit activities.

A beautifully staged presentation of "All Saints Pageant," was given by the pupils of the fourth grade, directed by Sister M. Edwardine. The production was highly instructive and interesting and stage settings and costuming added much to its impressiveness.

All About Babies

BY RICHARD ARTHUR BOLT, M. D., DR. P. H.
Secretary, Maternal and Child Health Section of American Public Health Association

A great deal has been accomplished in reducing the number of deaths of babies under one year of age, but this has been done largely after the first perilous month of life. Deaths in the first month still remain unduly high.

Dr. Bolt

If we are to make further progress in the reduction of infant mortality we must attack the causes which lie back of the earlier deaths. This is largely a matter of good prenatal and obstetric care.

The leading cause of death in the first year is prematurity. Premature infants are considered those whose birth weight in five pounds or less.

They have weak digestive systems and cannot take the normal feedings of full-term babies.

They are very susceptible to changes in temperature, especially to exposure to cold.

They are particularly susceptible to infections and having little resistance, often succumb.

They are liable to have trouble with their breathing.

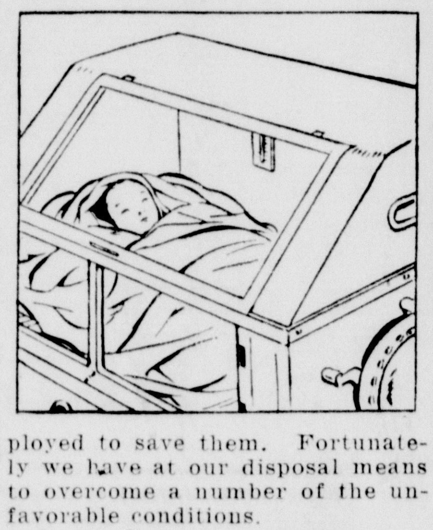
The general bodily weakness of prematures may turn the tide so that special measures must be employed to save them. Fortunately we have at our disposal means to overcome a number of the unfavorable conditions.



In the first place we must protect them from cold immediately after birth and keep them at an even temperature by thorough wrappings with suitable blankets and pillows. If an incubator is available, the baby should be placed in it at once and watched carefully day and night. It is not necessary to have a complicated incubator. Many premature babies have been saved in simply constructed ones.

Skilled medical and nursing care are most essential. Nurses trained in the details of caring for prematures should be employed.

• • •

How can we tell that prematures are doing nicely?

When they take their feedings well without vomiting.

When body temperature taken by rectum remains between 98 and 99 degrees Fahrenheit.

When they have no difficulty in breathing nor show any blueness of face or body.

When they gain steadily, but not necessarily rapidly after the proper routine has been established.

The question is often asked, "Can premature babies grow up normally and become well and strong as full-term babies?"

The answer is, "Yes," if these babies have no serious developmental defects and are taken care of by the most approved modern techniques.

EARTH CHANGES SIZE

At one time the earth was much smaller than it is at the present time, but it added to its original size by drawing into itself wandering nebulous materials. Later, shrinkage during the cooling process reduced it to its present size.

WANT M-95 IMPROVED

Iron Mountain—The effort of Marquette county to have state highway M-95 improved between Republic and Humbolt, a stretch of seven miles, is now receiving the support of the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Chamber of Commerce, a letter being written today to State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, by Don Smith, chamber secretary.

The stretch, regarded as one of the worst in the state because of its narrowness and numerous sharp curves, has cost Iron Mountain considerable money in tourist income, Smith pointed. Tourists out of Marquette are re-routed in order to avoid the road and, the secretary added, many travelers who have gone over it have made sharp complaints.

Newberry Tourist Ass'n to Conduct Picture Contest

Newberry—The Newberry Tourist Association will sponsor a photograph contest, in which liberal prizes will be offered for the best summer views of points of interest in Newberry.

According to announcements, the contest will get under way the first of June, when nature is at its best. It was thought by the committee that the more attractive snap shots may be obtained after the leaves appear on the trees, however, the camera fans may use their discretion in this respect, it was said.

The contest is expected to close in June, after which the judges will announce the three winners. Unusual scenes, parks, inside and outside snap shots of industrial plants about Newberry, public buildings and natural scenes, are among the suggested subjects. Any unusual scene, which the camera fan believes will be of interest to our summer visitor, should be photographed, and turned in to the judges.

The best pictures chosen by the judges will be displayed in public places in and about Newberry, and several will be used in the new advertising folder, which will be published this year. Some of the pictures will also be arranged in large plaques and placed on display on the Tahquamenon river excursion boats.

BEAVER HIDES SEALED

Newberry—The Newberry Conservation headquarters report that already over 100 beaver hides have been sealed at Newberry headquarters, and this week-end rush is expected to show the 1940 season as normal. However, variable weather conditions during the last week made it impossible the conservation officers to forecast the season's total take.

A total of 195 licenses were sold in this district including the five eastern counties of the Upper Peninsula, according to conservation headquarters at Newberry.

Andrew Johnson, local trapper had the honor of being among the first in this vicinity to fill his license, this season. The price per pelt averages $18 this season, as compared with an average of $12 last season. Each licensed trapper is allowed to take eight beaver.

POLES PLACED ON WASHINGTON

Half of Job Done, New Lights Expected Up Next Week

Nearly half the poles needed for installation of new lights along Washington avenue were placed yesterday and the rest are scheduled to be up the first of the week.

The light brackets can be installed on the poles within three or four days and the Washington lights may all be ready before the end of next week.

Three blocks of new lights were added on Ludington street this week, making the city's "white way" extend from Sixth street to Stephenson avenue.

Other city spring construction work also was being planned. Grading in preparation for laying of 42,000 square feet of sidewalk in a WPA program started last fall, is under way and laying of both sidewalk and street paving is scheduled to be started about May 1.

First steps have been taken on construction of an ornamental auto bridge between the inner and outer rims of the Ludington park lagoon.

Just started is a program of keeping photographic records of all phases of each WPA project. Photos were made yesterday of the bridge site as operations started, to be compared with a view to be made when the job is finished.

29 Cents of Tax Dollar Is Used For Education

Out of every dollar of taxes paid by Escanaba residents, 29 cents is utilized in the operation of the public schools, according to a report on school costs made this week by Supt. John A. Lemmer.

Two years ago, it cost the schools $94.55 to maintain each child during a school year. This year, the cost has been reduced to $85.19, or almost $10 per child. The per capita cost of education in Escanaba has been reduced from $19.59 in 1937-38 to $16.47 for the present year.

Two years ago, the total cost of operating public schools in the city was $284,020.51. This year, total expenditures amount to $242,786.06. The last figure is a reduction of 4.2 per cent from the costs of operation last year.

59.4 Per Cent From State

These reductions have been effected by the closing of the ungraded and open window rooms, combining kindergartens, eliminating two teachers in the senior and junior high schools and curtailment of the maintenance program.

Where does the money come from to operate the schools? Local taxes contribute only 37 per cent of the income. State and federal aid is the heaviest item of receipts, amounting to 59.4 per cent. The remaining 3.6 per cent comes from miscellaneous receipts.

Debt Service Heavy

How is the school dollar spent? The largest share, or 67.3 per cent goes for instruction. Plant operation, which includes janitors' salaries, supplies and the like, amounts to 12.5 cents while debt service takes 11.6 cents. Administrative costs are 3.6 cents. Items of less than three cents per dollar include auxiliary and coordinate, maintenance, fixed charges and capital outlay.

Debt service is a heavy expense. At the present time, the city schools owe $349,500 in long term indebtedness, which will be paid off in 18 years provided that no further bonds are issued. Interest payments over the 18 year period will amount to $168,570. Last year, payments of principal and interest on the indebtedness amounted to $28,286.40.

Breaking and Entering Is Charged; Others Are Sentenced

Alex Sovey, 1414 Washington avenue, was bound to the circuit court yesterday on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time. Bond was set at $500, which he did not furnish and he was remanded to the county jail.

He was arrested yesterday morning by city police following a report from a gasoline filling station at the same address that the place had been broken into during the night and that three quarts of oil and nearly nine gallons of gasoline had been taken.

In admitting his guilt, Sovey said that he merely pushed the door of the place open, turned on the electricity to operate the pumps and helped himself, police reported.

To County Jail

Frank Duchaine of Iron Mountain was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in the county jail on a charge of drunken driving following his arrest Thursday on North Eleventh street near Ludington. A companion in the car, Conrad Case, was given a 10 day sentence on a disorderly charge and Emis Crowell, also in the car, was assessed court costs.

60,000 Chicago Pupils To Eat Smelt Friday

Ten thousand pounds of smelt have been ordered by the Chicago board of education for luncheons to be served in the lunchrooms of about fifty school buildings in that city Friday, April 26. The shipment will be made by the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree committee on Wednesday.

A display of smelt at the Chicago Daily News Travel Show attracted the attention of the director of lunchrooms of the Chicago public school system this week. Edward Dreier, Grand Rapids, who is in charge of the Michigan booth at the show, told him of the fine eating qualities of the silvery fish, and then it was decided to introduce the smelt to Chicago school children. It is estimated about 60,000 students will taste them.

In connection with the luncheon, movies of the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree and smelt dipping activities will be shown at the auditorium assemblies in the various buildings of Chicago next week. Picture displays of smelt and Paul Bunyan also will be held. In addition, students will study the history and habits of the smelt in the classrooms. Scientific data on the smelt were requested from the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The feeding of smelt to the school children is expected to help much in acquainting Chicago families with its food values.

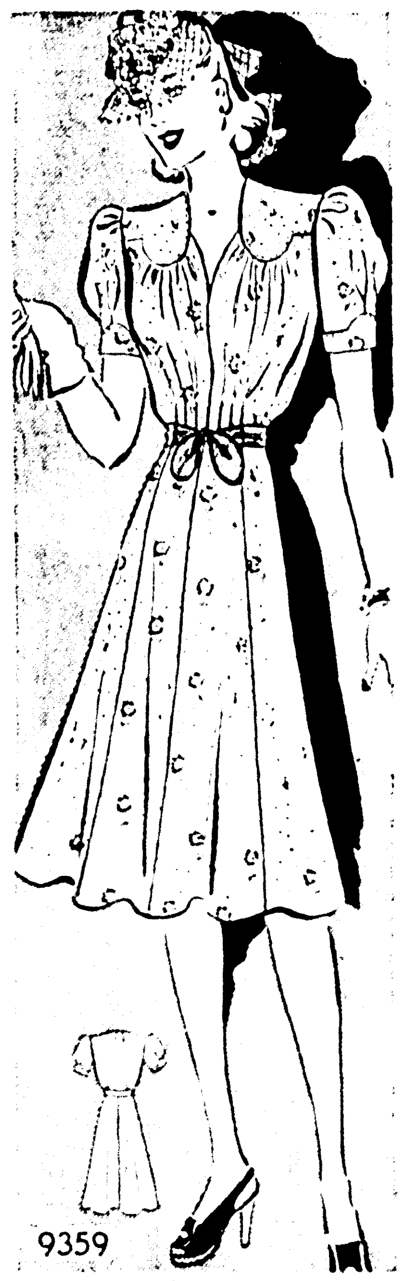
BY MARIAN MARTIN



PATTERN 9359

The new age of femininity is charmingly accented in this very soft and appealing frock, Pattern 9359. It's a Marian Martin dress that's becoming to most any age or type. The unusually soft bloused bodice is so flattering! See how decoratively its fullness is kept in place by means of above-the-waist darts and gathers just below the attractive yokes. The neckline curves down in effortless grace; the skirt flares out, with two panels trimming the front. One gay suggestion is to pick up a color of the print in vivid sash ends. Another idea is to have yokes, sleeve bands and sash ends in bright contrast.

Pattern 9359 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

OUR SUMMER MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK brings you flattering, gay new styles. Clothes for casual, formal and play-time wear in fashions as sparkling as the Summer days just ahead. Whether you stay at home or go vacationing, you'll need crisp cottons, cool sheers, colorful prints. Business Session And Pageant Mark P-T Unit Meeting

An important business meeting and a program by the fourth graders of St. Anne's school were included in the regular meeting of St. Anne's Parent-Teacher association held Wednesday evening in the parish hall.

At the business session, plans for the annual summer round-up were made, Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin explaining the purpose of this yearly activity, and Mrs. Fred Myrsten was named chairman of the round-up committee. The date of the round-up has been set at May 13, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning and 1:30 in the afternoon.

Plans also were made for a card party to be held the middle of May to raise funds for unit activities.

A beautifully staged presentation of "All Saints Pageant," was given by the pupils of the fourth grade, directed by Sister M. Edwardine. The production was highly instructive and interesting and stage settings and costuming added much to its impressiveness.

All About Babies

BY RICHARD ARTHUR BOLT, M. D., DR. P. H.

Dr. Bolt

A great deal has been accomplished in reducing the number of deaths of babies under one year of age, but this has been done largely after the first perilous month of life. Deaths in the first month still remain unduly high.

If we are to make further progress in the reduction of infant mortality we must attack the causes which lie back of the earlier deaths. This is largely a matter of good prenatal and obstetric care.

The leading cause of death in the first year is prematurity. Premature infants are considered those whose birth weight in five pounds or less.

They have weak digestive systems and cannot take the normal feedings of full-term babies.

They are very susceptible to changes in temperature, especially to exposure to cold.

They are particularly susceptible to infections and having little resistance, often succumb.

They are liable to have trouble with their breathing.

The general bodily weakness of prematures may turn the tide so that special measures must be employed to save them. Fortunately we have at our disposal means to overcome a number of the unfavorable conditions.

In the first place we must protect them from cold immediately after birth and keep them at an even temperature by thorough wrappings with suitable blankets and pillows. If an incubator is available, the baby should be placed in it at once and watched carefully day and night. It is not necessary to have a complicated incubator. Many premature babies have been saved in simply constructed ones.

Skilled medical and nursing care are most essential. Nurses trained in the details of caring for prematures should be employed.

• • •

How can we tell that prematures are doing nicely?

When they take their feedings well without vomiting.

When body temperature taken by rectum remains between 98 and 99 degrees Fahrenheit.

When they have no difficulty in breathing nor show any blueness of face or body.

When they gain steadily, but not necessarily rapidly after the proper routine has been established.

The question is often asked, "Can premature babies grow up normally and become well and strong as full-term babies?"

The answer is, "Yes," if these babies have no serious developmental defects and are taken care of by the most approved modern techniques.

EARTH CHANGES SIZE

At one time the earth was much smaller than it is at the present time, but it added to its original size by drawing into itself wandering nebulous materials. Later, shrinkage during the cooling process reduced it to its present size.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, April 19 (AP)—Late strength in shipping, paper, airline and woolen company stocks today put props under a previously wavering market.

Leading issues at the last reduced or converted into modest advances early losses running to 2 points or more. Persistent confusion over European developments served to offset encouraging business news at home, brokers said, and many potential buyers stood aside. Action of the Netherlands premier in putting that country under martial law was a chilling factor, as were doubts as to which way Italy would jump if at all in the overseas conflict.

Steels, soft most of the day on denials restoration of recent price cuts was contemplated, came back when forecasts were heard of increased mill operations in some districts next week. Aircrafts did better on the concluding lap. Rails and coppers ended with modest gains.

Growing backlogs buoyed shipping shares and bright earnings predictions based partially on war demands aided other groups.

U. S. Rubber preferred got back 3½ points of yesterday's 13-point relapse. Loft was an isolated weak spot, dropping 5 points at one time as disappointment was expressed over first quarter profits of Pepsi-Cola in which the former is heavily interested. The Loft issue eventually cut its loss to 3 points.

Improvement of 1 to around 4 points was held by American Woolen common and preferred, International Mercantile Marine, International Paper preferred, American - Hawaiian Steamship, N. Y. Shipbuilding, Atlantic Gulf & West Indies, Great Northern, Eastern Air Lines and American Airlines.

General Motors was off a shade and Chrysler up a point. This week's automotive output expanded but dealers' inventories were said to be top-heavy. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were ahead fractions, as were Lockheed, Boeing, Anaconda, Kennecott, Santa Fe and N. Y. Central.

On the offside were Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, United Aircraft Glenn Martin, Sears Roebuck, Goodyear, Western Union, General Electric and Johns-Manville.

Falling fractions to a point or so in the curb were Aluminum of America, Heyden Chemical, Phoenix Securities and Pittsburgh Plate Glass. Gains were posted for Gulf Oil, Babcock & Wilcox and American Gas. The turnover here was about 243,000 shares compared with 324,000 yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, April 19 (AP)—The grain price rise since April 8 accompanying the Scandinavian phase of Europe's war, having added about 9 cents to wheat and corn values, 7 cents to rye and 3 cents to oats, today prompted liberal selling by traders who had accumulated profits today.

The result was a general price setback in all pits except corn, where values advanced at one stage to new high levels since 1937. Wheat closed 7-8 to 1¼ cents lower than yesterday, May $1.10 7-8, July $1.09 3-4 to $1.09½; corn 3-8 higher to ¼ lower, May 64½ to 64 3-8, July 65½; oats 3-8 to ½ off; rye 7-8 to 1¼ down; soy beans 3-4 to 1½ off and lard 17 to 22 lower.

Wheat tumbled as much as 1 5-8 cents, at one stage. Spot prices were 3-4 to 1 cent lower but some No. 2 red sold as high as $1.15½, the highest price paid for actual wheat here since 1937.

The futures market also had to absorb additional hedging sales reflecting receipts of 1,221,000 bushels at the 12 principal terminals, 300,000 more than a week ago and almost double a year ago.

New York, April 19 (AP) — Europe's wars and rumors gave another beating to foreign bonds today. In their downturn, they carried most of the corporate and U. S. government issues along.

A few specialized loans made fair gains. Among these were International Mercantile Marine 6s which rose 4 points at 75.

The downside claimed the majority, however, with losers of a point or more including Canadian Pacific 4s at 62¾; Alleghany stamped 5s of '50 at 43; Great Northern "G" 4s of '46 at 100¾; Porto Rican American Tobacco stamped 6s of '42 at 81¾, and Wabash first 5s at 43½.

Among the battered foreign liens were those of Denmark, Norway, Australia, Canada, Sao Paulo, and Japan. On the other hand, Italian and Belgian issues made good gains in fairly active transactions.

U. S. governments attracted little attention, and they ended 2-32 point up to 15-32 down.

Mather High Girls Attend Conference

Munising, April 19—A delegation of Mather high school girls will attend the Older Girls' Conference at the Northern State Teachers college, Marquette, on Saturday, May 11, from nine to five o'clock.

"Vocations and Avocations" will be the theme of the conference. Original plays, "What Women Have Achieved," will be presented at the morning program and during the afternoon session two speakers will address the assembly. One speaker, Miss Florence Paton of Calumet high school, has already been engaged for the occasion and she will talk on "American Heroines." Invitations have been extended to fifteen or twenty women to talk to the girls on various vocations.

Anti-Forest Fire Campaign Launched

Munising, April 19—The concerted aid of all the people in the county is being sought by civic organizations in a campaign of forest fire prevention. The Roderick Prato Post of the American Legion recently appointed a committee composed of Walter J. Corey, Henry Scheirschmidt and James O'Boyle to make plans for a forest fire prevention campaign to be undertaken by the Legion with U. S. forest service assistance.

The Alger county board of supervisors, in session here last week, adopted a resolution soliciting the assistance of very individual living within or passing through Alger county in a campaign of fire prevention. The group pledged the assistance of themselves and their employes to the end that man-caused fires and the burned areas within our forest lands may be stopped. Points that were included in the resolution were: That campers take special precautions to extinguish their fires before leaving them; that smokers extinguish their burning tobacco before throwing it away; and that permits be secured from a forest or conservation officer before burning brush or starting fires for any reason other than for domestic use. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to all other counties in the Upper Peninsula.

● SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

DUFFY KELSO — Cavalier's manager.

• • •

CHAPTER XX

"You—you wretch!" she cried, but they didn't even turn around.

Val watched them until they were out of sight around a curve and then sat down on the running board. She wondered if she could change the tire herself. She got out the jack, jiggered with it experimentally and then decided she couldn't do it. All she could do was sit there until someone came along. And that might not be for quite a while.

She remembered there had been a farmhouse a couple of miles back. Maybe she could get help there. Val started out.

• • •

Pop Grimes was grinning widely. "She'll be raving a blue streak. What made you do that, anyhow?"

Val was still a good quarter of a mile from the farmhouse when it started to rain. Just a few drops at first, and she looked up into the sky. The sun was completely gone. She quickened her pace, but two minutes later the clouds really opened up.

By the time she reached the house she was drenched. A kindly, gray-haired woman let her in and Val explained her predicament. It was an hour later before the woman sent her son, a pleasant 16-year-old lad, back with Val.

Her hair was still soggy, her shoes heavy with damp mud. Altogether she felt so miserable she could have cried.

She gave the farm lad a dollar when he had changed the tire and then she started back to Prince Rupert.

Val returned the car to the garage, made a couple of purchases in a drug store and took a cab back to the Northern Belle. It was a bedraggled and steaming Val Douglas who marched up the gangplank.

She slipped out of her coat. "That isn't the half of it, Steve. Oooh, wait'll my turn comes again!"

She told him what had happened. Steve Hansen spraddled a chair and grinned up at her.

"Honey, where's your sense of humor?"

"Sense of humor!" she almost screeched. "Do you see anything funny in that?"

He nodded gravely. "I do," he said. "Look, Val, don't you know he's just been itchin' to pull a fast one of some kind on you?"

"But that," she growled. "That was too fast."

Steve patted her on the back. "Better get into some dry clothes . . . and see if you can work up a smile of some sort by the time they get back."

"You're right, Stevie," she said softly to herself. "I think I'll shock Mr. Cavalier with my sweet nature when he returns."

"We're taking on about three tons of salmon," he told her, nodding to the crates which were being swung aboard the ship. "Rest of the hold will be filled with Halliday lumber. We ought to be able to up anchor sometime tomorrow morning."

"The fight's next Thursday, you know," she reminded him. "That gives us five good days to get back to Frisco."

"We'll do it in four," he promised.

• • •

Eddie and Pop got back just in time to take a shower and rubdown before evening mess. Pop's face was beet-red and he was breathing heavily. Eddie's face was covered with perspiration. They had jogged all the way through town instead of taking a cab down to the waterfront. Muscles get stiff and sore when they cool off too suddenly and Pop wasn't taking any chances.

Eddie shaved and got into some fresh clothes. Val flashed him a big smile. "And where were you when the rains came?" she inquired sweetly.

"High and dry in a barn down the road," he replied easily. "But rumor has it you weren't so fortunate. Too bad." He made a sympathetic, clicking noise with his tongue.

"I can see you're breaking down with grief. Y'know, you're one lucky guy that I have a sense of humor. I was all set to put the curse of the Clan Douglas on you, but I remembered," she said gravely. "I remembered it wouldn't do for you to fool around with jacks and tires and stuff. Might smash a finger or tear a ligament by accident, and then where would you be."

He glanced sideways at her and decided he didn't like the way she was offering his excuses or framing his own alibis for him. Nope, he didn't like the way she was taking it. He'd feel much better if she had turned the old frigid blast on him. Now he didn't know what to expect from her.

"By the way," she continued. "How'd you feel this afternoon? How far did you run? How's your wind and all that sort of thing? I might as well file a couple of hundred words on your first land excursion.'

"Oh, fine. Swell. Tip-top. Want any more adjectives or will those do?"

"They'll do," she murmured. "Anyway, I get the general impression. You'll murder the bum—unquote."

• • •

Dusk was settling over the waterfront when a silver-winged monoplane droned out of the south. Steve Hansen, puffing meditatively on his pipe, watched it come.

"Don't see many of those things up this way," he observed.

"Mebbe he lost his way."

It was Duffy Kelso, wandering off into town by himself, who discovered that the occupants of the plane hadn't lost their way. Duffy was addressing a picture postcard in the hotel lobby when someone slapped him on the back.

"Hi, Duffy!"

It was a robust, enthusiastic sort of slap and Duffy almost caved. He whirled around. His eyes popped.

"Kenny Bradley! Hey—who—what the' . . ."

Ken Bradley, boxing writer for the San Francisco Express grinned widely as he introduced the man with him.

"Duffy, meet Bob Monroe of the Post. He and I have a slight bit of business to talk over with you—where no one will see us," he added.

Duffy frowned. "Sure . . . sure. I know where there's a little place. But what brings you guys here?"

POLES PLACED ON WASHINGTON

Half of Job Done, New Lights Expected Up Next Week

Nearly half the poles needed for installation of new lights along Washington avenue were placed yesterday and the rest are scheduled to be up the first of the week.

The light brackets can be installed on the poles within three or four days and the Washington lights may all be ready before the end of next week.

Three blocks of new lights were added on Ludington street this week, making the city's "white way" extend from Sixth street to Stephenson avenue.

Other city spring construction work also was being planned. Grading in preparation for laying of 42,000 square feet of sidewalk in a WPA program started last fall, is under way and laying of both sidewalk and street paving is scheduled to be started about May 1.

First steps have been taken on construction of an ornamental auto bridge between the inner and outer rims of the Ludington park lagoon.

Just started is a program of keeping photographic records of all phases of each WPA project. Photos were made yesterday of the bridge site as operations started, to be compared with a view to be made when the job is finished.

29 Cents of Tax Dollar Is Used For Education

Out of every dollar of taxes paid by Escanaba residents, 29 cents is utilized in the operation of the public schools, according to a report on school costs made this week by Supt. John A. Lemmer.

Two years ago, it cost the schools $94.55 to maintain each child during a school year. This year, the cost has been reduced to $85.19, or almost $10 per child. The per capita cost of education in Escanaba has been reduced from $19.59 in 1937-38 to $16.47 for the present year.

Two years ago, the total cost of operating public schools in the city was $284,020.51. This year, total expenditures amount to $242,786.06. The last figure is a reduction of 4.2 per cent from the costs of operation last year.

59.4 Per Cent From State

These reductions have been effected by the closing of the ungraded and open window rooms, combining kindergartens, eliminating two teachers in the senior and junior high schools and curtailment of the maintenance program.

Where does the money come from to operate the schools? Local taxes contribute only 37 per cent of the income. State and federal aid is the heaviest item of receipts, amounting to 59.4 per cent. The remaining 3.6 per cent comes from miscellaneous receipts.

Debt Service Heavy

How is the school dollar spent? The largest share, or 67.3 per cent goes for instruction. Plant operation, which includes janitors' salaries, supplies and the like, amounts to 12.5 cents while debt service takes 11.6 cents. Administrative costs are 3.6 cents. Items of less than three cents per dollar include auxiliary and coordinate, maintenance, fixed charges and capital outlay.

Debt service is a heavy expense. At the present time, the city schools owe $349,500 in long term indebtedness, which will be paid off in 18 years provided that no further bonds are issued. Interest payments over the 18 year period will amount to $168,570. Last year, payments of principal and interest on the indebtedness amounted to $28,286.40.

Alex Sovey, 1414 Washington avenue, was bound to the circuit court yesterday on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time. Bond was set at $500, which he did not furnish and he was remanded to the county jail.

He was arrested yesterday morning by city police following a report from a gasoline filling station at the same address that the place had been broken into during the night and that three quarts of oil and nearly nine gallons of gasoline had been taken.

In admitting his guilt, Sovey said that he merely pushed the door of the place open, turned on the electricity to operate the pumps and helped himself, police reported.

60,000 Chicago Pupils To Eat Smelt Friday

Ten thousand pounds of smelt have been ordered by the Chicago board of education for luncheons to be served in the lunchrooms of about fifty school buildings in that city Friday, April 26. The shipment will be made by the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree committee on Wednesday.

A display of smelt at the Chicago Daily News Travel Show attracted the attention of the director of lunchrooms of the Chicago public school system this week. Edward Dreier, Grand Rapids, who is in charge of the Michigan booth at the show, told him of the fine eating qualities of the silvery fish, and then it was decided to introduce the smelt to Chicago school children. It is estimated about 60,000 students will taste them.

In connection with the luncheon, movies of the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree and smelt dipping activities will be shown at the auditorium assemblies in the various buildings of Chicago next week. Picture displays of smelt and Paul Bunyan also will be held. In addition, students will study the history and habits of the smelt in the classrooms. Scientific data on the smelt were requested from the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The feeding of smelt to the school children is expected to help much in acquainting Chicago families with its food values.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 4-19

Group Meetings Indicate Much Enthusiasm for Planned Program

Interest in the planned program to "KEEP MANISTIQUE AHEAD" bounded forward yesterday under the stimulus of merchant's meetings and expressions of willingness to do the full part in financing the new organization, according to T. F. Mulrooney, general chairman.

"We were pleased at the enthusiasm demonstrated at the mercantile group conferences," declared Chairman Mulrooney. "We are confident now that we will succeed. This will enable us to have an effective Chamber of Commerce with an experienced secretary and to carry forward a planned program that will better our city's economic position."

Merchants will provide more than half of the budget required. Resort owners, hotels, gasoline places and other accommodation for tourists enterprises, financial institutions, transportation agencies, public utilities and public officials will provide another third; while manufacturing plants will supply the balance.

Food merchants will go considerable over their expected quota according to their leader Otmer Schuster. At their meeting one enterprise took four memberships at $25; another took two, and every one of the 32 who were present voiced willingness to join the movement. Plans were made to contact those who had not attended. The goal for this group had been placed at 25. One visitor, Henry Deloria from Garden subscribed and paid for a membership, and declared that there are others in his community who will want to help because the movement will benefit the entire region. A visitor from Cooks made a similar expression.

When the retailers met they assured that their goal will be reached. All merchants have been invited to take various numbers of memberships, depending on the size of their establishments. One hardware concern had been asked to take one membership, but sent its check for $50 saying it had concluded to take two, irrespective of the lesser expectancy from it.

Automotive enterprises at their meeting promised from one to five memberships from various of their concerns. Professional leaders voiced that the bringing of more wealth to this community is sure to benefit every one in it, including their group and they assured that they will exceed their quota.

Resort owners, public officials and others were meeting late Friday.

Each group is making a complete list of workers who will assist in the voluntary solicitation Tuesday morning during which they expect to sign up the business-proffessional community to support the new organization. This list will be announced in the Sunday issue of the Press.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, April 19 (AP)—Late strength in shipping, paper, airline and woolen company stocks today put props under a previously wavering market.

Leading issues at the last reduced or converted into modest advances early losses running to 2 points or more. Persistent confusion over European developments served to offset encouraging business news at home, brokers said, and many potential buyers stood aside. Action of the Netherlands premier in putting that country under martial law was a chilling factor, as were doubts as to which way Italy would jump if at all in the overseas conflict.

Steels, soft most of the day on denials restoration of recent price cuts was contemplated, came back when forecasts were heard of increased mill operations in some districts next week. Aircrafts did better on the concluding lap. Rails and coppers ended with modest gains.

Growing backlogs buoyed shipping shares and bright earnings predictions based partially on war demands aided other groups.

U. S. Rubber preferred got back 3½ points of yesterday's 13-point relapse. Loft was an isolated weak spot, dropping 5 points at one time as disappointment was expressed over first quarter profits of Pepsi-Cola in which the former is heavily interested. The Loft issue eventually cut its loss to 3 points.

Improvement of 1 to around 4 points was held by American Woolen common and preferred, International Mercantile Marine, International Paper preferred, American - Hawaiian Steamship, N. Y. Shipbuilding, Atlantic Gulf & West Indies, Great Northern, Eastern Air Lines and American Airlines.

General Motors was off a shade and Chrysler up a point. This week's automotive output expanded but dealers' inventories were said to be top-heavy. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were ahead fractions, as were Lockheed, Boeing, Anaconda, Kennecott, Santa Fe and N. Y. Central.

On the offside were Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Sears Roebuck, Goodyear, Western Union, General Electric and Johns-Manville.

Falling fractions to a point or so in the curb were Aluminum of America, Heyden Chemical, Phoenix Securities and Pittsburgh Plate Glass. Gains were posted for Gulf Oil, Babcock & Wilcox and American Gas. The turnover here was about 243,000 shares compared with 324,000 yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, April 19 (AP)—The grain price rise since April 8 accompanying the Scandinavian phase of Europe's war, having added about 9 cents to wheat and corn values, [illegible] cents to rye and 3 cents to oats, today prompted liberal selling by traders who had accumulated profits today.

The result was a general price setback in all pits except corn, where values advanced at one stage to new high levels since [illegible]. Wheat closed 7-8 to 1¼ cents lower than yesterday, May $1.10 7-8, July $1.09 3-4 to $1.09½; corn 3-8 higher to ¼ lower, May 64½ to 64 3-8, July [illegible]; oats 3-8 to [illegible] off, rye 5-8 to 1¼ down; soy beans 3-4 to 1½ off and lard 17 to 22 lower.

Wheat tumbled as much as 1 5-8 cents at one stage. Spot prices were 3-4 to 1 cent lower but some No. 2 red sold as high as [illegible], the highest price paid for actual wheat here since 1937.

The futures market also had to absorb additional hedging sales reflecting receipts of [illegible] bushels at the 12 principal terminals, 500,000 more than a week ago and almost double a year ago.

New York, April 19 (AP)—Europe's wars and rumors gave another beating to foreign bonds today. In their downturn, they carried most of the corporate and U. S. government issues along.

A few specialized loans made fair gains. Among these were International Mercantile Marine 6s which rose 4 points at 75.

The downside claimed the majority, however, with losers of a point or more including Canadian Pacific 4s at 62¾; Alleghany stamped 5s of '50 at 43; Great Northern "G" 4s of '46 at 100¾; Porto Rican American Tobacco stamped 6s of '42 at 81¾, and Wabash first 5s at 43½.

Among the battered foreign liens were those of Denmark, Norway, Australia, Canada, Sao Paulo, and Japan. On the other hand, Italian and Belgian issues made good gains in fairly active transactions.

U. S. governments attracted little attention, and they ended 2-32 point up to 15-32 down.

Mather High Girls Attend Conference

Munising, April 19—A delegation of Mather high school girls will attend the Older Girls' Conference at the Northern State Teachers college, Marquette, on Saturday, May 11, from nine to five o'clock.

"Vocations and Avocations" will be the theme of the conference. Original plays, "What Women Have Achieved," will be presented at the morning program and during the afternoon session two speakers will address the assembly. One speaker, Miss Florence Paton of Calumet high school, has already been engaged for the occasion and she will talk on "American Heroines." Invitations have been extended to fifteen or twenty women to talk to the girls on various vocations.

Anti-Forest Fire Campaign Launched

Munising, April 19—The concerted aid of all the people in the county is being sought by civic organizations in a campaign of forest fire prevention. The Roderick Prato Post of the American Legion recently appointed a committee composed of Walter J. Corey, Henry Scheirschmidt and James O'Boyle to make plans for a forest fire prevention campaign to be undertaken by the Legion with U. S. forest service assistance.

The Alger county board of supervisors, in session here last week, adopted a resolution soliciting the assistance of very individual living within or passing through Alger county in a campaign of fire prevention. The group pledged the assistance of themselves and their employes to the end that man-caused fires and the burned areas within our forest lands may be stopped. Points that were included in the resolution were: That campers take special precautions to extinguish their fires before leaving them; that smokers extinguish their burning tobacco before throwing it away; and that permits be secured from a forest or conservation officer before burning brush or starting fires for any reason other than for domestic use. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to all other counties in the Upper Peninsula.

• • •

CHAPTER XX

"You—you wretch!" she cried, but they didn't even turn around.

Val watched them until they were out of sight around a curve and then sat down on the running board. She wondered if she could change the tire herself. She got out the jack, jiggered with it experimentally and then decided she couldn't do it. All she could do was sit there until someone came along. And that might not be for quite a while.

She remembered there had been a farmhouse a couple of miles back. Maybe she could get help there. Val started out.

• • •

Pop Grimes was grinning widely. "She'll be raving a blue streak. What made you do that, anyhow?"

Val was still a good quarter of a mile from the farmhouse when it started to rain. Just a few drops at first, and she looked up into the sky. The sun was completely gone. She quickened her pace, but two minutes later the clouds really opened up.

By the time she reached the house she was drenched. A kindly, gray-haired woman let her in and Val explained her predicament. It was an hour later before the woman sent her son, a pleasant 16-year-old lad, back with Val.

Her hair was still soggy, her shoes heavy with damp mud. Altogether she felt so miserable she could have cried.

She gave the farm lad a dollar when he had changed the tire and then she started back to Prince Rupert.

Val returned the car to the garage, made a couple of purchases in a drug store and took a cab back to the Northern Belle. It was a bedraggled and steaming Val Douglas who marched up the gangplank.

She slipped out of her coat. "That isn't the half of it, Steve. Oooh, wait'll my turn comes again!"

She told him what had happened. Steve Hansen spraddled a chair and grinned up at her.

"Honey, where's your sense of humor?"

"Sense of humor!" she almost screeched. "Do you see anything funny in that?"

He nodded gravely. "I do," he said. "Look, Val, don't you know he's just been itchin' to pull a fast one of some kind on you?"

"But that," she growled. "That was too fast."

Steve patted her on the back. "Better get into some dry clothes . . . and see if you can work up a smile of some sort by the time they get back."

"You're right, Stevie," she said softly to herself. "I think I'll shock Mr. Cavalier with my sweet nature when he returns."

"We're taking on about three tons of salmon," he told her, nodding to the crates which were being swung aboard the ship. "Rest of the hold will be filled with Halliday lumber. We ought to be able to up anchor sometime tomorrow morning."

"The fight's next Thursday, you know," she reminded him. "That gives us five good days to get back to Frisco."

"We'll do it in four," he promised.

• • •

Eddie and Pop got back just in time to take a shower and rubdown before evening mess. Pop's face was beet-red and he was breathing heavily. Eddie's face was covered with perspiration. They had jogged all the way through town instead of taking a cab down to the waterfront. Muscles get stiff and sore when they cool off too suddenly and Pop wasn't taking any chances.

Eddie shaved and got into some fresh clothes. Val flashed him a big smile. "And where were you when the rains came?" she inquired sweetly.

"High and dry in a barn down the road," he replied easily. "But rumor has it you weren't so fortunate. Too bad." He made a sympathetic, clicking noise with his tongue.

"I can see you're breaking down with grief. Y'know, you're one lucky guy that I have a sense of humor. I was all set to put the curse of the Clan Douglas on you, but I remembered," she said gravely. "I remembered it wouldn't do for you to fool around with jacks and tires and stuff. Might smash a finger or tear a ligament by accident, and then where would you be."

He glanced sideways at her and decided he didn't like the way she was offering his excuses or framing his own alibis for him. Nope, he didn't like the way she was taking it. He'd feel much better if she had turned the old frigid blast on him. Now he didn't know what to expect from her.

"By the way," she continued, "How'd you feel this afternoon? How far did you run? How's your wind and all that sort of thing? I might as well file a couple of hundred words on your first land excursion.'

"Oh, fine. Swell. Tip-top. Want any more adjectives or will those do?"

• • •

Dusk was settling over the waterfront when a silver-winged monoplane droned out of the south. Steve Hansen, puffing meditatively on his pipe, watched it come.

"Don't see many of those things up this way," he observed.

"Mebbe he lost his way."

It was Duffy Kelso, wandering off into town by himself, who discovered that the occupants of the plane hadn't lost their way. Duffy was addressing a picture postcard in the hotel lobby when someone slapped him on the back.

"Hi, Duffy!"

It was a robust, enthusiastic sort of slap and Duffy almost caved. He whirled around. His eyes popped.

"Kenny Bradley! Hey—who—what the' . . ."

Ken Bradley, boxing writer for the San Francisco Express grinned widely as he introduced the man with him.

"Duffy, meet Bob Monroe of the Post. He and I have a slight bit of business to talk over with you—where no one will see us," he added.

Duffy frowned. "Sure . . . sure, I know where there's a little place. But what brings you guys here?"

Group Meetings Indicate Much Enthusiasm for Planned Program

Interest in the planned program to "KEEP MANISTIQUE AHEAD" bounded forward yesterday under the stimulus of merchant's meetings and expressions of willingness to do the full part in financing the new organization, according to T. F. Mulrooney, general chairman.

"We were pleased at the enthusiasm demonstrated at the mercantile group conferences," declared Chairman Mulrooney. "We are confident now that we will succeed. This will enable us to have an effective Chamber of Commerce with an experienced secretary and to carry forward a planned program that will better our city's economic position."

Merchants will provide more than half of the budget required. Resort owners, hotels, gasoline places and other accommodation for tourists enterprises, financial institutions, transportation agencies, public utilities and public officials will provide another third; while manufacturing plants will supply the balance.

Food merchants will go considerable over their expected quota according to their leader Otmer Schuster. At their meeting one enterprise took four memberships at $25; another took two, and every one of the 32 who were present voiced willingness to join the movement. Plans were made to contact those who had not attended. The goal for this group had been placed at 25. One visitor, Henry Deloria from Garden subscribed and paid for a membership, and declared that there are others in his community who will want to help because the movement will benefit the entire region. A visitor from Cooks made a similar expression.

When the retailers met they assured that their goal will be reached. All merchants have been invited to take various numbers of memberships, depending on the size of their establishments. One hardware concern had been asked to take one membership, but sent its check for $50 saying it had concluded to take two, irrespective of the lesser expectancy from it.

Automotive enterprises at their meeting promised from one to five memberships from various of their concerns. Professional leaders voiced that the bringing of more wealth to this community is sure to benefit every one in it, including their group and they assured that they will exceed their quota.

Resort owners, public officials and others were meeting late Friday.

Each group is making a complete list of workers who will assist in the voluntary solicitation Tuesday morning during which they expect to sign up the business-proffessional community to support the new organization. This list will be announced in the Sunday issue of the Press.

HOME OPENER WON BY CUBS

Gabby Hartnett Chased From Field After 8th Inning Protest

Chicago, April 19 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs opened their home season today with a 5 to 0 shutout victory over the St. Louis Cardinals before a shivering crowd of 9,029 in 41-degree weather.

Larry French tossed airtight ball all the way, giving up six hits, including two doubles.

Rookie Bob Sturgeon, despite two errors at shortstop, was the Cub spark, getting a double and two singles off Morton Cooper and his successor, Jack Russell.

Manager Gabby Hartnett turned the catching chores for the day over to Al Todd and remained out of sight until the eight inning, when he went out to speak his mind to Umpire Ziggy Sears on a ball called on batter Johnny Mize, becoming so stubborn in his argument that Sears sent him to the showers.

Michigan Tennis Coach Has Very Colorful Career

Ann Arbor, April 19 (Special)—When students drop down to Ferry Field and watch the University of Michigan tennis team work-out, they take a look at the tall, youthful man walking from player to player providing tips on improvement, and they wonder if he isn't the captain.

The tall, youthful man isn't the captain—he's Coach LeRoy Weir, one of the youngest and most colorful members of the Wolverine coaching staff. But sometimes Weir wishes he could get in there himself, for it wasn't so long ago he captained the Wooster, O., College team after playing on it for three years. Moreover, the list of titles he has held is imposing—he was Illinois State and Chicago City champion, Cleveland city crown-holder for several years, Ohio State champion, top man in the Province of Manitoba, and also held a number of minor titles.

Just to make things complete, the handsome young mentor did some dabbling in other sports. He won a basketball letter in school and was runner-up in the national squash tournament in 1938 after holding the Cleveland City, Ohio State and Western titles in that sport.

Aside from his interests down Ferry Field way, Weir is a busy man for he's working on requirements for his doctorate. Then, just to keep himself occupied, he serves as a teaching fellow in American history and handles squash instruction for the intramural sports department.

"But," he grins, "We'll be up there next season."

Military experts report that the new "Airacobra" actually does the 400 miles an hour claimed for it. They also say that the "Airacobra" matches any present-day fighter.

Angelo DeMario Makes Grade At South Carolina

Ironwood, April 19. — Angelo (Beebee) DeMario, footballer and trackster par excellence who has transferred his ability to the University of South Carolina campus where the fans have dubbed him "Speed Demon," is going to be heard from next year. Americo Martorelli, team mate of DeMario's on the Ironwood high school eleven, has just returned from the southern school and brings back good news.

DeMario, Martorelli says, fits into the speedy style of the southern school and has apparently cinched himself a spot on the starting team. DeMario has been holding down the right halfback post on the varsity squad and will open the season at that position.

The former Red Devil star has been averaging about 70 yards on his punts and is now catching passes instead of throwing them. His speed in getting down the field is being used to slip behind the defense to grab long throws. But his ability to carry the ball has not been overlooked.

In a recent spring session DeMario ran wild with the ball, scoring four times. He got away for jaunts of 70, 76 and 65 yards and took a long pass for a fourth marker. Angelo is already being called one of the fastest men to come to a southern university gridiron and fans from the range are not surprised to hear that. While a member of Coach Chester Wiley's and Coach Jack Kraemer's teams, DeMario ran through and around just about every opposing eleven. Ends never were able to drive him into the line, DeMario running toward them to draw them in and then skirting out wide to pass the wingmen.

DeMario weighs 193 pounds and is in excellent physical condition. He runs the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat and Coach Enwright of South Carolina feels that his new "find" will be the speediest back in that section of the country.

The Ironwood gridder will get a chance to show his ability against some of the finest football schools in the nation this fall. South Carolina has games booked with Duquesne, Duke, Carnegie Tech, North Carolina, West Virginia, the University of Miami and Furman. The latter is a school which annually puts an eleven on the field that gives Army and other big teams a busy afternoon.

DeMario has not concentrated his efforts to football, either. He has compiled a C average in his studies to date and is also a regular on the university baseball team, playing third base.

South Carolina, like so many of the southern schools, puts double emphasis on speed and swift blocking. For that reason DeMario has been switched over to the right halfback post where he can clear the way for his fast-moving 193 pounds. Fans here will remember that, although DeMario usually ran around his opponents, he never shirked body contact when it was necessary. Many times he would duck his head and drive over an opposing player along the sidelines when he was cornered.

For those same reasons another speed merchant, Martorelli, may be heard from at South Carolina in the near future. Martorelli is expected to enroll at the school next fall and again may become a team mate of DeMario's.

Boston, April 19, (AP)—After launching their home season by coming from behind for a 7-6 victory over the Athletics this morning the Red Sox lost their first 1940 game by a 3-1 margin in the afternoon end of their twin bill.

Jimmy Foxx, who collected his second homer in as many days, Dom DiMaggio and Doc Cramer hit hard enough to knock in all seven of the Sockers' runs in the first game.

'Strike,' Cries Ump Dickinson

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

WE WERE GLAD to hear that Earl Stolberg has been secured as a Relay Carnival attraction this year . . . it is a fine gesture toward the former Iron Mountain high school youth, who has made a remarkable showing in college track circles . . . one of the principal reasons for bringing college stars to the Relays in past years is to give high school athletes an opportunity to see and meet these college men in the hopes that they will benefit from the association . . . Stolberg is another good example of the success of the idea . . . other former high school athletes who profited by college exhibitions and returned as college stars in their own right are Dick Schram, Cliff Liberty and Gene Ronzani . . . Stolberg's appearance this year is doubly significant . . . the Marquette vaulter still holds the Relay Carnival record of 12 feet, 3 inches, set in 1936 . . . it should be an inspiration to high school athletes to see Stolberg on Memorial Day.

DEATH OF KID M'COY removes from the sporting world one of its most colorful figures . . . the old time boxer took his own life in Detroit Friday after a storybook career . . . McCoy certainly lived . . . he may have not lived too wisely nor well but it cannot be denied that he experienced just about everything in life there is to experience . . . he was millionaire and a hobo, a convict and a highly respected citizen . . . every normal person experiences ups and downs but few ever go to the extremes that McCoy did . . . many people will look askance at the Kid's taking his own life . . . in spite of what society thinks, that should be a man's own prerogative.

Most women have been tried and found wanting—everything under the sun.

AS THE TIME draws near, interest increases in the recognition banquet to be given a week from Sunday in honor of Coach Eldon Keil at Gladstone . . . Gladstone athletes and followers of sport in general are looking forward to the event because it will afford them an opportunity of paying tribute to one of the cleanest fellows it has ever been our pleasure to know . . . Jim Rouman, Escanaba's coach, has been named as the principal speaker . . . Jim doesn't profess to be a public speaker of any sort but we have a sneaking suspicion that he'll do alright for himself . . . surely, there's no one more appropriate than Jim for the job because he undoubtedly is closer to "Cappy" than any of Keil's athletes and he has absorbed more of "Cappy's" philosophy than any one . . . it ought to be a great get-together.

HV'LLE TRACK TEAM DRILLS

Heavy Schedule Faces Redmen This Year On Cinder Path

Hermansville, April 19—The Hermansville track team is rapidly rounding into form for its first meet of the season when it meets the Stephenson Eagles at Stephenson on April 26. The Eagles are last year's county champions and are highly favored to win the meet.

Softball Meeting Is Called Monday By Munising Fans

Munising, April 19—Munising softball fans will get together here on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion County club to lay plans for the coming season. An election of officers will be held and all persons interested in softball are urged to attend the session.

Monday night's meeting will follow the conclave of all of the softball league officers in the Upper Peninsula called for Sunday afternoon at Negaunee. John Hebert will attend the session, probably accompanied by Ernest LaFave, and will report on the results of the meeting at the Monday night organization of the local league. The meeting at Negaunee will include discussions of last year's softball set-up and plans for the coming season.

On April 28, Seth Whitmore, state softball commissioner, Lansing, will be one of the chief speakers when U. P. softball league representatives gather at Escanaba. County officials of the state softball association will be named at the Escanaba parley and dates will be set for the regional tournaments.

Error Costs Lead In ABC Pin Race

Detroit, April 19 (AP)—Jack Black, Fort Wayne, Ind., printer, rolled 714 in the American Bowling Congress tournament today to take sixth in the singles, an error in the last game costing him the lead.

Black, putting together nine straight strikes, started with a 264 and added 233 for his second game. Needing 234 to take the lead from John Taylor of Collingdale, Pa., who has 730, Black muffed his fifth frame and finished with 217.

HEATH SLUGS 3-RUN HOMER

Johnny Allen Allows Detroit Only Three Safe Hits

Cleveland, April 19, (AP)—Johnny Allen and Jeff Heath sprinted the comeback trail today to hand the Cleveland Indians a 4 to 0 shutout over the Detroit Tigers.

Allen, who won only nine games last campaign after an arm operation, turned in an impressive three-hit pitching performance. Outfielder Heath, who slumped to a batting mark of .292 in 1939 after a fat .343 his first season, connected for a three-run homer.

Singles Harmless

Heath's long sixth-inning drive off Henry Pippen went into the right field stands of Cleveland Stadium, where 26,529 spectators shivered in temperatures in the low forties to see the Indians open their home season. Ben Chapman and Hal Trosky scored ahead of Heath. Chapman had doubled to send Lou Boudreau in with the first run.

The Tigers' three blows were scattered harmless singles.

Since Bob Feller pitched no-hit ball against the Chicago White Sox in the Tribe's only other contest, Cleveland foes have obtained just three hits in 18 innings.

The trio of Tiger hits—by Barney McCosky, Bruce Campbell and Charley Gehringer—came in as many innings, and not a visitor got to third base.

It was a first rate duel between Allen and Pippen until the Indians jumped on the Tiger twirler for all four of their runs in the sixth. Pippen and Freddie Hutchinson allowed seven hits.

Starting the sixth, Boudreau singled to center and, after Weatherly sacrificed, the Indian shortstop raced home on a double by Campbell. Trosky walked and Heath then teed off for his big blow.

Just Pops for York

Hutchinson began pitching in the seventh for the Tigers and allowed one scratch hit.

Every threat by Detroit was a mild one. McCosky's single and Hank Greenberg's walk put two men on in the fourth with two out, but Rudy York popped out. In the seventh Gehringer led off with a single. Greenberg fanned and York popped. Higgins walked and was forced by Bartell.

McCosky walked and Campbell singled with two gone in the eighth, and Gehringer flied out.

INFIELDER PURCHASED

Detroit, April 19, (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today took steps to remedy their infield situation by acquiring Frank Metha, a fleet-footed 24-year-old third baseman, from the Chicago White Sox. Metha was obtained at the waiver price of $7,500 and Walter O. Briggs, Jr., vice president and treasurer of the Detroit Baseball company, said he would be used as a utility infielder.

Until today Detroit had only six infielders on its roster and one of them—Ralph (Red) Kress—is a coach. Kress is slated to become the manager of a Detroit farm club and the purchase of Metha may hasten his departure from the Tigers. In addition to Kress and Metha, Detroit lists five other infielders—Rudy York, Charley Gehringer, Richard (Dick) Bartell, Frank Higgins and Frank Croucher.

Metha set a new base stealing record in the Texas league last year when he pilfered 66 sacks for the Fort Worth club. He batted .278 for Fort Worth, nine points under his five year average in the minors. Metha bats and throws right handed, weighs 165 pounds and stands five feet eleven inches. He is a native of Los Angeles.

Sooner State Jumper Aims At World Mark

Lawrence, Kas., April 19 (AP)—Don Boydston, scholarly Oklahoma A. and M. sophomore, hopes to hurl his lanky frame higher into the air than man ever has leaped before in tomorrow's 18th annual University of Kansas relays.

Star athletes from 48 colleges are entered in the mid-western classic, but at least until the high jump is over chief attention will center on the be-spectacled lad from the Sooner state.

The cowboy with legs so long there just is room enough on his six-foot, two-inch chassis for a pair of robust shoulders, doesn't give a hoot about the meet record. He's already bettered that, unofficially. It's the world mark of 6 feet, 9 3-4 inches held jointly by Cornelius Johnson of the Pacific Coast and David Albritton of Ohio State that beckons.

Although in his first season of collegiate competition Boydston already has slipped over the bar at 6 feet, 8 1-4 inches. The present Kansas record of 6 feet 7 9-16 inches was established by Gil Cruter of Colorado University two years ago.

Track critics say Boydston has the physical equipment to approach or even pass the oft-discussed 7-foot "ceiling." At the Texas relays two weeks ago he cleared the bar at 6 feet, 10, but a trailing elbow dislodged the barrier. Then he injured an ankle in falling against a cement curb. The injury, however, has healed completely.

Another attraction tomorrow will be Glenn Cunningham, former world mile king who has chosen the relays as the background for his adieu to the home folks.

Cunningham hopes to post a time of 4:10 or less tomorrow in competition with Archie San Romani, another product of the Kansas prairies who won track fame, and the sensational Wayne and Blaine Rideout, North Texas Teachers twins.

Other athletes who will be making their final appearances in this carnival are Elmer Hackney of Kansas State, twice a winner in the shotput and the present record holder; and Beefus Bryan, Texas pole vaulter.

Bryan erased the vault record on each previous visit and hopes to better 14 feet, 2 inches tomorrow.

In the relay section Oklahoma, with a quartet of sprinters, looms as the favorite in the shorter events with Oklahoma A and M and Missouri picked for laurels at the greater distances.

Rabid Rooters Enjoy Big Day At Expense of New Yorkers

Brooklyn, April 19, (AP)—The venomous Dodgers slaughtered the New York Giants 12 to 0 today to give a whooping, booing crowd of 24,741 Flatbush fans an opening day thrill of practically pennant proportions.

The Dodgers simply steamrollered their arch enemies, giving a grand fireworks display of six runs in the eighth when they batted around and the Giants fell to pieces.

His lowest game was 154.

YANKEES SCORE 5 TO 3 VICTORY

Landis and Harridge On Hand to See Champs Stop Senators

New York, April 19, (AP)—The machine-like Yankees opened their American league home season today with a mechanical 5 to 3 triumph over the Washington Senators that lacked most of the gloss of the day's ceremonies.

Before the game started Commissioner K. M. Landis presented the Yanks with emblems of their fourth consecutive world championship. League President William Harridge dedicated a placque in center field to the late Col. Jacob Ruppert and Mayor Fiorella Laguardia tossed out the first ball.

The weather was cold, damp and dark, so a crowd of only 15,299 showed up.

The champs took all the contest out of the game with four runs in the first inning during which Joe Gordon hit a prodiguous 350-foot homer with one on. After that they settled down to play their string out.

Touring Badgers Lose To Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 19, (AP)—The University of Michigan baseball team, behind the four-hit pitching of Jack Barry, opened its Western Conference season today by defeating the touring Wisconsin nine, 5 to 2.

Barry, tall right-hander from Katonah, N. Y., spotted the Badgers a two-run lead in the first four innings but, once Michigan had rallied to go in front, held Wisconsin hitless the rest of the way. Barry also opened Michigan's four-run sixth inning with a single.

Michigan collected seven hits off the pitching of Cy Buker, ace of the Wisconsin staff, outfielder Fred Trosko blasting a triple and two singles to lead the way.

The game was played in 40-degree weather, holding down the crowd to less than 1,000.

Wisconsin opened scoring in the first inning, getting a run on two of Michigan's three errors and outfielder Howie Radder's single. In the fourth Wisconsin picked up its other run on Buker's single, a sacrifice and a single by third baseman Bob Smith.

Trosko scored for Michigan in the fifth, coming home on two infield outs after singling and stealing second. In the big sixth, Barry and outfielder Charlie Pink singled, and outfielder Don Holman forced Barry at third. Both runners moved up on a passed ball and Pink beat the throw home on an infield roller to tie the score.

Holman scored what proved to be the winning run on second baseman Bill Steppon's outfield fly, and Trosko tripled shortstop Mike Sofiak home. Trosko tallied the final run by working a double steal with third baseman Francis Chamberlain.

The two teams play again tomorrow, Russ Dobson of Michigan opposing John Gaxter on the mound.

SHORTER TROUT SEASON URGED

Commercial Fishermen Discuss Uniform Regulations

Traverse City, Mich., April 19 (AP)—Proposals for a longer closed season on lake trout and securing of uniform regulations for all fishermen operating on Lake Michigan were suggested as possible means of preventing further depletion of commercial fish in the Great Lakes at a conference held here Friday.

Representatives of sportsmen's groups, the U. S. bureau of fisheries, state department of conservation, and commercial fishermen attended the meeting, arranged and presided over by F. Granger Weil, Port Huron, of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce. Hope was expressed that some satisfactory middle ground might be reached which would enable a set of regulations to be drafted agreeable to both commercial fishermen and trollers.

Regulations governing commercial and trolling fishing are needed, as well as uniform regulation of fishing laws for each of the Great Lakes, Dr. John Van Oosten of the U. S. bureau of fisheries told delegates.

A proposal to have different closed seasons on lake trout in different zones was discussed, as well as a suggestion to close the season on trout during the spawning season, October 20 to November 25.

The meeting was in the nature of an open forum. Information compiled by Weil's committee will be presented to the organization before a definite program is drafted.

McCrea Fires His Head Assistant On Disloyalty Charge

Detroit, April 19. (AP)—William E. Dowling, chief assistant Wayne county prosecutor who testified against his superior—Duncan McCrea—at a vice conspiracy examination, was dismissed today by McCrea on charges of "disloyalty and flagrant and intentional violation of established office rules and regulations."

McCrea, who was bound over to circuit court along with 32 other individuals accused of conspiring to protect illegal enterprises in Wayne county, named Garfield Nichols, an assistant prosecutor, to the post formerly held by Dowling.

In ordering McCrea and the others held for trial, Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson quoted extensively from Dowling's testimony.

The dismissal, McCrea said, had no connection with Dowling's intention to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for prosecutor this fall.

Dowling, McCrea charged, "admitted on the witness stand that he disregarded and wilfully violated long-established office regulations and rules."

In his testimony Dowling said McCrea had twice rebuked him for doing what he considered to be his duty as a public official.

Backers Of Change In Wagner Act Win Round In Congress

Washington, April 19, (AP)—Legislators demanding sweeping revision of the Wagner act won a major, preliminary victory today when the house rules committee approved procedure under which the house would have an opportunity to vote on dozens of amendments.

The committee turned down a plan to preclude consideration of any amendments other than the four recently approved by the labor committee. With only Chairman Sabath (D-Ill) dissenting, it voted to send the labor committee's amendments to the house floor with the provision that the house could substitute for them, if it desired, the 17 amendments proposed by a majority of the Smith committee—the special committee, headed by Rep. Smith (D-Va), which investigated the national labor relations board. Other revisions also could be offered.

The committee's action cleared the way for consideration of Wagner act changes whenever house leaders gave the word, but when that would be was in doubt. Acting Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) declined comment. He and other administration leaders already had mapped out a full program for next week, with debate on amendments to the wage-hour law scheduled to begin Thursday.

Victims Of Holdup Held For Gambling

St. Joseph, Mich., April 19. (AP)—A young man's holdup of nine men in a poolroom where he claimed to have lost $125 in gambling today became a court matter for all parties.

Lesley Sefton, 23, and his holdup accomplices, Ralph Antes, 17, and Louis Vent, 18, pleaded guilty to robbery armed charges in circuit court and were held for sentence.

Six of the nine holdup victims also were arraigned. John McIntosh, charged with keeping a gambling place, was fined $25. Five others were fined $5 each. Three are sought.

As of February 1, 1940, the average retail price of gasoline was 13.43 cents a gallon, as compared to 13.53 cents on January 1, 1940.

dish border town of Sarna, arranging an expedition to go to the aid of wives of Oslo legation officials now at Lillehammer, Norway, the correspondent of the newspaper Nyheter reported from the frontier tonight.

Mrs. Harriman told the correspondent the legation wives were removed to the inland town from Oslo, following German occupation of the Norwegian capital, because it was a "more peaceful place." Lillehammer is about 80 miles from the border and some 20 miles north of Hamar, first place to which the Norwegian government fled and captured today by the Germans, according to reports received here.

"According to my information the American wives are in no danger," he quoted Mrs. Harriman as saying. "I expect to return to bring them out within the next few hours."

Also at Sarna are members of the American-Finland ambulance corps which went to Finland and is now waiting to go to Norway. The 31-member corps, headed by Swedish Baron Bror von Blixenfinecke, includes six doctors, 15 nurses, drivers and a kitchen staff.

(By The Associated Press)

Direct aerial bomb hits on two British transports and a cruiser off Norway's west coast yesterday (Friday) created a panic among Norway-bound Tommies, DNB, official German news agency, reported early today, (Saturday), while new naval warfare in the Skagerrak was indicated by heavy explosions heard on the Swedish coast.

DNB said heavy fire from convoying warships prevented determination whether the transports or cruiser were sunk, but contended all seemed heavily damaged, with British soldiers leaping into the sea to swim ashore.

The action, thus almittedly close inshore, tended to confirm other reports that the British expeditionary forces in Norway were being reinforced steadily.

Neutrals Jittery

With the lines apparently drawn for a "do or die" battle around Trondheim fjord, significance was lent to an Allied pledge to cleanse Viking soil of "the filthy pollution of Nazi tryanny."

Numerous members of the British and French colonies were leaving Budapest for fear that country was next on the German war list.

Although Hungarians discounted such reports as the fears of alarmists, government precautions were being taken. Searchlights swept the skies all night and air raid protection squads patrolled the streets.

Premier Banished

The Netherlands went under complete martial law and served notice on the belligerents that she did not desire their "protection."

Yugoslavia, announcing the dissipation of a broad Nazi plot to overthrow the government, banished her pro-German foreign premier, Milan Stoyadinovic, to a remote mountain village, and police raided many homes of the German minority.

Both Yugoslavia and Rumania began to examine crews of German barges on the Danube river to guard against any "Trojan horse" operation; Turkey expelled 60 Germans and tightened restrictions on all foreigners.

Reports from Yugoslavia's Italian frontier described unusual activity among steel-helmeted Italian troops, but in Italy tension relaxed somewhat as the controlled press modified to a degree its belligerent, pro-German treatment of war news.

Fragmentary reports from Norway said British forces were being increased hourly and indicated that a heavy collision was almost unavoidable in the region of Steinkjer, north of the Trondheim near the head of the Trondheim fjord.

While the Germans reported they were driving up the Glommen river in the heart of southern Norway and expected to take the town of Elverum momentarily, a Norwegian official in London said 2,000 German soldiers were being flown into Norway daily and that total forces of the invader now neared 85,000.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty and head man of the British war strategists, welcomed home the survivors of the destroyer Hardy, wrecked in the abortive raid on Narvik, Norway, April 10.

He told them and the crew of the damaged destroyer Eclipse that they were "the vanguard of the armies which we and our French allies will use during this summer to purge and cleanse the soil of the Vikings, the soil of Norway, from the filthy pollution of Nazi tyranny."

Presidential Prospects Spending Too Much, Senators Told

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The committee created by the senate to police the presidential campaign swung into action today upon the receipt of charges from "apparently reliable sources" that some presidential candidates were spending "excessive" sums of money.

The committee ordered an investigation but, in announcing its action, Chairman Gillette (D-Ohio) declined to name the candidates involved, or give any details beyond saying that the complaints all involved one political party.

Meanwhile, political developments bobbed up both here and elsewhere:

(1) Secretary Hull, with some emphasis, repeated a previous statement that he was not a candidate for anything.

(2) Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee announced at New York he would open the Democratic national convention in his official capacity, and suggested that Senator Barkley of Kentucky and Speaker Bankhead would be good choices as keynote speaker and permanent chairman, respectively.

(3) James H. R. Cromwell, minister to Canada, formally announced his candidacy for the senate from New Jersey as a supporter of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

(4) Thomas E. Dewey formally entered the May 6 Maryland presidential preference primary. Since Senator Taft (R-O.) announced he would not run in that contest, no opposition was expected.

(5) Frank Knox, the 1936 Republican vice presidential nominee, lunched with Senator McNary (Ore.), the Republican floor leader. Their conversation was said to have dealt largely with platform ideas.

(6) President Roosevelt drafted a speech he will deliver at 10:45 p. m. (EST) tomorrow to Jefferson Day banquets of Young Democratic clubs throughout the country. The speech is to be broadcast from Warm Springs, Ga., by all major radio networks.

(7) Speaking at Charleston, West Virginia, Senator Taft said the election issues were domestic and that he thought there was no danger of the United States becoming involved in the war, at least before the election.

Students Walk Out Of Mellen School As Coach Is Fired

Mellen, Wis., April 19, (AP)—About 300 Mellen high school students walked out of classes today to stage a demonstration on the main street against ousting of Coach Arne Larson by the school board.

The students paraded up and down the street carrying signs, "We want Larson." The coach's Mellen basketball teams won 58 games and lost 18 during five seasons.

Superintendent C. L. Johnson declared the students would be disciplined.

FORD ACCUSED OF TRYING TO BLOCK UNIONS

Distrust Fostered

Denham contended the company "sowed the seeds of distrust" by distributing its celebrated pamphlet, "Ford gives viewpoint on labor," to impress its employes throughout the country that the company was unwilling "to permit its employes to engage in labor organization and collective bargaining."

As a second step, he declared, the company sought to establish the "fear element" by gathering together the most brutal, vicious and conscienceless thugs in its employ * * * and setting this gang * * * upon any person pointed out to them as a CIO organizer, member, advocate or sympathizer, to be beaten, whipped, tarred and feathered or otherwise brutally assaulted * * *"

Denham said that the Ford company for the most part offered no evidence to controvert circumstances described by witnesses in the Dallas hearing.

The company, he declared, rested on the legal proposition that none of the facts described by witnesses were authorized by the company and therefore the company could not be charged with responsibility for such acts or their consequences.

Men "Taken for Ride"

Denham charged, however, that "senior officials of the Ford Motor company in Dearborn knew of, helped plan and subsequently approved the program of terrorism."

Denham's report at one point recited the testimony of S. C. (Fats) Perry, in which he described how men suspected of union inclinations were taken "for a ride."

The examiner quoted Perry's testimony as follows, in describing the beating of men picked up by the strong-arm squad:

"Well, the first thing we would do, we would search them and find out if they had any identification belonging to a union of any kind, or where they were from, or what they belonged to, and gave them a good talk, and worked over some of them, ones that we had under suspicion of being a union man, or if they had cards on them."

Q. "What do you mean 'gave them a working over?" '

A. "We would whip them, beat them up."

Q. "With what?"

A. "Put the fear of God in them, as they put it."

Q. "What would you whip them with?"

A. "Some with fists, some with blackjacks."

Q. "Anything else?"

A. "One or two of them we whipped with a regular whip we had made out of rubber wind cord and some of them—one of them was whipped, according to whether we thought he could take it or not, was whipped with brushes off of trees, limbs."

Denies CIO Membership

The examiner said this was the general procedure followed by the squad on an attack on Richard Sowers, a Kansas City Ford plant worker, in October, 1937.

Sowers applied at the Dallas plant for a job, Denham said, and while he was making out an application, one of the alleged squad members put the point of a gun in Sowers' ribs and asked him if he was a member of the CIO.

The testimony, according to the examiner, showed that Sowers denied being a member of the CIO but that he was taken out anyway to a place near White Rock lake and beaten into "a semi-conscious state."

Another Kansas City worker identified in the report as Harold M. Bowen, was taken out into the country and beaten with a cat-o-nine tails for 15 minutes, the testimony said.

Roosevelt Pushing U. S. Into War, Says Communist Foster

Detroit, April 19 (AP)—William Z. Foster, national chairman of the American Communist party, charged tonight that President Roosevelt was leading the United States into war "step by step."

"Roosevelt said at the beginning of the war that we are not neutral in thought," Foster told the nominating convention of the Michigan Communist party. "He has backed up this assertion by being not neutral in action.

"America is definitely on the side of the allies."

Foster added that the "best thing that may be said of the United States is that she is a non-belligerent country."

"I haven't the slightest doubt," he said, "that President Roosevelt has resolved in his mind that this country has got to get into this war.

"The great danger is that American people do not understand that Roosevelt's policy is a war policy and, step by step, he is taking us into the war."

Foster said the United States was struggling with Great Britain for world leadership but was still compelled to support Britain.

He said the United States does not wish to see a strong Germany emerge from the war and challenge American trade.

The United States, Foster said, agrees with Great Britain and France that the war should be turned against Soviet Russia.

"The most important and active reason," he said, "is that the great capitalists who rule this country and whose bidding Roosevelt is doing are afraid if Germany wins it will cause a breakup of British, French, Belgian, Portugese and Dutch empires."

New Trade Treaty Made By Rumania And Nazi Germany

Bucharest, April 19, (AP)—Negotiation of a new German-Rumanian trade payment treaty was concluded tonight and an agreement is scheduled to be signed Saturday, it was learned.

Germany is to receive greater customs facilities and her wheat purchases are to continue on the scale in effect prior to the recent Rumanian embargo on wheat exports to the reich.

The agreement is to be signed by Dr. Karl Clodius, German economic expert who heads the mission which has been negotiating here, and Rumanian officials.

The treaty is to operate for the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia as well as Germany proper, but will not concern the German-occupied section of Poland.

Further details were not immediately available.

Local Motorists Invited To Drive Mercury Test Car

The official test car touring Michigan and Northwestern Ohio in the nationwide Mercury Economy run, arrived in this community yesterday. The car, a 1940 Mercury 8 of strictly stock specifications, was driven by E. T. Edmundson of the Dearborn branch of the Ford Motor Company. It was greeted by a reception committee headed by the local dealer, H. J. Norton.

The speedometer reading when the car crossed the city limits was 2798.9 and, according to the entries in the log book, the average mileage per gallon of gasoline to date stood at 22.4.

Included in the reception group, according to H. J. Norton, were Mayor S. R. Wickman, Chief of Police Michael Ettenhofer and John P. Norton, president of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Local motorists are being invited to drive a duplicate of the official car, it was stated by H. J. Norton, to try their skill at recording higher gasoline mileages than those already established. In these demonstration tests a meter bowl will be filled with one-tenth of a gallon of gasoline and each driver will follow the same demonstration route.

The "trip" reading on the speedometer for the one-tenth of a gallon of fuel is multiplied by ten to determine the mileage per gallon. The gasoline meter, built to U. S. Bureau of Standards specifications, is accurate to within one-third of 1 per cent.

The Mercury Economy Run, embracing a national schedule of over 4,000 towns and cities, and enlisting the participation of nearly 100,000 motorists, was designed primarily to show the public that advances in automotive engineering have reversed the old dictum, "slow driving for economy." Engineering tests reveal that the Mercury 8's most economical speed is 45 miles per hour. From This community the official test car went to other parts of the territory. On the completion of its run the record of its log book will be compiled and compared with the records established in the other parts of the country.

HOME OPENER WON BY CUBS

Gabby Hartnett Chased From Field After 8th Inning Protest

Chicago, April 19 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs opened their home season today with a 5 to 0 shutout victory over the St. Louis Cardinals before a shivering crowd of 9,029 in 41-degree weather.

Larry French tossed airtight ball all the way, giving up six hits, including two doubles.

Rookie Bob Sturgeon, despite two errors at shortstop, was the Cub spark, getting a double and two singles off Morton Cooper and his successor, Jack Russell.

Manager Gabby Hartnett turned the catching chores for the day over to Al Todd and remained out of sight until the eight inning, when he went out to speak his mind to Umpire Ziggy Sears on a ball called on batter Johnny Mize, becoming so stubborn in his argument that Sears sent him to the showers.

Michigan Tennis Coach Has Very Colorful Career

Ann Arbor, April 19 (Special)—When students drop down to Ferry Field and watch the University of Michigan tennis team work-out, they take a look at the tall, youthful man walking from player to player providing tips on improvement, and they wonder if he isn't the captain.

The tall, youthful man isn't the captain—he's Coach LeRoy Weir, one of the youngest and most colorful members of the Wolverine coaching staff. But sometimes Weir wishes he could get in there himself, for it wasn't so long ago he captained the Wooster, O., College team after playing on it for three years. Moreover, the list of titles he has held is imposing—he was Illinois State and Chicago City champion, Cleveland city crown-holder for several years, Ohio State champion, top man in the Province of Manitoba, and also held a number of minor titles.

Just to make things complete, the handsome young mentor did some dabbling in other sports. He won a basketball letter in school and was runner-up in the national squash tournament in 1938 after holding the Cleveland City, Ohio State and Western titles in that sport.

Aside from his interests down Ferry Field way, Weir is a busy man for he's working on requirements for his doctorate. Then, just to keep himself occupied, he serves as a teaching fellow in American history and handles squash instruction for the intramural sports department.

"But," he grins, "We'll be up there next season."

Military experts report that the new "Airacobra" actually does the 400 miles an hour claimed for it. They also say that the "Airacobra" matches any present-day fighter.

Angelo DeMario Makes Grade At South Carolina

Ironwood, April 19. — Angelo (Beebee) DeMario, footballer and trackster par excellence who has transferred his ability to the University of South Carolina campus where the fans have dubbed him "Speed Demon," is going to be heard from next year. Americo Martorelli, team mate of DeMario's on the Ironwood high school eleven, has just returned from the southern school and brings back good news.

DeMario, Martorelli says, fits into the speedy style of the southern school and has apparently cinched himself a spot on the starting team. DeMario has been holding down the right halfback post on the varsity squad and will open the season at that position.

The former Red Devil star has been averaging about 70 yards on his punts and is now catching passes instead of throwing them. His speed in getting down the field is being used to slip behind the defense to grab long throws. But his ability to carry the ball has not been overlooked.

In a recent spring session DeMario ran wild with the ball, scoring four times. He got away for jaunts of 70, 76 and 65 yards and took a long pass for a fourth marker. Angelo is already being called one of the fastest men to come to a southern university gridiron and fans from the range are not surprised to hear that. While a member of Coach Chester Wiley's and Coach Jack Kraemer's teams, DeMario ran through and around just about every opposing eleven. Ends never were able to drive him into the line, DeMario running toward them to draw them in and then skirting out wide to pass the wingmen.

DeMario weighs 193 pounds and is in excellent physical condition. He runs the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat and Coach Enwright of South Carolina feels that his new "find" will be the speediest back in that section of the country.

The Ironwood gridder will get a chance to show his ability against some of the finest football schools in the nation this fall. South Carolina has games booked with Duquesne, Duke, Carnegie Tech, North Carolina, West Virginia, the University of Miami and Furman. The latter is a school which annually puts an eleven on the field that gives Army and other big teams a busy afternoon.

DeMario has not concentrated his efforts to football, either. He has compiled a C average in his studies to date and is also a regular on the university baseball team, playing third base.

South Carolina, like so many of the southern schools, puts double emphasis on speed and swift blocking. For that reason DeMario has been switched over to the right halfback post where he can clear the way for his fast-moving 193 pounds. Fans here will remember that, although DeMario usually ran around his opponents, he never shirked body contact when it was necessary. Many times he would duck his head and drive over an opposing player along the sidelines when he was cornered.

For those same reasons another speed merchant, Martorelli, may be heard from at South Carolina in the near future. Martorelli is expected to enroll at the school next fall and again may become a team mate of DeMario's.

Boston, April 19, (AP)—After launching their home season by coming from behind for a 7-6 victory over the Athletics this morning the Red Sox lost their first 1940 game by a 3-1 margin in the afternoon end of their twin bill.

Jimmy Foxx, who collected his second homer in as many days, Dom DiMaggio and Doc Cramer hit hard enough to knock in all seven of the Sockers' runs in the first game.

The Athletics, however, settled the afternoon contest at Emerson Dickman's expense in the first inning.

Pall beagers at the funeral of the Kid, who killed himself Thursday and left a note saying he could no longer stand "this world's madness," will include Hype Igoe, New York sports writer, and Jack Rush of Detroit, his old manager.

Services will be conducted at a funeral home with the Rev. Bertram W. Pullinger of Grace Episcopal church officiating. The body will be cremated.

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

WE WERE GLAD to hear that Earl Stolberg has been secured as a Relay Carnival attraction this year . . . it is a fine gesture toward the former Iron Mountain high school youth, who has made a remarkable showing in college track circles . . . one of the principal reasons for bringing college stars to the Relays in past years is to give high school athletes an opportunity to see and meet these college men in the hopes that they will benefit from the association . . . Stolberg is another good example of the success of the idea . . . other former high school athletes who profited by college exhibitions and returned as college stars in their own right are Dick Schram, Cliff Liberty and Gene Ronzani . . . Stolberg's appearance this year is doubly significant . . . the Marquette vaulter still holds the Relay Carnival record of 12 feet, 3 inches, set in 1936 . . . it should be an inspiration to high school athletes to see Stolberg on Memorial Day.

DEATH OF KID M'COY removes from the sporting world one of its most colorful figures . . . the old time boxer took his own life in Detroit Friday after a storybook career . . . McCoy certainly lived . . . he may have not lived too wisely nor well but it cannot be denied that he experienced just about everything in life there is to experience . . . he was millionaire and a hobo, a convict and a highly respected citizen . . . every normal person experiences ups and downs but few ever go to the extremes that McCoy did . . . many people will look askance at the Kid's taking his own life . . . in spite of what society thinks, that should be a man's own prerogative.

Most women have been tried and found wanting—everything under the sun.

AS THE TIME draws near, interest increases in the recognition banquet to be given a week from Sunday in honor of Coach Eldon Keil at Gladstone . . . Gladstone athletes and followers of sport in general are looking forward to the event because it will afford them an opportunity of paying tribute to one of the cleanest fellows it has ever been our pleasure to know . . . Jim Rouman, Escanaba's coach, has been named as the principal speaker . . . Jim doesn't profess to be a public speaker of any sort but we have a sneaking suspicion that he'll do alright for himself . . . surely, there's no one more appropriate than Jim for the job because he undoubtedly is closer to "Cappy" than any of Keil's athletes and he has absorbed more of "Cappy's" philosophy than any one . . . it ought to be a great get-together.

HV'LLE TRACK TEAM DRILLS

Heavy Schedule Faces Redmen This Year On Cinder Path

Hermansville, April 19—The Hermansville track team is rapidly rounding into form for its first meet of the season when it meets the Stephenson Eagles at Stephenson on April 26. The Eagles are last year's county champions and are highly favored to win the meet.

The Hermansville track prospects are made up mostly of sophomores with only four letter men returning. They are Peterson in the mile, Jezewski in the hurdles, Sutherland in the hurdles, and Holle in the 440. Among the newcomers who have looked good are Schultz and Posig, two members of the county championship grade school relay team, in the dashes, Ayotte, in the 440; Brunelle in the 880; St. Juliana and Pierpon in the hurdles.

Four meets are on tap for the team besides the Upper Peninsula Relays held in Escanaba on Memorial Day. The complete schedule is April 26 at Stephenson; May 4 open; May 11 county meet at Powers; May 18 district meet at Manistique; May 25, Upper Peninsula meet at Houghton; and May 30, U. P. Relays at Escanaba.

Softball Meeting Is Called Monday By Munising Fans

Munising, April 19—Munising softball fans will get together here on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion County club to lay plans for the coming season. An election of officers will be held and all persons interested in softball are urged to attend the session.

Monday night's meeting will follow the conclave of all of the softball league officers in the Upper Peninsula called for Sunday afternoon at Negaunee. John Hebert will attend the session, probably accompanied by Ernest LaFave, and will report on the results of the meeting at the Monday night organization of the local league. The meeting at Negaunee will include discussions of last year's softball set up and plans for the coming season.

On April 28, Seth Whitmore, state softball commissioner, Lansing, will be one of the chief speakers when U. P. softball league representatives gather at Escanaba. County officials of the state softball association will be named at the Escanaba parley and dates will be set for the regional tournaments.

Error Costs Lead In ABC Pin Race

Detroit, April 19 (AP)—Jack Black, Fort Wayne, Ind., printer, rolled 714 in the American Bowling Congress tournament today to take sixth in the singles, an error in the last game costing him the lead.

Black, putting together nine straight strikes, started with a 264 and added 233 for his second game. Needing 234 to take the lead from John Taylor of Collingdale, Pa., who has 730, Black muffed his fifth frame and finished with 217.

HEATH SLUGS 3-RUN HOMER

Johnny Allen Allows Detroit Only Three Safe Hits

Cleveland, April 19, (AP)—Johnny Allen and Jeff Heath sprinted the comeback trail today to hand the Cleveland Indians a 4 to 0 shutout over the Detroit Tigers.

Allen, who won only nine games last campaign after an arm operation, turned in an impressive three-hit pitching performance. Outfielder Heath, who slumped to a batting mark of .292 in 1939 after a fat .343 his first season, connected for a three-run homer.

Singles Harmless

Heath's long sixth-inning drive off Henry Pippen went into the right field stands of Cleveland Stadium, where 26,529 spectators shivered in temperatures in the low forties to see the Indians open their home season. Ben Chapman and Hal Trosky scored ahead of Heath. Chapman had doubled to send Lou Boudreau in with the first run.

The Tigers' three blows were scattered harmless singles.

Since Bob Feller pitched no-hit ball against the Chicago White Sox in the Tribe's only other contest, Cleveland foes have obtained just three hits in 18 innings.

The trio of Tiger hits by Barney McCosky, Bruce Campbell and Charley Gehringer came in as many innings, and not a visitor got to third base.

It was a first rate duel between Allen and Pippen until the Indians jumped on the Tiger twirler for all four of their runs in the sixth. Pippen and Freddie Hutchinson allowed seven hits.

Starting the sixth, Boudreau singled to center and, after Weatherly sacrificed, the Indian shortstop raced home on a double by Campbell. Trosky walked and Heath then teed off for his big blow.

Just Pops for York

Hutchinson began pitching in the seventh for the Tigers and allowed one scratch hit.

Every threat by Detroit was a mild one. McCosky's single and Hank Greenberg's walk put two men on in the fourth with two out, but Rudy York popped out. In the seventh Gehringer led off with a single. Greenberg fanned and York popped. Higgins walked and was forced by Bartell.

McCosky walked and Campbell singled with two gone in the eighth, and Gehringer flied out.

INFIELDER PURCHASED

Detroit, April 19, (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today took steps to remedy their infield situation by acquiring Frank Metha, a fleet-footed 24-year old third baseman, from the Chicago White Sox. Metha was obtained at the waiver price of $7,500 and Walter O. Briggs, Jr., vice president and treasurer of the Detroit Baseball company, said he would be used as a utility infielder.

Until today Detroit had only six infielders on its roster and one of them—Ralph (Red) Kress—is a coach. Kress is slated to become the manager of a Detroit farm club and the purchase of Metha may hasten his departure from the Tigers. In addition to Kress and Metha Detroit lists five other infielders—Rud York, Charley Gehringer, Richard (Dick) Bartell, Frank Higgins and Frank Croucher.

Metha set a new base stealing record in the Texas league last year when he pilfered 66 sacks for the Fort Worth club. He batted .278 for Fort Worth, nine points under his five year average in the minors. Metha bats and throws right handed, weighs 165 pounds and stands five feet eleven inches. He is a native of Los Angeles.

Sooner State Jumper Aims At World Mark

Lawrence, Kas., April 19 (AP)—Don Boydston, scholarly Oklahoma A. and M. sophomore, hopes to hurl his lanky frame higher into the air than man ever has leaped before in tomorrow's 18th annual University of Kansas relays.

Star athletes from 48 colleges are entered in the mid-western classic, but at least until the high jump is over chief attention will center on the be-spectacled lad from the Sooner state.

The cowboy with legs so long there just is room enough on his six-foot, two-inch chassis for a pair of robust shoulders, doesn't give a hoot about the meet record. He's already bettered that, unofficially. It's the world mark of 6 feet, 9 3-4 inches held jointly by Cornelius Johnson of the Pacific Coast and David Albritton of Ohio State that beckons.

Although in his first season of collegiate competition Boydston already has slipped over the bar at 6 feet, 8 1-4 inches. The present Kansas record of 6 feet 7 9-16 inches was established by Gil Cruter of Colorado University two years ago.

Track critics say Boydston has the physical equipment to approach or even pass the oft-discussed 7-foot "ceiling." At the Texas relays two weeks ago he cleared the bar at 6 feet, 10, but a trailing elbow dislodged the barrier. Then he injured an ankle in falling against a cement curb. The injury, however, has healed completely.

Another attraction tomorrow will be Glenn Cunningham, former world mile king who has chosen the relays as the background for his adieu to the home folks.

Cunningham hopes to post a time of 4:10 or less tomorrow in competition with Archie San Romani, another product of the Kansas prairies who won track fame, and the sensational Wayne and Blaine Rideout, North Texas Teachers twins.

Other athletes who will be making their final appearances in this carnival are Elmer Hackney of Kansas State, twice a winner in the shotput and the present record holder; and Beefus Bryan, Texas pole vaulter.

Bryan erased the vault record on each previous visit and hopes to better 14 feet, 2 inches tomorrow.

In the relay section Oklahoma, with a quartet of sprinters, looms as the favorite in the shorter events with Oklahoma A and M and Missouri picked for laurels at the greater distances.

Rabid Rooters Enjoy Big Day At Expense of New Yorkers

Brooklyn, April 19, (AP)—The venomous Dodgers slaughtered the New York Giants 12 to 0 today to give a whooping, booing crowd of 24,741 Flatbush fans an opening day thrill of practically pennant proportions.

YANKEES SCORE 5 TO 3 VICTORY

Landis and Harridge On Hand to See Champs Stop Senators

New York, April 19. (AP)—The machine-like Yankees opened their American league home season today with a mechanical 5 to 3 triumph over the Washington Senators that lacked most of the gloss of the day's ceremonies.

Before the game started Commissioner K. M. Landis presented the Yanks with emblems of their fourth consecutive world championship. League President William Harridge dedicated a plaque in center field to the late Col. Jacob Ruppert and Mayor Fiorella Laguardia tossed out the first ball.

Touring Badgers Lose To Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 19. (AP)—The University of Michigan baseball team, behind the four-hit pitching of Jack Barry, opened its Western Conference season today by defeating the touring Wisconsin nine, 5 to 2.

Barry, tall right-hander from Katonah, N. Y., spotted the Badgers a two-run lead in the first four innings but, once Michigan had rallied to go in front, held Wisconsin hitless the rest of the way. Barry also opened Michigan's four-run sixth inning with a single.

Michigan collected seven hits off the pitching of Cy Buker, ace of the Wisconsin staff, outfielder Fred Trosko blasting a triple and two singles to lead the way.

The game was played in 40-degree weather, holding down the crowd to less than 1,000.

Wisconsin opened scoring in the first inning, getting a run on two of Michigan's three errors and outfielder Howie Radder's single. In the fourth Wisconsin picked up its other run on Buker's single, a sacrifice and a single by third baseman Bob Smith.

Trosko scored for Michigan in the fifth, coming home on two infield outs after singling and stealing second. In the big sixth, Barry and outfielder Charlie Pink singled, and outfielder Don Holman forced Barry at third. Both runners moved up on a passed ball and Pink beat the throw home on an infield roller to tie the score.

Holman scored what proved to be the winning run on second baseman Bill Steppon's outfield fly, and Trosko tripled shortstop Mike Sofiak home. Trosko tallied the final run by working a double steal with third baseman Francis Chamberlain.

The two teams play again tomorrow, Russ Dobson of Michigan opposing John Gaxter on the mound.

Commercial Fishermen Discuss Uniform Regulations

Traverse City, Mich., April 19 (AP)—Proposals for a longer closed season on lake trout and securing of uniform regulations for all fishermen operating on Lake Michigan were suggested as possible means of preventing further depletion of commercial fish in the Great Lakes at a conference held here Friday.

Representatives of sportsmen's groups, the U. S. bureau of fisheries, state department of conservation, and commercial fishermen attended the meeting, arranged and presided over by F. Granger Weil, Port Huron, of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce. Hope was expressed that some satisfactory middle ground might be reached which would enable a set of regulations to be drafted agreeable to both commercial fishermen and trollers.

Regulations governing commercial and trolling fishing are needed, as well as uniform regulation of fishing laws for each of the Great Lakes, Dr. John Van Oosten of the U. S. bureau of fisheries told delegates.

A proposal to have different closed seasons on lake trout in different zones was discussed, as well as a suggestion to close the season on trout during the spawning season, October 20 to November 25.

The meeting was in the nature of an open forum. Information compiled by Weil's committee will be presented to the organization before a definite program is drafted.

McCrea Fires His Head Assistant On Disloyalty Charge

Detroit, April 19, (AP)—William E. Dowling, chief assistant Wayne county prosecutor who testified against his superior—Duncan McCrea—at a vice conspiracy examination, was dismissed today by McCrea on charges of "disloyalty and flagrant and intentional violation of established office rules and regulations."

McCrea, who was bound over to circuit court along with 32 other individuals accused of conspiring to protect illegal enterprises in Wayne county, named Garfield Nichols, an assistant prosecutor, to the post formerly held by Dowling.

In ordering McCrea and the others held for trial, Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson quoted extensively from Dowling's testimony.

The dismissal, McCrea said, had no connection with Dowling's intention to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for prosecutor this fall.

Dowling, McCrea charged, "admitted on the witness stand that he disregarded and wilfully violated long-established office regulations and rules."

In his testimony Dowling said McCrea had twice rebuked him for doing what he considered to be his duty as a public official.

Backers Of Change In Wagner Act Win Round In Congress

Washington, April 19, (AP)—Legislators demanding sweeping revision of the Wagner act won a major, preliminary victory today when the house rules committee approved procedure under which the house would have an opportunity to vote on dozens of amendments.

The committee turned down a plan to preclude consideration of any amendments other than the four recently approved by the labor committee. With only Chairman Sabath (D-Ill) dissenting, it voted to send the labor committee's amendments to the house floor with the provision that the house could substitute for them, if it desired, the 17 amendments proposed by a majority of the Smith committee—the special committee, headed by Rep. Smith (D-Va), which investigated the national labor relations board. Other revisions also could be offered.

The committee's action cleared the way for consideration of Wagner act changes whenever house leaders gave the word, but when that would be was in doubt. Acting Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) declined comment. He and other administration leaders already had mapped out a full program for next week, with debate on amendments to the wage-hour law scheduled to begin Thursday.

Victims Of Holdup Held For Gambling

St. Joseph, Mich., April 19, (AP)—A young man's holdup of nine men in a poolroom where he claimed to have lost $125 in gambling today became a court matter for all parties.

Lesley Sefton, 23, and his holdup accomplices, Ralph Antes, 17, and Louis Vent, 18, pleaded guilty to robbery armed charges in circuit court and were held for sentence.

Six of the nine holdup victims also were arraigned. John McIntosh, charged with keeping a gambling place, was fined $25. Five others were fined $5 each. Three are sought.

As of February 1, 1940, the average retail price of gasoline was 13.43 cents a gallon, as compared to 13.53 cents on January 1, 1940.

dish border town of Sarna, arranging an expedition to go to the aid of wives of Oslo legation officials now at Lillehammer, Norway, the correspondent of the newspaper Nyheter reported from the frontier tonight.

Mrs. Harriman told the correspondent the legation wives were removed to the inland town from Oslo, following German occupation of the Norwegian capital, because it was a "more peaceful place." Lillehammer is about 80 miles from the border and some 20 miles north of Hamar, first place to which the Norwegian government fled and captured today by the Germans, according to reports received here.

"According to my information the American wives are in no danger," he quoted Mrs. Harriman as saying. "I expect to return to bring them out within the next few hours."

Also at Sarna are members of the American-Finland ambulance corps which went to Finland and is now waiting to go to Norway. The 31-member corps, headed by Swedish Baron Bror Von Blixen-finecke, includes six doctors, 15 nurses, drivers and a kitchen staff.

(By The Associated Press)

Direct aerial bomb hits on two British transports and a cruiser off Norway's west coast yesterday (Friday) created a panic among Norway-bound Tommies, DNB, official German news agency, reported early today, (Saturday), while new naval warfare in the Skagerrak was indicated by heavy explosions heard on the Swedish coast.

DNB said heavy fire from convoying warships prevented determination whether the transports or cruiser were sunk, but contended all seemed heavily damaged, with British soldiers leaping into the sea to swim ashore.

The action, thus admittedly close inshore, tended to confirm other reports that the British expeditionary forces in Norway were being reinforced steadily.

Neutrals Jittery

With the lines apparently drawn for a "do or die" battle around Trondheim fjord significance was lent to an Allied pledge to cleanse Viking soil of "the filthy pollution of Nazi tryanny."

Numerous members of the British and French colonies were leaving Budapest for fear that country was next on the German war list.

Although Hungarians discounted such reports as the fears of alarmists, government precautions were being taken. Searchlights swept the skies all night and air raid protection squads patrolled the streets.

Premier Banished

The Netherlands went under complete martial law and served notice on the belligerents that she did not desire their "protection."

Yugoslavia, announcing the dissipation of a broad Nazi plot to overthrow the government, banished her pro-German foreign premier, Milan Stoyadinovic, to a remote mountain village, and police raided many homes of the German minority.

Both Yugoslavia and Rumania began to examine crews of German barges on the Danube river to guard against any "Trojan horse" operation; Turkey expelled 60 Germans and tightened restrictions on all foreigners.

Reports from Yugoslavia's Italian frontier described unusual activity among steel-helmeted Italian troops, but in Italy tension relaxed somewhat as the controlled press modified to a degree its belligerent, pro-German treatment of war news.

Fragmentary reports from Norway said British forces were being increased hourly and indicated that a heavy collision was almost unavoidable in the region of Steinkjer, north of the Trondheim near the head of the Trondheim fjord.

While the Germans reported they were driving up the Glommen river in the heart of southern Norway and expected to take the town of Elverum momentarily, a Norwegian official in London said 2,000 German soldiers were being flown into Norway daily and that total forces of the invader now neared 85,000.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty and head man of the British war strategists, welcomed home the survivors of the destroyer Hardy, wrecked in the abortive raid on Narvik, Norway, April 10.

He told them and the crew of the damaged destroyer Eclipse that they were "the vanguard of the armies which we and our French allies will use during this summer to purge and cleanse the soil of the Vikings, the soil of Norway, from the filthy pollution of Nazi tyranny."

Presidential Prospects Spending Too Much, Senators Told

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The committee created by the senate to police the presidential campaign swung into action today upon the receipt of charges from "apparently reliable sources" that some presidential candidates were spending "excessive" sums of money.

The committee ordered an investigation but, in announcing its action, Chairman Gillette (D-Ohio) declined to name the candidates involved, or give any details beyond saying that the complaints all involved one political party.

Meanwhile, political developments bobbed up both here and elsewhere:

(1) Secretary Hull, with some emphasis, repeated a previous statement that he was not a candidate for anything.

(2) Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee announced at New York he would open the Democratic national convention in his official capacity, and suggested that Senator Barkley of Kentucky and Speaker Bankhead would be good choices as keynote speaker and permanent chairman, respectively.

(3) James H. R. Cromwell, minister to Canada, formally announced his candidacy for the senate from New Jersey as a supporter of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

(4) Thomas E. Dewey formally entered the May 6 Maryland presidential preference primary. Since Senator Taft (R-O.) announced he would not run in that contest, no opposition was expected.

(5) Frank Knox, the 1936 Republican vice presidential nominee, lunched with Senator McNary (Ore.), the Republican floor leader. Their conversation was said to have dealt largely with platform ideas.

(6) President Roosevelt drafted a speech he will deliver at 10:45 p. m. (EST) tomorrow to Jefferson Day banquets of Young Democratic clubs throughout the country. The speech is to be broadcast from Warm Springs, Ga., by all major radio networks.

(7) Speaking at Charleston, West Virginia, Senator Taft said the election issues were domestic and that he thought there was no danger of the United States becoming involved in the war, at least before the election.

Students Walk Out Of Mellen School As Coach Is Fired

Mellen, Wis., April 19, (AP)—About 300 Mellen high school students walked out of classes today to stage a demonstration on the main street against ousting of Coach Arne Larson by the school board.

The students paraded up and down the street carrying signs, "We want Larson." The coach's Mellen basketball teams won 58 games and lost 18 during five seasons.

FORD ACCUSED OF TRYING TO BLOCK UNIONS

Distrust Fostered

Denham contended the company "sowed the seeds of distrust" by distributing its celebrated pamphlet, "Ford gives viewpoint on labor," to impress its employes throughout the country that the company was unwilling "to permit its employes to engage in labor organization and collective bargaining."

As a second step, he declared, the company sought to establish the "fear element" by gathering together the most brutal, vicious and conscienceless thugs in its employ * * * and setting this gang * * * upon any person pointed out to them as a CIO organizer, member, advocate or sympathizer, to be beaten, whipped, tarred and feathered or otherwise brutally assaulted * * *."

Denham said that the Ford company for the most part offered no evidence to controvert circumstances described by witnesses in the Dallas hearing.

The company, he declared, rested on the legal proposition that none of the facts described by witnesses were authorized by the company and therefore the company could not be charged with responsibility for such acts or their consequences.

Men "Taken for Ride"

Denham charged, however, that "senior officials of the Ford Motor company in Dearborn knew of, helped plan and subsequently approved the program of terrorism."

Denham's report at one point recited the testimony of S. C. (Fats) Perry, in which he described how men suspected of union inclinations were taken "for a ride."

The examiner quoted Perry's testimony as follows, in describing the beating of men picked up by the strong-arm squad:

"Well, the first thing we would do, we would search them and find out if they had any identification belonging to a union of any kind, or where they were from, or what they belonged to, and gave them a good talk, and worked over some of them, ones that we had under suspicion of being a union man, or if they had cards on them."

Q. "What do you mean 'gave them a working over?'"

A. "We would whip them, beat them up."

Q. "With what?"

A. "Put the fear of God in them, as they put it."

Q. "What would you whip them with?"

A. "Some with fists, some with blackjacks."

Q. "Anything else?"

A. "One or two of them we whipped with a regular whip we had made out of rubber wind cord and some of them—one of them was whipped, according to whether we thought he could take it or not, was whipped with brushes off of trees, limbs."

Denies CIO Membership

The examiner said this was the general procedure followed by the squad on an attack on Richard Sowers, a Kansas City Ford plant worker, in October, 1937.

Sowers applied at the Dallas plant for a job, Denham said, and while he was making out an application, one of the alleged squad members put the point of a gun in Sowers' ribs and asked him if he was a member of the CIO.

The testimony, according to the examiner, showed that Sowers denied being a member of the CIO but that he was taken out anyway to a place near White Rock lake and beaten into "a semi-conscious state."

Another Kansas City worker identified in the report as Harold M. Bowen, was taken out into the country and beaten with a cat-o-nine tails for 15 minutes, the testimony said.

Roosevelt Pushing U. S. Into War, Says Communist Foster

Detroit, April 19 (AP)—William Z. Foster, national chairman of the American Communist party, charged tonight that President Roosevelt was leading the United States into war "step by step."

"Roosevelt said at the beginning of the war that we are not neutral in thought," Foster told the nominating convention of the Michigan Communist party. "He has backed up this assertion by being not neutral in action.

"America is definitely on the side of the allies."

Foster added that the "best thing that may be said of the United States is that she is a non-belligerent country."

"I haven't the slightest doubt," he said, "that President Roosevelt has resolved in his mind that this country has got to get into this war.

"The great danger is that American people do not understand that Roosevelt's policy is a war policy and, step by step, he is taking us into the war."

Foster said the United States was struggling with Great Britain for world leadership but was still compelled to support Britain.

He said the United States does not wish to see a strong Germany emerge from the war and challenge American trade.

The United States, Foster said, agrees with Great Britain and France that the war should be turned against Soviet Russia.

"The most important and active reason," he said, "is that the great capitalists who rule this country and whose bidding Roosevelt is doing are afraid if Germany wins it will cause a breakup of British, French, Belgian, Portugese and Dutch empires."

New Trade Treaty Made By Rumania And Nazi Germany

Bucharest, April 19, (AP)—Negotiation of a new German-Rumanian trade payment treaty was concluded tonight and an agreement is scheduled to be signed Saturday, it was learned.

Germany is to receive greater customs facilities and her wheat purchases are to continue on the scale in effect prior to the recent Rumanian embargo on wheat exports to the reich.

The agreement is to be signed by Dr. Karl Clodius, German economic expert who heads the mission which has been negotiating here, and Rumanian officials.

The treaty is to operate for the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia as well as Germany proper, but will not concern the German-occupied section of Poland.

Further details were not immediately available.

Local Motorists Invited To Drive Mercury Test Car

The official test car touring Michigan and Northwestern Ohio in the nationwide Mercury Economy run, arrived in this community yesterday. The car, a 1940 Mercury 8 of strictly stock specifications, was driven by E. T. Edmundson of the Dearborn branch of the Ford Motor Company. It was greeted by a reception committee headed by the local dealer, H. J. Norton.

The speedometer reading when the car crossed the city limits was 2798.9 and, according to the entries in the log book, the average mileage per gallon of gasoline to date stood at 22.4.

Included in the reception group, according to H. J. Norton, were Mayor S. R. Wickman, Chief of Police Michael Ettenhofer and John P. Norton, president of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Local motorists are being invited to drive a duplicate of the official car, it was stated by H. J. Norton, to try their skill at recording higher gasoline mileages than those already established. In these demonstration tests a meter bowl will be filled with one-tenth of a gallon of gasoline and each driver will follow the same demonstration route.

The "trip" reading on the speedometer for the one-tenth of a gallon of fuel is multiplied by ten to determine the mileage per gallon. The gasoline meter, built to U. S. Bureau of Standards specifications, is accurate to within one-third of 1 per cent.

The Mercury Economy Run, embracing a national schedule of over 4,000 towns and cities, and enlisting the participation of nearly 100,000 motorists, was designed primarily to show the public that advances in automotive engineering have reversed the old dictum, "slow driving for economy." Engineering tests reveal that the Mercury 8's most economical speed is 45 miles per hour. From This community the official test car went to other parts of the territory. On the completion of its run the record of its log book will be compiled and compared with the records established in the other parts of the country.

WPA Boat Building Class Is Organized

Bert Jacobson WPA recreation leader in charge of boat building wishes to announce that he is forming a class in the fundamentals of the craft. According to Mr. Jacobson the amateur boat builder can attempt larger and more valuable jobs with much less chance of spoiling material if he first learns something of boat carpentry. With this idea in mind a class is being formed. For particulars apply at the City Recreation Center after 3:30 P. M. This class being formed does not prevent anyone who wishes to commence boat construction at once from doing so. It is merely an added feature of the program.

A new supply of wood for snowshoe frames has been procured and persons wishing to make snowshoes can now do so. Quite a number are still at it.

Requirements For U. S. Coast Guard Reserve Outlined

Many and varied are the qualifications for membership in the United State Coast Guard Reserve, but a considerable number of the Escanaba yacht owners have met with these requirements.

The first questions that have to be answered when a prospective member applies are the names and numbers of the owner or owners and the boat and they are asked if the document or award of number certificate is on board and in proper order.

After the size of letters or numbers on the hull, the length, the beam, and the depth are given the applicant estimates the gross tonnage and gives the condition of the hull; namely, the planking, the frames and the keel.

The ventilation and compartment space for the engine is the next requirement along with the engine room fire extinguisher and other extinguishers and their condition which are kept on the boat.

The check on the gasoline and oil lines of the boat are important and questions are asked pertaining to the leakage and the screened vent leading to open air on deck.

The carburetor must have an efficient flame arrester or backfire trap and a drip pan underneath.

If there are any open switches in the engine compartment the signer mentions that fact and they state whether the electric connections are tight.

Even the cooking system is looked into and the condition of the pipes and joints are approximated and the fuel tank's situation is checked. Proper ventilation in the galley is another cooking factor.

As far as the personal applicant he must give his name, residence, telephone number, date of birth, tell whether he is a citizen or not, his occupation, business address and its telephone number, give information about connection with the different military services, previous reserve service, percentage of ownership of boat, the name and address of the boat organization they belong to, if any, the details concerning their license and their familiarity of the navigation laws and their nautical experience.

For further significance three recommendations must be obtained and the oath must be executed.

What Is the Reason?

THE newly organized Escanaba city council now has adopted a motion to engage another firm of engineers to make what is promised to be an "independent" survey of the proposed water plant project.

It will be recalled that Burns and McDonald, a highly reputable firm of consulting engineers, who supervised the construction of water plants all over the United States, was engaged to make the study for the city of Escanaba and recommended the construction of a new plant. This firm was chosen by unanimous vote of the council after careful interview with four consulting firms and correspondence with a fifth. This was in agreement with a previous recommendation by the state department of health.

The recommendations later were not acceptable to two members of the council so a citizens committee, composed of members of various representative groups, was appointed to study the matter. This committee unanimously recommended a new plant, but was divided on the matter of location. The majority, however, favored placing it on the north shore in the vicinity of the old Stephenson dock. This still did not satisfy the opponents of the project.

The new idea, presented by the opposition and concurred in by the proponents apparently for the purpose of promoting community harmony, is to engage another engineering firm to review the situation. It's a case of hiring an investigator to investigate the investigator, and so on and on. It's simply a waste of the taxpayers' money.

A most ridiculous aspect of the motion, passed by the council Thursday night, was that the new investigators are not to be permitted to avail themselves of information from the regular sources. They are not to contact the city manager and city engineer, and at first it was suggested that not even other city employes would be permitted to assist in the survey.

Now is the time when civic-minded citizens should take an active interest in community affairs. They should do more than merely watch.

The people of Escanaba owe it to themselves and their city administration to thoroughly inform themselves as to this highly important matter and having arrived at a decision, endorse such action as may be to the best interests of Escanaba today and for future years.

This is no time for venting personal feeling against any individual or any set of individuals. Let's look at this thing soberly and sanely and finally do the thing that is best for Escanaba.

Far Eastern Events

EVENTS in Europe have been moving with a suddenness giving them the unreal aspect of a dream. The United States, and the whole world, feel a sort of mental shell-shock as the dormant war suddenly shakes itself to life.

Our eyes are fixed on Scandinavia like those of a bird fascinated by a serpent. But now is the time to see the world whole, to remember that even in the face of Europe's tragedy, the rest of the world goes on.

In the Far East is another war. This summer its third year will come to an end.

There are signs that the Japanese are tiring of the long struggle. They have piled success on success, but there is no victory. The Chinese have suffered reverse after reverse, but there is no defeat.

It begins to look as though neither side can win conclusively, that nothing is ahead but years of a sterile and mutually exhausting struggle. The Japanese ought to be pretty well convinced by now that they can never conquer and hold all of China. And the possibility of China completely ousting Japan from the Asiatic mainland is almost equally remote.

Britain, up to the hubs in Europe, is in no position to defend her interests in China. Neither is France. The United States, perhaps able, is certainly unwilling. Only Russia is really in a position to help China directly and materially on a large scale, and Russia's motives are certainly suspect. If there cannot be a Chinese China, why is a Russian China preferable to a Japanese China? East Poland and Finland offer their testimony.

Assume complete victory for one side or the other in the Chinese war. Based on experience, dies it seem likely that any justice will emerge from a peace dictated either by Japan or by a Russian-supported China?

Might not a peace conference in which all powers with pacific interests took part, including Japan, China, Britain, the Netherlands, France, Russia, and the United States, arrive at a more just peace today than one which followed a finish fight?

An Eastern Munich? Not at all. No one who thinks China has a chance to win can contend that she would come to such a conference as Czechoslovakia came, a helpless pawn. Having achieved a virtual stand-off in a three-year war, China would not have to agree to terms imposed from without, or to any terms inconsistent with her military position and prospects. It is even possible that the "third powers" could exert pressure on Japan around a conference table which they are unable to bring to bear on the fighting front.

Even if such a conference failed it is hard to see how any participant could lose anything. And all might gain by some settlement that would stabilize for some years the turbulent Far East.

Practically Voluntary

AMERICAN Chinese have been supporting the battle of their homeland against the Japanese invader with considerable enthusiasm. Some $4,000,000 has been sent to the homeland to keep millions of Chinese from starvation.

Most American Chinese have contributed cheerfully. But occasionally one lags in his monthly payment of mrom $18 a month up. Chicago Chinese devised a pleasant little scheme. They tie a drum on the back of the delinquent, post a sign on his chest noting the amount of the delinquency, and march him up and down the street with boys behind beating the drum. A little of this, and the man pays up.

Darned clever, these Chinese!

Babies and Business

THE birth rate in the United States has tended downward for some years, as in almost every other country.

Figures released in connection with Child Health week, however, show an interesting thing. In 1915, when birth registration figures were first tabulated on the present basis, 25.1 babies were born for each 1000 people. The absolute low was reached in 1933, at 16.5. Since that time the rate has gradually increased again to 17.6 in 1938.

That plainly suggests that when people face a discouraging economic outlook they don't have as many babies as they do when times look a little better. Which is just one more excellent reason, if any more reasons should seem necessary, for concentrating on building up our own economy in the face of a tragic world.

Other Editors' Comments

THE ONLY FAIR PROCEDURE
(New York Times)

The note that Secretary Hull addressed to the Mexican ambassador places the American case regarding the oil and land ceizures on irrefutable ground. It fully grants the right of a sovereign state to expropriate property for public purposes. But it insists that no appropriation is legal unless it is accompanied by "adequate, effective and prompt compensation." This requirement is not satisfied, the note continues, merely by an expressed intent on the part of Mexico to pay at some time in the future. In a severe historical summary the note points out that "during the last 25 years one American interest in Mexico after another has suffered at the hands of the Mexican government," and that, though Mexico took over American-owned petroleum property to the value of many millions of dollars more than two years ago, "not one cent of compensation has been paid." Mr. Hull suggests that the problem be solved by resort to "the appropriate, fair and honorable procedure of arbitration."

A NATION OF BEGGARS
(Michigan Manufacturer)

Observing, here in Detroit, the utter lack of enthusiasm with which common labor on city and federal payrolls—such as alley and street cleaners — go about their periodic efforts, one is led to the conviction that a great proportion of the nation's population is becoming chronic panhandlers. Those on relief give no indication of a desire for employment. Three square meals a day, a place to sleep, free heat and the unrestricted use of their jallopies, to them, seems to be the "Life of Riley". It may be said that these beggars from government includes a great many towns, cities and states, all seeking federal alms.

By accepting these alms, they are gradually giving up individual, civic and states rights and building a Federal overlordship that will make them mere pawns of government. We like to talk about our democracy and pity the people of countries where liberty has been crushed, when we ourselves are giving up our freedom for a mess of Federal "handouts" that are mortgaging our future for generations to come.

Civic orgainizations have become beggars, great industries have become beggars, cities and states have become beggars at the public trough. Then after accepting public charity and injecting government into their local and personal affairs, they cry because government in business is being so rapidly extended that it is wiping out free enterprise.

This country hasn't changed fundamentally in spite of all the theoretical prattle to the contrary; opportunities are still countless for young and old. What has changed is our backbone and our pride. We are becoming a nation of "sissies" who cry for help at the slightest provocation and want to be coddled as incompetents. By our actions we are admitting that we are no longer capable of self government or private management of our own affairs. We are asking for political dictatorship and we will have no one but ourselves to blame if we get it.

Every time there is some tough nut to crack, we now beg for Federal funds to care for the problems or losses involves, which, in most cases, are due to our own laziness, greed or neglect. We want the Federal government to do our irrigating; we want the government to control our crops; we want the government to build our dams; we want the government to build our houses; we want the government to carry our insurance; we want the government to loan us money; we want the government to build our school, bridges, parks, etc., and do everything that we as free men and women used to take pride in doing ourselves. And then we cry our eyes out about taxes and new laws regulations and restrictions.

Anyone with a thimbleful of brains knows that when you borrow money, the lender gets in the driver's seat. When you become a beggar, the giver controls your actions. When you beg or borrow from the government, you give up your birthright as a free citizen—you begin to exist for the government, rather than the government existing for you.

This is the position of the people of the United States today. They have begged and borrowed themselves well on the road toward national bankruptcy and political dictatorship. There can be no compromise with the totalitarian philosophy—you either accept it and become public wards, or you kick out the totalitarian philosophy and remain free.

If you think the end toward which we are racing is exaggerated, just look around your own community and see how much Federal charity it has accepted. Government can hand out no money which it does not take from the citizens. Money taken in taxes means that much less for the man or woman who has to sweat and earn and save and pay the taxes.

General Sherman, it appears, was right about war. King Haakon might also have a word to say about neutrality.

Results of the primaries would have made interesting reading. Too bad they had to come at the same time war broke.

Things are bustling down in Rome. With two kings trumped in the north, it might be interesting to see what results a play of the Duce might bring.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer

One answer the world is getting now in Scandinavia. The other may come at any moment in France, for the Germans are showing signs of attacking the Maginot Line. Perhaps it will be only a diversion to hold back Franco-British troops from Scandinavia, but more likely it will be a tremendous attempt to break through and end the war.

This stupendous undertaking the Nazis would justify by their military doctrine and even more by their state of equipment. For if ever a host was armed to break the strongest fortress in history, that host is today's Reichswehr. They have more, better and newer weapons than any army ever had in the world's history. They have artillery, German and Czech, that is unequaled for the task of shattering the concrete casemates topped with steel cupolas that are the backbone of the famous line.

—AIR BOMBING BIG FACTOR—

Those casemates can hardly be rocked by shell fire as were the less deeply anchored Finnish pillboxes. But there are also pillboxes on the Western Front—outposts of the casemates. The Finns and Poles succumbed to air bombing that was nothing compared to the bombing Germany would try to give the Maginot Line. Such bombing has already proven a demoralizer of communications behind the front and the best way to open the way for tanks to get at ground troops and pillboxes.

Germany has not only her 10 armored tank divisions that overran Poland, but many more vehicles, including a very heavy tank with tough armor. There are also flame-thrower tanks that fling a coal-tar or benzine fluid which bursts into flame when it hits. This would silence guns by forcing gunners to close the pillbox ports through which they must fire. Whether pillbox ports only would be affected or also the big casemates themselves, remains to be seen. Of course, many casemates could fall without the whole line breaking; and were it besieged, its whole garrison of mechanics in white jumpers has supplies for at least three months.

—HINT AT NAZI UNDERGROUND ATTACK—

Some say the only real way to break the Maginot Line wide open is to blow up two sections of it and that, during the last seven months, Germans have been silently burrowing towards it underground. Surely a vast undertaking, though not perhaps utterly beyond German industriousness.

Should the Maginot Line once be conquered, behind it lies a second Maginot Line, built mostly in those same seven months. It is thinner than the first, contains more pillboxes, and behind it is a series of heavily fortified French cities.

Most important of all, there are two armies; for the garrison of the main Maginot Line comprises only 300,000 men, all trained specialists. The great mass of French manpower is free to operate in open warfare as the finest maneuvering army in the world, brilliantly led and thoroughly trained. The British army in France, now approaching 500,000, is more spotty in training, but mechanized and motorized in equipment. It is said to have only four horses, the four horsemen being brass hats who need exercise, including Lord Gort and the Duke of Gloucester.

British and French are ready for open warfare against the somewhat spottily trained Nazi infantry if the Maginot Line ever breaks.

—PRICE WOULD BE HIGH ONE—

Can it be broken? For years I have been asking that question of men who should know. Only yesterday I asked a young officer, who lately has been in the line. He replied, "Absolutely not." But when I asked a general of outstanding judgment and experienced in breaking lines considered impenetrable, he said, "Probably the Nazis can break the Maginot Line if they are willing to pay the price in lives."

I prefer the second answer.

Navigation was formally opened in Escanaba at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the Isabelle C., a steam tug owned by Captain Casey of Fairport, smashed her way through the harbor ice to the dock. The boat battled with the ice for nearly two hours on the last quarter mile of her journey. She left Fairport at 1:15, members of the party stated, and encountered no difficulty until the Escanaba harbor was reached.

Coach Clarence Shutes stated last night following the meeting of candidates for spring training. Not only were about 40 men out who were more or less in the game last year, but an equal number of aspirants who are new to the game made their appearance at the meeting.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood—Real story behind the discussion of Shirley Temple's retirement from the screen is that the parents of the Wonder Tot have been quarreling with her boss, Darryl Zanuck.

Mr. Zanuck became a little apprehensive about Shirley's popularity after he watched some of her recent expensive pictures take a beating at the boxoffice. "The Blue Bird," most costly of all Temple productions, has done such poor business that Shirley herself heard about it and made a quip about the Blue Bird laying an egg.

So the executive head of 20th-Fox decreed that future pictures starring the Marvel Moppet would be made on greatly reduced budgets. They would rank along with the Jane Withers films, which are tremendous money-makers because of their low original cost.

George and Gertrude Temple don't like the idea at all. Their feeling, shared by a great many other people in Hollywood, is that Shirley has not been very wisely handled lately, and that she should have been kept in the type of vehicles which originally made her famous. More singing and dancing, and not so much heavy drama.

* * *

SHIRLEY WILL HAVE NORMAL CHILDHOOD

The parents have planned a partial retirement for Shirley when her current contract expires in June, 1941. They want her to enjoy a more normal childhood and would allow her to do as she pleases about returning to full-time studio work when she's 16 or 17. Meanwhile, they hoped that her star status could be maintained, and her future career assured if she wanted one, by making about one picture a year.

Only a Garbo or a Chaplin can remain a screen celebrity while making such rare appearances. Obviously, if their plan for Shirley were carried out, her annual films would have to be something pretty pretentious. She certainly couldn't hold her place with the big-timers by appearing once a year in a B-budget flicker produced by Sol Wurtzel

* * *

NEW PICTURE MAY SOOTHE ALL

If the disagreement continues between the Temples and Zanuck, it may end with immediate and amicable cancellation of her contract. Thereafter she might continue at Fox under some new arrangement, or she might freelance very profitably among all the studios.

Chances are, though, that the difficulty will be solved with the release of her current picture, "The Young People." It's exactly the sort of story in which Shirley's parents and others believe she should be cast. If it turns out to be a hit, Zanuck may concede the argument.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The great Lone Star State of Texas, where Jack Garner was born and with whose heretofore unfailing backing he rose to fame and fortune, is today the stage of what, in the opinion of insiders will be his last political battle.

For the grizzled old warrior it is a bitter and ironic clash. Bitter because he finds himself on the defensive in his own home bailiwick, where he reigned supreme for so many years; ironic because he actually is only a pawn in a struggle in which he figures prominently but in which he has no real personal stake.

For behind the fierce political conflict churning up Texas Democracy, the real issue is not the fate or fortunes of Jack Garner, but who will control the state organization—the Old Guard group that has bossed it for an era, or the New Deal militants who have surged to the front in recent years.

—GARNER OUT—

The battle was joined a few days after Roosevelt's smashing 8 to 1 Illinois victory, when Representative Sam Rayburn, Democratic floor leader and an Garner crony, went to the White House and made this proposal:

"Jack's licked and we know it. It's no use to rub it in or have a fight in Texas. Why not call off your friends who are out for a third-term delegation, and we'll agree to a 'favorite son' delegation that will give Garner a first-ballot complimentary vote and no more."

The President was uninterested. He told Rayburn that he had not intervened in any other state fight, and had no intention of calling off the Texas New Dealers. They had as much right to campaign for what they believed in as the New Dealers in other states.

Rayburn then asked permission to send a wire to Texas, to the effect that he was authorized to say that the President did not approve of the third-term campaign being waged for him. Again Roosevelt vigorously shook his head.

—NEW DEAL TERMS—

This is concededly a tough one, as under Texas law delegates are chosen at a state convention and, with the exception of the larger cities, the Old Guard controls most of the county organizations. But the big ace up the third-termers' sleeve is the ardent desire of Garner's friends to avoid a knock-down-and-drag-out fight in his home state.

The New Dealers are bearing down strong on this fact. They have served notice that unless a satisfactory compromise is offered, they will fight to the last ditch.

Their terms are these: they are willing to give Garner a complimentary vote as a "favorite son" candidate, but thereafter the Texas delegation must take orders from the New Dealers. In other words, control of the delegation will be in the hands of the liberals, and not the Old Guarders who ran Garner as a "stop Roosevelt" candidate in Wisconsin and Illinois.

The argument of the New Dealers is that while in Texas the Old Guard is boosting Garner only as a "favorite son" candidate, at the Chicago convention—if they are in control of the delegation — they will revert to form and play ball with other anti-Administration elements, to fight either Roosevelt or his choice if he decides not to run.

The New Dealers are standing pat for a pro-Roosevelt delegation, on the ground that if there were a popular ballot in Texas such a slate would win hands down.

—UNHAPPY SAM—

Unhappiest man in the bitter melee is kindly, peace-loving Sam Rayburn, who is torn between his loyalty to Roosevelt and his close personal friendship with Garner and the old leaders.

Left to himself, Sam would play ball with the New Dealers. But his old Texas cronies are putting terrific pressure on him, and he is in the distressing situation of being used to fight the President and the New Deal. Besides his personal distaste for this, Sam also fears the effect it may have on his own vice presidential or speakership ambitions should anything happen to Speaker William Bankhead.

To get either, Sam has to have Northern Democratic support, and it is overwhelmingly pro-Roosevelt.

They are already very sore at Sam for his failure to prevail on his close buddy, Representative Gene Cox, fiery Georgia anti-New Deal leader of the Rules Committee, to block the Barden bill that would emasculate the Wage-Hour Act. The preservation of this labor measure is of crucial importance to the industrial district Northerners for re-election purposes, and they are boiling mad at Sam for the Cox-Barden attack on it.

So Sam, with his feet in the fire and his pants in flames, doesn't know which way to turn. Whatever he does, he'll be sure to be damned.

CLEARING-OFF DURING THE NIGHT

The sky cleared up after sundown,
  The storm clouds went to play,
The stars came out in jolly groups
  And skipped the milky way.
By morning though the clouds returned,
  To pout, and roll and fight—
The day is scarcely ever fair
  When it clears up over night.

There's people livin' 'round me here —
  That say they've done forgive,
They now are goin' a-be real fine
  And show folks how to live.
But law, their trouble clouds come back
  They pout and roll and fight,
They may forgive, but they don't forget—
  They cleared up over night!

Group Meetings Indicate Much Enthusiasm for Planned Program

Interest in the planned program to "KEEP MANISTIQUE AHEAD" bounded forward yesterday under the stimulus of merchant's meetings and expressions of willingness to do the full part in financing the new organization, according to T. F. Mulrooney, general chairman.

"We were pleased at the enthusiasm demonstrated at the mercantile group conferences," declared Chairman Mulrooney. "We are confident now that we will succeed. This will enable us to have an effective Chamber of Commerce with an experienced secretary and to carry forward a planned program that will better our city's economic position."

Merchants will provide more than half of the budget required. Resort owners, hotels, gasoline places and other accommodation for tourists enterprises, financial institutions, transportation agencies, public utilities and public officials will provide another third; while manufacturing plants will supply the balance.

Food merchants will go considerable over their expected quota according to their leader Otmer Schuster. At their meeting one enterprise took four memberships at $25; another took two, and every one of the 32 who were present voiced willingness to join the movement. Plans were made to contact those who had not attended. The goal for this group had been placed at 25. One visitor, Henry Deloria from Garden subscribed and paid for a membership, and declared that there are others in his community who will want to help because the movement will benefit the entire region. A visitor from Cooks made a similar expression.

When the retailers met they assured that their goal will be reached. All merchants have been invited to take various numbers of memberships, depending on the size of their establishments. One hardware concern had been asked to take one membership, but sent its check for $50 saying it had concluded to take two, irrespective of the lesser expectancy from it.

Automotive enterprises at their meeting promised from one to five memberships from various of their concerns. Professional leaders voiced that the bringing of more wealth to this community is sure to benefit every one in it, including their group and they assured that they will exceed their quota.

Resort owners, public officials and others were meeting late Friday.

Each group is making a complete list of workers who will assist in the voluntary solicitation Tuesday morning during which they expect to sign up the business-proffessional community to support the new organization. This list will be announced in the Sunday issue of the Press.

SHORTER TROUT SEASON URGED

Commercial Fishermen Discuss Uniform Regulations

Traverse City, Mich., April 19 (AP)—Proposals for a longer closed season on lake trout and securing of uniform regulations for all fishermen operating on Lake Michigan were suggested as possible means of preventing further depletion of commercial fish in the Great Lakes at a conference held here Friday.

Representatives of sportsmen's groups, the U. S. bureau of fisheries, state department of conservation, and commercial fishermen attended the meeting, arranged and presided over by F. Granger Weil, Port Huron, of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce. Hope was expressed that some satisfactory middle ground might be reached which would enable a set of regulations to be drafted agreeable to both commercial fishermen and trollers.

Regulations governing commercial and trolling fishing are needed, as well as uniform regulation of fishing laws for each of the Great Lakes, Dr. John Van Oosten of the U. S. bureau of fisheries told delegates.

A proposal to have different closed seasons on lake trout in different zones was discussed, as well as a suggestion to close the season on trout during the spawning season, October 20 to November 25.

The meeting was in the nature of an open forum. Information compiled by Weil's committee will be presented to the organization before a definite program is drafted.

McCrea Fires His Head Assistant On Disloyalty Charge

Detroit, April 19. (AP)—William E. Dowling, chief assistant Wayne county prosecutor who testified against his superior—Duncan McCrea—at a vice conspiracy examination, was dismissed today by McCrea on charges of "disloyalty and flagrant and intentional violation of established office rules and regulations."

McCrea, who was bound over to circuit court along with 32 other individuals accused of conspiring to protect illegal enterprises in Wayne county, named Garfield Nichols, an assistant prosecutor, to the post formerly held by Dowling.

In ordering McCrea and the others held for trial, Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson quoted extensively from Dowling's testimony.

The dismissal, McCrea said, had no connection with Dowling's intention to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for prosecutor this fall.

Dowling, McCrea charged, "admitted on the witness stand that he disregarded and wilfully violated long-established office regulations and rules."

In his testimony Dowling said McCrea had twice rebuked him for doing what he considered to be his duty as a public official.

Backers Of Change In Wagner Act Win Round In Congress

Washington, April 19. (AP)—Legislators demanding sweeping revision of the Wagner act won a major, preliminary victory today when the house rules committee approved procedure under which the house would have an opportunity to vote on dozens of amendments.

The committee turned down a plan to preclude consideration of any amendments other than the four recently approved by the labor committee. With only Chairman Sabath (D-Ill) dissenting, it voted to send the labor committee's amendments to the house floor with the provision that the house could substitute for them, if it desired, the 17 amendments proposed by a majority of the Smith committee—the special committee, headed by Rep. Smith (D-Va), which investigated the national labor relations board. Other revisions also could be offered.

The committee's action cleared the way for consideration of Wagner act changes whenever house leaders gave the word, but when that would be was in doubt. Acting Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) declined comment. He and other administration leaders already had mapped out a full program for next week, with debate on amendments to the wage-hour law scheduled to begin Thursday.

Victims Of Holdup Held For Gambling

St. Joseph, Mich., April 19. (AP)—A young man's holdup of nine men in a poolroom where he claimed to have lost $125 in gambling today became a court matter for all parties.

Lesley Sefton, 23, and his holdup accomplices, Ralph Antes, 17, and Louis Vent, 18, pleaded guilty to robbery armed charges in circuit court and were held for sentence.

Six of the nine holdup victims also were arraigned. John McIntosh, charged with keeping a gambling place, was fined $25. Five others were fined $5 each. Three are sought.

As of February 1, 1940, the average retail price of gasoline was 13.43 cents a gallon, as compared to 13.53 cents on January 1, 1940.

STAGE IS SET FOR DECISIVE BATTLES SOON

dish border town of Sarna, arranging an expedition to go to the aid of wives of Oslo legation officials now at Lillehammer, Norway, the correspondent of the newspaper Nyheter reported from the frontier tonight.

Mrs. Harriman told the correspondent the legation wives were removed to the inland town from Oslo, following German occupation of the Norwegian capital, because it was a "more peaceful place." Lillehammer is about 80 miles from the border and some 20 miles north of Hamar, first place to which the Norwegian government fled and captured today by the Germans, according to reports received here.

"According to my information the American wives are in no danger," he quoted Mrs. Harriman as saying. "I expect to return to bring them out within the next few hours."

Also at Sarna are members of the American-Finland ambulance corps which went to Finland and is now waiting to go to Norway. The 31-member corps, headed by Swedish Baron Bror von Blixenfinecke, includes six doctors, 15 nurses, drivers and a kitchen staff.

(By The Associated Press)

Direct aerial bomb hits on two British transports and a cruiser off Norway's west coast yesterday (Friday) created a panic among Norway-bound Tommies, DNB, official German news agency, reported early today, (Saturday), while new naval warfare in the Skagerrak was indicated by heavy explosions heard on the Swedish coast.

DNB said heavy fire from convoying warships prevented determination whether the transports or cruiser were sunk, but contended all seemed heavily damaged, with British soldiers leaping into the sea to swim ashore.

The action, thus admittedly close inshore, tended to confirm other reports that the British expeditionary forces in Norway were being reinforced steadily.

Neutrals Jittery

With the lines apparently drawn for a "do or die" battle around Trendheim fjord, significance was lent to an Allied pledge to cleanse Viking soil of "the filthy pollution of Nazi tryanny."

Numerous members of the British and French colonies were leaving Budapest for fear that country was next on the German war list.

Although Hungarians discounted such reports as the fears of alarmists, government precautions were being taken. Searchlights swept the skies all night and air raid protection squads patrolled the streets.

Premier Banished

The Netherlands went under complete martial law and served notice on the belligerents that she did not desire their "protection."

Yugoslavia, announcing the dissipation of a broad Nazi plot to overthrow the government, banished her pro-German foreign premier, Milan Stoyadinovic, to a remote mountain village, and police raided many homes of the German minority.

Both Yugoslavia and Rumania began to examine crews of German barges on the Danube river to guard against any "Trojan horse" operation: Turkey expelled 60 Germans and tightened restrictions on all foreigners.

Reports from Yugoslavia's Italian frontier described unusual activity among steel-helmeted Italian troops, but in Italy tension relaxed somewhat as the controlled press modified to a degree its belligerent, pro-German treatment of war news.

Fragmentary reports from Norway said British forces were being increased hourly and indicated that a heavy collision was almost unavoidable in the region of Steinkjer, north of the Trondheim near the head of the Trondheim fjord.

While the Germans reported they were driving up the Glommen river in the heart of southern Norway and expected to take the town of Elverum momentarily, a Norwegian official in London said 2,000 German soldiers were being flown into Norway daily and that total forces of the invader now neared 85,000.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty and head man of the British war strategists, welcomed home the survivors of the destroyer Hardy, wrecked in the abortive raid on Narvik, Norway, April 10.

He told them and the crew of the damaged destroyer Eclipse that they were "the vanguard of the armies which we and our French allies will use during this summer to purge and cleanse the soil of the Vikings, the soil of Norway, from the filthy pollution of Nazi tyranny."

Presidential Prospects Spending Too Much, Senators Told

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The committee created by the senate to police the presidential campaign swung into action today upon the receipt of charges from "apparently reliable sources" that some presidential candidates were spending "excessive" sums of money.

The committee ordered an investigation but, in announcing its action, Chairman Gillette (D-Ohio) declined to name the candidates involved, or give any details beyond saying that the complaints all involved one political party.

Meanwhile, political developments bobbed up both here and elsewhere:

(1) Secretary Hull, with some emphasis, repeated a previous statement that he was not a candidate for anything.

(2) Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee announced at New York he would open the Democratic national convention in his official capacity, and suggested that Senator Barkley of Kentucky and Speaker Bankhead would be good choices as keynote speaker and permanent chairman, respectively.

(3) James H. R. Cromwell, minister to Canada, formally announced his candidacy for the senate from New Jersey as a supporter of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

(4) Thomas E. Dewey formally entered the May 6 Maryland presidential preference primary. Since Senator Taft (R-O.) announced he would not run in that contest, no opposition was expected.

(5) Frank Knox, the 1936 Republican vice presidential nominee, lunched with Senator McNary (Ore.), the Republican floor leader. Their conversation was said to have dealt largely with platform ideas.

(6) President Roosevelt drafted a speech he will deliver at 10:45 p. m. (EST) tomorrow to Jefferson Day banquets of Young Democratic clubs throughout the country. The speech is to be broadcast from Warm Springs, Ga., by all major radio networks.

(7) Speaking at Charleston, West Virginia, Senator Taft said the election issues were domestic and that he thought there was no danger of the United States becoming involved in the war, at least before the election.

Students Walk Out Of Mellen School As Coach Is Fired

Mellen, Wis., April 19, (AP)—About 300 Mellen high school students walked out of classes today to stage a demonstration on the main street against ousting of Coach Arne Larson by the school board.

The students paraded up and down the street carrying signs, "We want Larson." The coach's Mellen basketball teams won 58 games and lost 18 during five seasons.

FORD ACCUSED OF TRYING TO BLOCK UNIONS

Distrust Fostered

Denham contended the company "sowed the seeds of distrust" by distributing its celebrated pamphlet, "Ford gives viewpoint on labor," to impress its employes throughout the country that the company was unwilling "to permit its employes to engage in labor organization and collective bargaining."

As a second step, he declared, the company sought to establish the "fear element" by gathering together the most brutal, vicious and conscienceless thugs in its employ * * * and setting this gang * * * upon any person pointed out to them as a CIO organizer, member, advocate or sympathizer, to be beaten, whipped, tarred and feathered or otherwise brutally assaulted * * *"

Denham said that the Ford company for the most part offered no evidence to controvert circumstances described by witnesses in the Dallas hearing.

The company, he declared, rested on the legal proposition that none of the facts described by witnesses were authorized by the company and therefore the company could not be charged with responsibility for such acts or their consequences.

Men "Taken for Ride"

Denham charged, however, that "senior officials of the Ford Motor company in Dearborn knew of, helped plan and subsequently approved the program of terrorism."

Denham's report at one point recited the testimony of S. C. (Fats) Perry, in which he described how men suspected of union inclinations were taken "for a ride."

The examiner quoted Perry's testimony as follows, in describing the beating of men picked up by the strong-arm squad:

"Well, the first thing we would do, we would search them and find out if they had any identification belonging to a union of any kind, or where they were from, or what they belonged to, and gave them a good talk, and worked over some of them, ones that we had under suspicion of being a union man, or if they had cards on them."

Q. "What do you mean 'gave them a working over?'"

A. "We would whip them, beat them up."

Q. "With what?"

A. "Put the fear of God in them, as they put it."

Q. "What would you whip them with?"

A. "Some with fists, some with blackjacks."

Q. "Anything else?"

A. "One or two of them we whipped with a regular whip we had made out of rubber wind cord and some of them—one of them was whipped, according to whether we thought he could take it or not, was whipped with brushes off of trees, limbs."

Denies CIO Membership

The examiner said this was the general procedure followed by the squad on an attack on Richard Sowers, a Kansas City Ford plant worker, in October, 1937.

Sowers applied at the Dallas plant for a job, Denham said, and while he was making out an application, one of the alleged squad members put the point of a gun in Sowers' ribs and asked him if he was a member of the CIO.

The testimony, according to the examiner, showed that Sowers denied being a member of the CIO but that he was taken out anyway to a place near White Rock lake and beaten into "a semi-conscious state."

Another Kansas City worker identified in the report as Harold M. Bowen, was taken out into the country and beaten with a cat-o-nine tails for 15 minutes, the testimony said.

Roosevelt Pushing U. S. Into War, Says Communist Foster

Detroit, April 19 (AP)—William Z. Foster, national chairman of the American Communist party, charged tonight that President Roosevelt was leading the United States into war "step by step."

"Roosevelt said at the beginning of the war that we are not neutral in thought," Foster told the nominating convention of the Michigan Communist party. "He has backed up this assertion by being not neutral in action.

"America is definitely on the side of the allies."

Foster added that the "best thing that may be said of the United States is that she is a non-belligerent country."

"I haven't the slightest doubt," he said, "that President Roosevelt has resolved in his mind that this country has got to get into this war.

"The great danger is that American people do not understand that Roosevelt's policy is a war policy and, step by step, he is taking us into the war."

Foster said the United States was struggling with Great Britain for world leadership but was still compelled to support Britain.

He said the United States does not wish to see a strong Germany emerge from the war and challenge American trade.

The United States, Foster said, agrees with Great Britain and France that the war should be turned against Soviet Russia.

"The most important and active reason," he said, "is that the great capitalists who rule this country and whose bidding Roosevelt is doing are afraid if Germany wins it will cause a breakup of British, French, Belgian, Portugese and Dutch empires."

New Trade Treaty Made By Rumania And Nazi Germany

Bucharest, April 19, (AP)—Negotiation of a new German-Rumanian trade payment treaty was concluded tonight and an agreement is scheduled to be signed Saturday, it was learned.

Germany is to receive greater customs facilities and her wheat purchases are to continue on the scale in effect prior to the recent Rumanian embargo on wheat exports to the reich.

The agreement is to be signed by Dr. Karl Clodius, German economic expert who heads the mission which has been negotiating here, and Rumanian officials.

The treaty is to operate for the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia as well as Germany proper, but will not concern the German-occupied section of Poland.

Further details were not immediately available.

Local Motorists Invited To Drive Mercury Test Car

The official test car touring Michigan and Northwestern Ohio in the nationwide Mercury Economy run, arrived in this community yesterday. The car, a 1940 Mercury 8 of strictly stock specifications, was driven by E. T. Edmundson of the Dearborn branch of the Ford Motor Company. It was greeted by a reception committee headed by the local dealer, H. J. Norton.

The speedometer reading when the car crossed the city limits was 2798.9 and, according to the entries in the log book, the average mileage per gallon of gasoline to date stood at 22.4.

Included in the reception group, according to H. J. Norton, were Mayor S. R. Wickman, Chief of Police Michael Ettenhofer and John P. Norton, president of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Local motorists are being invited to drive a duplicate of the official car, it was stated by H. J. Norton, to try their skill at recording higher gasoline mileages than those already established. In these demonstration tests a meter bowl will be filled with one-tenth of a gallon of gasoline and each driver will follow the same demonstration route.

The "trip" reading on the speedometer for the one-tenth of a gallon of fuel is multiplied by ten to determine the mileage per gallon. The gasoline meter, built to U. S. Bureau of Standards specifications, is accurate to within one-third of 1 per cent.

The Mercury Economy Run, embracing a national schedule of over 4,000 towns and cities, and enlisting the participation of nearly 100,000 motorists, was designed primarily to show the public that advances in automotive engineering have reversed the old dictum, "slow driving for economy." Engineering tests reveal that the Mercury 8's most economical speed is 45 miles per hour. From This community the official test car went to other parts of the territory. On the completion of its run the record of its log book will be compiled and compared with the records established in the other parts of the country.
